Fine Goods, Fine Service, Fine Opportunities to Save

Almost Every Day We Have Pleasure in Meeting Eminent Workers

of other cities and country towns, who are just back from abroad, who have been ministering to children and old people orphaned by the war; or who have done splendid service in camps and hospitals, or have been training wounded soldiers in trades by which one-armed or one-legged men can support themselves.

This proves that not all the great workers are in the pullic eye. In the shade there are noble spirits in the people who are striving to strengthen in many directions the social and educational foundations.

Let us not forget that there is another history that never gets into the newspapers. There are heroes and heroines uncanonized.

Let this be spoken for those who have earned medals and decorations not yet presented.

Women's Tricotine and Other-

Dresses at Lowered Prices

women are fore-handed buying them for the Fall, but the majority are keen to secure them for Spring wear alone. They are among the finest novelties of the season-tricotines and serges chiefly, and chiefly navy, but various and charming in cut and decoration. Some of the prettiest are beaded with clear green or garnet beads; one is made with flying panels over a charmeuse foundation; another shows much eyelet work over a leather-colored foundation; one is elaborately braided with soutache, and others are rich with wool cmbroidery or tracery of silk or metal.

The Summer Ermine Makes Charming Summer Furs

Store Opens at 9

When the cold weather abates, the snowy little ermine changes his coat-and in warmer weather it is a soft, warm tan shade. It is this ermine which is so much in fashion just now for Spring and Summer wraps-and some new pieces that have just come into the Fur Salons are particularly lovely. A smart little Eton jacket, in quite new shape, with wide sleeves, a new collar and the loveliest lining, is $325. Of creamy tan Georgette crepe, is a wide scarf edged with bands of Summer ermine, and finished on each end with a row of ermine tails. This would make a delightful Summer scarf and is $225.

Another scarf is wholly of the ermine-beautiful skins, most carefully matched. It is of most gen-

"The Second Latchkey," by C. N.

Our stocks of boys' suits are con stantly renewing themselves. Fast as suits go out, new lots come to fill their places. That is the reason for the constant freshness and abundance of the assortments.

And the reason for this constant movement is because these are the suits that are wanted.

Fathers and mothers who appreciate good quality in boys' suits give preference to Wanamaker boys' suits. They know why. They will appreciate the excellent varicty we can show.

The newest arrivals include very attractive suits in cool wool crashes, cheviota and worsteds. The full range of selection in colors, patterns and weaves is very fine in single-breasted models with box and inverted pleats, as well as plain styles.
