Shattered Illusions

Anne Carter's childhood was shadowed by her mother's suicide and Jim Carter never let Anne forget that it was through her that it happened. Mrs. Carter had preferred the day to the same that the day to the same the dark waters of the river to going on with life as she had to live it, and on with life as the had to the the when Jim Carter took down a strap and struck Anne for a childish misdemeanor the trapedy happened. The family moved to Greenville, a small family moved to Greenville, a small town, and Anne was brought up strictly. In school she made a friend of Cherry Harding, but it was a secret friendship. And then one night Jim Carter brought a man night Jim Carter brought a man home for dinner and quite suddenly exergiting was changed. Anne realized that her father expected her to be nice to this man and to accept his invitations whether she weanted to or not. He took her to a band concert and for a ride afterward in his car.

too simple and direct, too untutored in subtlety; she felt too primitively with no gradations. As Bill Snyder leaned toward her she was terrified, and drew as far away from him as she could. His arm flung across the back of the scat, slipped down and closed about her, drawing her nearer to him. "Kiss me," he said huskily, trying to force her small white face back on his shoulder. Although she struggled, he was much stronger than she was, and in a moment she lay quiescent in his arms and he was kissing her childish, trembling lips before she pulled away from him, beating against him with small fists. He was amazed at the blaze of anger that she turned on him. "How dare you, how dare you?" she gasped, her gray eyes black with anger, "to bring me out here and treat me that way! I'll tell my father, and he'll settle with you for this, you'll see." And then quite suddenly she crumpled up, the brief auger gone, swallowed up in the reaction that took hold of her. She began to cry like a child, piteously, in a hurt fashion that made Bill Snyder terribly uncomfortable.

He leaned toward her, clumsily, eager to make amends. He had no idea that Anne would behave this way. He had no idea that all girls rather expected this kind of thing, and he had honestly believed that her first tentative strug-

Don't Use Curling Iron! Here's a Better Method

Thousands of ruined heads of hair hear striking testimony to the injurious effects of the heated curling from the continued use of such instrument invariably merns dull, dry, shriveled it. With split, broken, uneven ends. If more women only knew it, the hair rish be keet heautifully ways, soft and fluffy—without any hurmful result whatever—by the occasional use of plain liquid alimerine. A small quantity is applied before doing up the hair, using a clern toothbrush for the purpose, druwing this down the full length of the hair. The curly effect lasts quite a considerable time. It is so natural locking, and the texture and lustre of the hair we so improved, that the woman wha

He really did not appreciate Anne's utter inexperience and the fact that she had known no man until she had known him. With women, Bill Snyder was not tender or chivalrous. He had no very high opinion of them. He understood better girls like Cherry, girls who liked to trifle, to play with fire. Anne's upright standards of right and wrong were a revelation to the man fire. Anne's upright standards of right and wrong were a revelation to the man and were misunderstood. He thought of her as a silly little prude, an utterly cold, frigid type of woman. There could have been no better way of cooling his interest. After Anne's sobs died away and she sat with her head turned so that he could not see her face, he cranked up the car and drove sulkily toward home, feeling that he had been cheated, and that his evening had been spoiled.

ANNE CARTER knew nothing of the silent streets. Before the ugly little house he handed Ann out with great ceremony and bowed a stiff good night, fencing as Cherry Harding, fortified by many trifling flirtations, was. She was to come home. She heard the girl come up on the porch, and before the bell could ring Martha was out of bed and half way downstairs. Anne had not been entrusted with a key, and Martha did not want her to wake her father.

Aunt Martha opened the door and Anne came in. There was no light in the hall, and the two women whispered. Aunt Martha closed and locked the door from the inside. Anne had gone on upstairs and Aunt Martha followed her. For fear that her aunt would come into her room and see her tearstained face, Anne was undressing in the dark. With icy lingers she was

Ice for Health

Ice is a safeguard to health by preventing foods and milk from becoming unhealthful, but it also has specific use in emergencies. The ice bag is as essential in sickness as the hot-water bag. An iced drink has great refreshing power and melted ice makes the very best drinking water.

WANAMAKER'S

Wanamaker's Down Stairs Store

A Good, Sound Place to Buy a Good, Sound Suit of Clothes at a Moderate Price

That's what men are looking for these days! And that is what men have found our Gallery Store for Men to be. Have you tried it? If you have, you know; if you haven't, it is something worth learning.

An All-Wool Wanamaker Suit at $32.50 or at any of the prices between $32.50 and $53.50 is what you will take away with you-if you want reliable value. Especially worth noticing are the suits at $42.50, both those with and those without an extra pair of trousers. (Gallery, Market)

—Just a few steps down from Market Street!

Adora Corsets $2 to $12.50

Adora corsets are made espe-cially for the Down Stairs Store and cannot be bought elsewhere.

Their especial feature is their comfort, which when coupled with correct lines is perhaps the big-gest reason why many women will wear no other kind of corset. A Model for Every

Some corsets are of coutil and others of figured broche; there are topless and high models, lightly or heavily boned, according to the needs of your par-ticular type of figure.

Boys' Tan Oxford Ties

Good, sturdy lace shoes are in wide and medium-toe shapes at $5.50 in sizes 10 to 13½ and at $5.25 to $6.75 in sizes 1 to 6. They're splendid shoes for everyday wear.

(Gallery, Market)

Broad-Brimmed Garden Hats $3.75

Delightful, becoming affairs of rough straw are so light in weight that you would scarcely know you had a hat on were it not for the grateful shade it gives. The underbrims are faced with a contrasting color, and around the crowns are pretty wreaths. In brown, rose, purple and navy.

250 Women's Springtime Coats at $11.25 to $29.50

In this gathering are many coats that have been marked considerably more. There are long and short coats and several styles in capes, among them the accordion-pleated cape that is so fashionable. The materials include burella, serge, tinseltone, silvertone, goldtone, velour, poplin and polo cloth, and they are in every fashionable color. A number of these coats are lined throughout with silk. (Market)

Inexpensive Frocks That Follow the Correct Lines of Fashion

Pretty, soft foulard dresses are made on graceful lines and finished with bits of ribbon at the waist or a bit of lace at the neck. Many of them have Georgette sleeves. $22.50.

Taffeta Frocks at $7.50

A quaint, youthful style is well represented. It is in black. Copenhagen and reindeer, and the short sleeves, the bodices and the skirt are adorned with quilled ruffles. Three Styles in Serge and One in Tricotine at $13.25 Well-tailored dresses are these, of the sort that you will soon want to wear without coats. The tricotine is a straight-line dress embroidered in blue and gilt.

Two of the serges are bolero styles. One is embroidered with black silk and black beads; the other, with steel-color beads. The third style has a long, straight bodice and the skirt is knife-pleated in back and in front.

New Summery Dresses at $6.50 are of voiles, mostly in foulard patterns. Frills, ruffles or white are of voices, moses, ... collars trim them variously. (Market)

Marabou Scarfs Special at $5.75

There is a little lot of scarfs in seal or lighter brown in cape or stole shape and an animal scarf with head and tail, all nicely lined

They are just what women want right now to give a bit of warmth with one-piece frecks when coats are laid aside. (Central)

A Little Disposal of Skirts $5

Plaids, serges and checked velours, just a few of a kind, and all marked quite low to send them flying. (Market)

Pongee Blouses With Peter Pan Collars Are $5

A great many young women are wanting these becoming col-lars with short sleeves that they can wear with Eton jackets. These blouses, made of a good quality of silk pongee, are just right. Of course, they can be had with long
