INSPECTOR DODGES RUSHING AUTOS AT 12TH AND MARKET

Service Body's Representative Has Narrow Escapes as He Studies Conditions

FINDS P. R. T. PACKER JAMMING TROLLEY CARS

Five Policemen to Handle the Crowds, Which Even Then Are Sometimes Uncontrolled

Dangers of a big city, as typified at "dead man's crossing," Twelfth and Market streets, are now familiar to Harvey J. Rose, traffic inspector for the Public Service Commission.

Mr. Rose has seen the traffic patrolmen there push people from in front of trolleys and automobiles, has gracefully dodged them himself and has seen the official P. R. T. "packer" force "just one more" into an already crowded car.

Mr. Rose inspected traffic conditions at the busy corner between 4:40 and 5:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon. In all 724 vehicles passed east and west on Market street and south on Twelfth during the half hour.

About the only thing the inspector missed was an accident. There were narrow escapes galore. The intersection got the name "dead man's crossing" because of the numerous accidents there.

Six Policemen on Job

The city maintains two traffic officers, one with a semaphore—apparently ignored by persons running toward the Reading Terminal for trains—a mounted sergeant, two mounted patrolmen and a sergeant on foot at the corner.

Narrow escape are numerous. To be brushed by a trolley or automobile apparently is a joke. Traffic jams are by no means novelities, if what the inspector saw yesterday can be taken as a criterion.

Between 4:40 and 4:45 o'clock three cars went east or west on Market street, eleven went south on Twelfth street and fifty-eight automobiles used Market street, as compared to twenty-eight trolleys on Twelfth street.

During the next five-minute period the Market street trolleys numbered eighteen, as compared to four on Twelfth street, and sixty-six automobiles used Market street to twenty on Twelfth street.

Between 4:50 and 4:55 o'clock Market street was used by twenty-three trolleys and Twelfth street by five. On Market street 101 automobiles passed to twelve on Twelfth street.

Between 4:55 and 5 o'clock there were twenty-two trolleys on Market street and seven on Twelfth street, as compared to eight-one automobiles on Twelfth street.

The next five-minute period saw thirteen Market street cars and five on Twelfth street. During the same period there were forty trolleys on Market street and twenty-eight on Twelfth street.

Packer an Expert

In the final five-minute period of observation twenty-eight Market street trolleys passed to ten on Twelfth street. The automobiles on Market street numbered seventy-eight, to eighteen on Twelfth street.

The number of persons besieging trolleys for passage numbered into the thousands. It was on Twelfth street lines that the "packer" got in his work.

When a trolley car apparently was crowded to its greatest possible capacity, the cheerful "packer" would find room for "just one more." Persuading those inside to move in just a trifle longer would put an additional passenger on the steps, shove him in and send him over the doors.

The traffic patrolman with the semaphore at the corner is equipped with a box on which to stand to see over the heads of the pedestrians to get a glimpse of surrounding conditions.

Several times he was forced to leave his post to assist other officers in straightening out traffic jams on Twelfth street due to the presence of wagons parked along the side of the Terminal.

Sugar Prices Near Peak; New Fields Are Now Ready

Raw Material Quotations Are Now Stationary, and Break in Them Would Bring Cost Tumbling, Authorities Say

New York, April 23.—The wave of high prices for sugar is near its peak, with new production fields ready to add to America's supply, independent operators here believe.

One of the most significant factors in a situation that touches every one's pocket nerve is that there has been no change in the price of raw sugar for the last week.

Previously raw sugar had been climbing about one-half cent a day for ten days or two weeks, the rise being reflected in the retail price for the refined product and at the corner groceries.

"If the price drops even slightly," predicted one recognized authority, "holders all over the country will begin to let go their supplies. They will want to turn their paper profits into hard cash."

The speaker, a member of one of the largest sugar brokerage firms in the country, said the present prices were magnets drawing sugar from fields that have never before exported to this country in considerable quantities.

300,000 Tons Contracted For

He estimated that within the last few weeks 300,000 tons of sugar have been contracted for at such sources, including Czechoslovakia, Java and the West Indies. Japanese interests control 175,000 tons of sugar in the Philippine islands which are now being diverted to the United States because of the financial crisis in Japan.

These extra imports equal about one-tenth of the normal sugar consumption in the United States, estimated at 4,000,000 tons, but which is increasing indirectly because of prohibition. Great consumption of candies and soft drinks is the reason.

Production Much Less

Statisticians estimate that the world annually consumes 20,000,000 tons of sugar. "Rising production is the economic reason advanced for soaring prices. The European beet sugar crop for the last year was 3,000,000 tons instead of the normal 6,000,000-ton crop. This was partly compensated for by an increase of 2,000,000 tons in the world production of cane sugar.

Independent operators here deny there is a direct connection between the halt in the upward trend of raw sugar prices and the fact that refiners have been summoned to Washington for a "conference" with the government.

The invitations were sent out by the Department of Justice and numerous questions are to be asked by Howard Figg, special assistant to the United States attorney general. Operators say the price halt came before the refiners were invited to the Capitol.

Philadelphia Limit "Absurd"

New York brokers are frankly skeptical of the utility of prosecutions under the Lever act as far as bringing down the price of sugar is concerned.

One broker today termed "absurd" the twenty-cent limit, fixed by the Philadelphia fair-price committee. The total will come, he said, from the law of supply and demand. Supplies from new production fields, he added, will be more potent than numberless prosecutions.

"These extra imports should be effective, however," he said, "in swatting any gougers who may be profiteering to the limit."

REED IS REJECTED; ADMIRAL BRITAIN SCORED AT HOME

Missouri Democrats Refuse to Send Senator as Delegate to Convention

By the Associated Press
St. Louis, Mo., April 23.—Democratic state convention, the session here today to reject the selection of United States Senator Reed as district delegate to the national convention and to return his name to the Fifth district caucus which nominated him.

The vote was 1070 to 430, four not voting. It came as the climax to an all-night session of the convention, in which wrangling and filibustering played a prominent part. Lines were drawn sharply in the fight between adherents of Reed and the anti-Reed faction, which disapproved Reed's opposition to the League-of-Nations covenant.

The fifth district delegation (Kansas City and Jackson county) and the St. Louis delegation, with the exception of two wards, cast their ballots against the measure.

The convention also failed to elect senator Reed as a delegate-at-large, breaking a record of selection of the senior United States senator, Senator Reed had announced that if chosen as a delegate-at-large he would not be bound by instructions to vote for a plank endorsing the League of Nations.

REED DENOUNCED AND PRAISED

In the debate which preceded the vote, Senator Reed was denounced and praised by a number of speakers.

"Missouri has suffered long and has been patient, but her hour of vindication has struck," Frank Currier, of St. Louis, said in opening the debate for the opposition. He declared that "Senator Reed's political offenses antedated his opposition to the League-of-Nations covenant," and asserted that by his course in the Senate during the war the senator "equivocated and condoned until he led the country to wonder whether Missouri was not more pro-German than pro-American."

Floyd Jacobs and Colonel E. M. Harber, both of Kansas City, made pleas for Reed to be sent to the convention for the sake of party harmony.

The senator, Mr. Currier said, continued on Page Two, Column Four.

REBELS OF SONORA WIN IN CLASH WITH CARRANZA FORCES

Federal Troops Swooping Down on Insurgent State by Two Routes

By the Associated Press
Washington, April 23.—American Government representatives in Mexico have asked for the dispatch of warships to that country to protect United States citizens and their property.

The requests came from Mazatlan and Topolobampo on the Pacific coast and Frontera, on the Gulf coast.

Officials of the State, War and Navy Departments are investigating the requests, explaining that in times of disturbances in the southern republic it is not unusual to receive requests for warships when there is no need for them.

Details as to the requests of the American agents were not made public. Advises today said that 250 Mexican federal troops, with two cannon, had arrived at Mazatlan, but no disturbances have been reported there or at the other two ports.

Other dispatches received today, however, indicated a ferment rampant approaching an acute stage. Communication with various points in Mexico is being interfered with.

Consensory on newspapers in Mexico City is becoming more apparent, and it was said the papers yesterday contained no mention of the situation.

Advises received here today by General Salvador Alvarado, representative of Sonora, stated that Colonel Rodolfo Gallegos, a former federal commander in the state of Tamaulipas, defeated a Carranza force of 1000 men at General Salas Rodriguez at Linares, and that the federalists retreated toward Monterrey.

It was also said that Carranza had ordered a general conference of governors at Monterrey, and had asked the governors of Coahuila, Nuevo Leon and Tamaulipas to take the initiative in inviting those of other states.

ANOTHER SHOWER ON WAY

Electrical Storm Unleashes in Seventh Wet Friday

The first real thunderstorm of spring swept down on the city and vicinity at 4 o'clock this morning and the loud, intermittent peals gave alarm clocks of early morning workers a day off. It is the seventh Friday which has started with rain.

For three-quarters of an hour the electrical storm continued, with a heavy downpour of rain.

During the height of the storm lightning struck the old clock plant of Farr & Bailey, at Seventh street and Kaighn avenue, Camden. A cork house at the plant was ignited. The rain aided the firemen and the flames were extinguished without serious damage.

The effect of the thunderstorm was to cool the atmosphere. A fresh breeze came up from the southwest. The weather men say there is a possibility of another shower late today.

Tomorrow will be fair, with a temperature average 6 or 7 degrees cooler than today, he said.

Illness of Juror Puts Off Continuance of Bank Case Till Monday

Ralph T. Moyer's trial for perjury in connection with the wrecking of the North Penn bank was adjourned today Monday because of the illness of a juror, Abraham Walzer, 4356 Germantown avenue.

Counsel decided to postpone the trial rather than proceed with eleven jurors. Judge Davis dismissed the jurors after announcing he had sent a city physician to look after Walzer.

RAILROAD WILL SUE U. S.

Rock Island Charges Neglect of Maintenance of Road

Chicago, April 23.—(By A. P.)—The Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railroad Co. is to make a claim against the government for "a large sum" to cover alleged neglect of maintenance of the road and its equipment during government operation. It was announced in the company's annual report for 1919, issued yesterday.

The Rock Island is the first railroad to present a claim against the government for neglect of maintenance during federal control.

The report states that the new transportation act allows the road to earn but 5 1/2 per cent, while the company must pay 7 or 8 per cent for capital to finance improvements.

JAPANESE ROUT BOLSHIEVIKI

Advance on China Repulsed With Aid of Anti-Soviet Russians

Tokio, April 23.—(By A. P.)—Bolshevik forces, advancing from the northwest of China, have been entirely frustrated by Japanese and "all-Russian" forces at a result of a battle fought at Verkhnekojsko on April 12, the war office here announces. The statement says:

"In this battle the Japanese lost one officer and one enlisted man killed and fourteen enlisted men wounded. The enemy's casualties appeared to have been large, 100 bodies being found scattered along the highway. The Japanese captured four machine guns, 150 rifles and a large number of wagons loaded with foodstuffs and clothing.

"There is not a Bolsheviki in sight in the plains west of Chita or in the Chita valley."

CAILLAUX SENTENCED

Three-Year-Term Reduced to One Month by Time Under Arrest

Paris, April 23.—(By A. P.)—Sentence pronounced today on former Premier Joseph Caillaux, convicted by the high court yesterday of embezzlement and coercion, is reduced to one month. The sentence, which he was under arrest for, is reduced, however, leaving him only one month to serve.

One feature of the penalty will be the convicted man's loss of the right to vote and of eligibility to public office. He will not be deprived of his other civil rights.

M. Caillaux received the news of his conviction stolidly, showing less emotion than at any time since the trial began. Before the court that he was guilty of violating Article 78 of the military code, he was asked if he had anything to say. Caillaux replied: "No, I have nothing to say."

Maitre Donange said: "Caillaux has been found guilty of a crime of which he was not accused and against which he was not defended. I let you take the responsibility. I appeal to justice. I appeal to France."

MEXICO ALONE PROTESTED

Other Diplomats Favored Landing U. S. Marines in Guatemala

Washington, April 23.—(By A. P.)—Mexico alone protested against the landing of American marines in Guatemala to protect foreigners during the recent revolution there, according to advisers today from Guatemala City.

During the bombardment of the city, foreign diplomats met at the American legation to discuss plans for protecting foreigners. It was proposed to ask for a detachment of United States marines.

Federico Jimenez O'Farrill, the Mexican charge, protested in the name of his government, declaring the landing of the marines would constitute a violation of Guatemala's sovereignty. The other diplomats, however, approved the plan and the marines were landed.

They cook and eat in the Acme and live and sleep in the Caronia. And when they sleep they don't dream of having the rent raised every two weeks or being thrown out of the old apartment. And for all these comforts of home Mr. Patterson pays the city $3 a year for the privilege of floating his air and privacy. Price—oh, boy!

SAFE-CRACKERS GET 'MEATLESS DAY,' $3000 IN JEWELS. PLAN OF WOMEN

"Diamond Shop" on Tenth Street Entered by Robbers, Who Leave No Clues

Members of the Modern Club pledged themselves today to one meatless day a week for a month, "in an effort to bring down prices."

Cotton gloves are to be worn by many of the members instead of kid, and more economy exerted in dress by every one.

The pledge was taken at a meeting in the Acorn Club. Mrs. Harold E. Laney Downs, president, presided. She announced that the Modern Club had notified the Emergency Aid, which first undertook to move against the high cost of living, that her club was back of them in every step they took in the matter.

The meatless day question came up in a discussion of palatable and nutritious meatless meals.

The whole matter was turned over to the home economics committee, which will make up menus containing the necessary calories for sustenance of the human body.

At first it was suggested that the committee hold the meeting just once every week, but this was declared an unnecessary expense.

When the meatless day pledge was proposed, there was a general buzz through the audience. A rising vote was then taken. It was unanimous for the idea.

At the adjournment of the meeting groups of women got together to talk the thing over. The sentiment seemed to be, "Well, we did it in war time and we can surely do it now. Something has got to be done."

STORE WELL RANSACKED

Several thousand dollars' worth of precious stones and jewelry was obtained by safe crackers who, about midnight, broke into the Diamond Shop, at 45 North Tenth street, and forced the safe.

The robbery was discovered about 1:30 a. m., when a policeman on his rounds found a gate open in the rear of the shop on Outburst street. On investigating he found a rear window had been jimmied open.

The thieves, after gathering their loot from the safe, were in such haste to depart that they left a complete kit of burglar tools behind. When the police arrived they found the inside of the store topsy-turvy, desk drawers littered the floor, show cases had been turned upside down and the door of the safe nearly ripped off.

Frank Hinefarth, who, with Benjamin Zeper, conducted the establishment as dealers in old gold and precious stones, principally diamonds and rubies, estimated the value of the articles stolen at between $2000 and $3000. A quantity of jewelry left for repair also was taken.

The burglars used the safe and sound method of jimmying of the door in preference to trusting to a nitro-glycerin blast which might have attracted attention.

Former N. Y. Deputy Police Commissioner Will Be Tried Again

New York, April 23.—(By A. It was immediately discharged by Judge Malone.

Judge Malone later sent for Assistant District Attorney Smith and directed him to place Colonel Porter on trial again next week.

New York, April 23.—(By A. P.)—Madame Bartholdi, fifty-two, for twenty-five years proprietress of Bartholdi Inn, the famous actors' boarding house at Broadway and Forty-fifth street, which was demolished a few weeks ago, died yesterday morning of a paralytic stroke.

Mme. Bartholdi was known throughout the city as a professional for her charity and her interest in the welfare of young actors. One among the stories current about her is that she never held the baggage of an actor or actress who was delinquent in the payment of rent.

Her establishment on Forty-fifth street was, in times past, the home of many members of the theatrical world, including David Wark Griffith and Thomas Ince, motion-picture celebrities; Charlie Chaplin, Joseph Santley and Dorothy Dalton, of "Aphrodite" fame.

AGAINST BODIES' REMOVAL

Brest's Objection to Exhuming U. S. Hero Dead Probed

Paris, April 23.—(By A. P.)—Objections of the people of Brest to the exhumation and shipment to the United States of the bodies of American seamen and marines who died there during the war, has led members of the Chamber of Deputies to make investigations as to the conditions under which the work is being done. Paul Simon, a member of the chamber for Brest, said yesterday he might interpellate the government on the subject if he found hygienic conditions at Brest were dangerous.

Working parties at Brest have been halted several times by cablegrams from the American War Department, stating that relatives of dead seamen had changed their minds and now preferred their bodies should remain in France. It is learned in American sources here.

Tells Correspondents Teutons Are Underfed and Government Is Impotent

DESIRES U. S. TO SETTLE PROBLEMS OVER TURKEY

England Seeks Treaty Revision. Might Help French Occupy Ruhr Region

By the Associated Press
San Remo, April 23.—Premier Lloyd George, of Great Britain, in an informal talk today with the American newspaper correspondents, said there was a real need of the participation of the United States in the discussions of the Turkish problems. If the United States did participate, her views would be likely to prevail, he declared.

During the course of the conversation, which lasted an hour, Mr. Lloyd George replied freely to numerous questions put to him by the correspondents.

"The impression I formed from the reports of British officials who were present," the premier said, "substantially is the impotence of the government. The limbs do not obey the central authority. The situation in Germany, as seen from London, resembles that of a paralytic recovering from a stroke. The brain gives an order and there is either no response or only a partial one, by the extremities. Commands are given in Berlin that are often not executed."

WOULDN'T STARVE GERMANY

At another moment, responding to a question, Mr. Lloyd George said: "The British Government has never proposed as a means of compelling Germany to fulfill the terms of the treaty that she should starve. The food situation now is deplorable. Reports from our officers in the occupied area indicate that although 3200 kcalories are necessary to maintain a person in health and vigor, the population of Germany receives only about 1300 calories in the official rations."

"The conversation then turned from Germany to Turkey," Mr. Lloyd George said.

"Nubar Pasha was before the council today. He was asked if there was not some question of the American detachment being massacred. The answer given was that the British Government is not taking part in the settlement of the Turkish question. We need the advice of the United States. It would be impossible for us to say a word of criticism concerning the American detachment. I will not do so, but I will only say that we have real need of America."

Believes U. S. View Would Prevail

The American would come to the consideration of the Turkish problems without the entanglements and commitments of the European government and you could give us views from a fresh angle. If you were to say "this is what we ought to do," we should be likely to do it.

"Europe has not of the United States and we should have like you to take the mandate of Constantinople. Your people have always had a great interest in the subject of the races of Turkey. Your faith comes from Palestine, as does ours."

Kapp Coup "Fantastic"

Commenting upon the recent Kapp coup in Berlin, Mr. Lloyd George said: "It was fantastic. Kapp only had 7000 men. They marched into Berlin, but the Senate of government and Kapp were unable to do more. Hindenburg, the powerful man in Germany, refused to have anything to do with the affair."

"The coming to San Remo of Robert Underwood Johnson, American ambassador to Italy, as observer for the government at Washington, was mentioned. The premier said he had had no official notification of it.

"But the question of whether we can help," he declared, "is whether we can send an American plenipotentiary who can tell us what the American Government thinks ought to be done and who can answer questions and make proposals."

Ambassador Johnson, who arrived today to act as an observer, did not participate in the morning session of the supreme council.

Smyrna's status, with the assistance of Premier Venizelos (of Greece), was definitely approved."
