THE MILLERS, TOILERS FOR GAVVY CRAVATH, ARE RELATED ONLY IN MAKING THE PHILLY RUNS

THREE NEW MEN IN PHILS' LINE-UP MAKE DEBUT BEFORE LOCAL FANS AND WIN GAME FROM BROOKLYN

THREE new men who performed for the first time on the home lot as regular members of the Phils yesterday afternoon today are wearing their honors becomingly. This trie made its debut before some 12,000 grandstanders and sunfish, did some fielding and hitting, scored a lot of runs and helped the gentlemen working for Mr. Cravath to get off to what is known as a flying start. They were directly, indirectly and otherwise responsible for the winning of the opening tilt from Brooklyn. Now, winning any old kind of a tilt from the Dodgers is mighty sweet work, and the athletes responsible now can step forward

Ralph Miller, a third baseman from Fort Wayne, Ind. who has dangling at his side a pair of hands as strong and as large as a pair of wash-boilers, is first on the list He was responsible for two runs. Jack Miller, a second baseman, who played in Pittsburgh, St. Looie and other points North and South, to say nothing of East and West. is the next. Jack debutted as a keystone sacker, scored two runs and drove in another. The third is none other than Charles Denton Stengel. a right fielder, known to the world as "Casey." was a ding-busted holdout last year and refused to sign with our Phils until one day last winter when he met Manager Cravath in Chicago. Gavvy took him out for a walk, threatened to throw him into Lake Michigan and Casey signed the papers.

Therefore he had a perfect right to be among us yesterday, especially in the eighth inning, when he socked a double and scored Cap'n Dave Bancroft, who was on one of the bases waiting for something like that to happen. Casey also had another hit, but it proved to be null and He got it in the first inning when he beat out an Jeff Pfeffer foolishly tried to outrun the ball and it couldn't be done. The ball won.

GAVVY'S new men pulled the following in one afternoon: Ralph Miller sent Jack Miller over the plate twice with a tally. Jack Miller soaked a sacrifice fly, which scored Williams. Casey Stengel hit a double which scored Bancroft. Therefore, three men scored and were responsible for the scoring of four runs. The Phils made four runs. Brooklyn made three. Final score, 4 to 3. Welcome to our city, strangers!

Phils Have the Punch This Year

WINNING yesterday's ball game meant a whole lot to the Phils. It showed them they were dangerous to the other side at all times and gave them lots of confidence. Cravath's men have the wallop. You can't get away from that. Hitters like Bancroft, Williams, Stengel, Meusel. the two Millers and Paulette are likely to bust up a ball game at any time and always have the opposing pitchers worried. Pfeffer got a taste of it in the eighth yesterday and saw his game go by the boards.

The Phillies have a good ball club. They are flashy fielders, they never will startle the natives with a lot of clever inside stuff, but when it comes to putting over the wallop they are there forty ways. They remind one of a boxer who has gained fame through his slugging instead of a good defense and pretty footwork. The slugger always is popular, and for that reason Cravath's team will make a hit with the fans.

And Gavvy must not be forgotten. That old bird is the sluggiest slugger in the bunch, and when he hits a ball it stays hit. He intends to get back into the game in a short time, not because he wants to play, but because he wants to do all in his power to help the club win. He has enough to do as a manager, but Cravath is a glutton for punishment. He will win lots of ball games for the

But the best part of Cravath's work is he sets an example for the others to follow. He can tell a man to hit, and if necessary go up to the plate and show him

The Phils are improving day by day. Jack Miller and Bancroft form a good combination around second base, and Miller, by the way, is the best keystone sacker the locals have had since the days of Otto Knabe. That means a tighter defense, more double plays and more putouts at second. Ralph Miller is not a polished player yet, but the boy is game, has confidence in himself and right now is doing better than Lena Blackburn, whom he suc-

THE pitchers, Meadows, Rixey, Causey and Smith, are much better than was first supposed, and Tragressor, Mack Wheat and Witherow are pretty good catchers. If the hurlers stand up and the batters continue to slug, the Phils will be winning a lot of 7-to-5 and 11-to-8 ball games this

How Casey Stengel Followed Orders

BIG league ball player who gains fame as a heady A player is one who obeys orders when orders are handed out by the man on the sidelines. Casey Stengel is one of those persons and has profited greatly by adhering to that system. Casey virtually won the ball game in the eighth inning yesterday, and he did it because he was told what to do and did it. Bancroft, it will be remembered, singled and Williams used a fade-away slide to avoid Koney, who desired to tag him. That put men on first and second, nobody out and Stengel at bat.

Casey rushed over to Cravath, bat in hand, and shouted: "What shall I do?" "I'll tell you what to do," shouted Gavvy in reply.

"Go up to that plate and fool 'em. That's all I want you to do-fool 'em. Nobody out. Two on base. What do they expect you to do? They expect you to sacrifice and move the boys up a peg. Big Jeff is likely to stick the first one over. If he does, hit it as hard as you can and try to knock one of Koney's legs off. Get me?" "Sure!" shouted Casey, and he rushed back to the

The first ball was over, as was predicted. Stengel swung, hit it right on the beezer and missed Koney's leg by only a couple of feet. Because nothing was amputated, the pellet kept on going to right field. Casey kept on going until he reached second, Baucroft kept on going until he reached home and Williams pulled up at third.

CASEY followed orders, tied up the ball game, on third base. Nothing could be fairer than that.

Pitchers Perpetrate Only Errors THE opposing pitchers each tried to lose his own ball game, but Lee Meadows seemed twice as anxious as Jeff Pfeffer. In the fourth Jeff made a perfect peg after fielding R. Miller's dinky grounder and hit nothing but Ralph's broad and muscular back. That netted one run. Meadows stepped out in the fifth and made Pfeffer look like a piker. Runners were on first and second and Elliot sacrificed. Lee fielded the ball perfectly and decided to get the man at third. Taking aim, he fired, but got Le Borveau confused with Ralph Miller. Therefore he hurled the pill into left field and two men scored.

AFRICA KEEN ON TENNIS

Will Send Team to Europe in Time for Several Notable Fixtures . Plans for the restoration of international tennis are not confined to the United States, judging from a letter written by E. R. Clarke, the representative of the South African Lawn Tennis Union in England, to the United Tennis Union in England, to the United States Lawn Tennis Association. Mr. Clarke's letter, dated April 8, was written before the new draw for the Davis Cup had been announced, and informed the U. S. L. T. A. that South Africa would accept the proposal of the United States to play a Davis Cup match in England. That possibility has since been removed by the new draw, which requires the United States to play France.

The most interesting information in Mr. Clarke's communication is the statement that the South African team will reach Europe in time to play for the hard court championship which begins at Paris on May 22. Later they will play at Wimbleton and in the Olympic games, in addition to their Davis Cup matches, which indicates that they will have an unusually active season,

National Semifinalist Outclasses Clubmate Fischer on Wanamaker Roof, 6-4, 6-3, 6-1

Wallace F. Johnson, of the Cynwyd Club, national semifinalist, won the annual spring tennis tournament under the auspices of the Philadelphia and District Lawn Tennis Association atop the Wanamaker roof yesterday, defeat. ing Carl Fischer, of the same club, inthree straight sets. 6-4, 6-3, 6-1, three straight sets. 6-4. 6-3, 6-1.

The former junior champion put up a fine game in the first two sets, but owing to lack of condition was not able to play up to form in the third set. After playing four games of that set, all of them won by Johnson, Fischer was obliged to stop for several minutes. He quickly recovered and celebrated it by winning his service, the only game of the set in which he triumphed.

The chop strokes that have made Johnson prominent in the tennis world were very much in evidence. Fischer played his usual game, but Johnson more than outguessed him and while the opening sets were close, he was the opening sets were close, he was always master of the situation.

NATIVITY NINE PLAYS TOMORROW

Manayunk-Strong Clubs on Schedule

Phil Haggerty, manager of the Nativity basebell club, has booked many of the strongest independent teams in this section to meet his tossers on the diamond this season. Although the schedule is not quite complete, all of the games will have been arranged within a short time.

Tomorrow afternoon Nativity will open the season on its home grounds. Ontario and Beigrade streets, with Manayunk. This will be followed up on Sunday with a big sports carnival, including soccer and baseball. The Nativity football cleven will play for the title in the special division of the Allied League. This game will begin promptly at 2 o'clock. Following this, at 3:30 o'clock the Nativity nine will clash with the McAndrews and Forbes club, of Camden. Both of these con-clash with the McAndrews and Forbes club, of Camden. Both of these contests will take place at Nativity field.

Besides a number of twilight games to be arranged later, Manager Haggerty will bring here clubs representing Lebanon Steel, which has just signed Erk Mayer, formerly of the Phillies; Parkesburg Iron, the team that lost to the University of Pennsylvania Tuesday afternoon on Franklin field; Klein Chocolate, Rex A, C, (Washington, D, C) and other strong aggregations.

Chuck Ward has a charley horse and will not be able to get in the game. This means that I will put Olson at short and send Kilduff in at second to replace Olson. With the exception of Ward and Sherred Smith, who has a heavy cold, all of the men are in good shape and should put a fight in the rest of the games here.

With Causey playing in the opposite court from Mamaux or Grimes, it looks as though the fans were in for another regular contest, one which will not fall far behind the opening contest on the Phils' lawn yesterday afternoon.

The Phillies, by the by, have chance, maybe, to ease into first place in the National League race this aft-ernoon. If they can walk away with the Brooklyn bunch again and St. Louis manages to trim the Pittsburgh Pirates in their home opening at Forbes Field this afternoon, our Broad and Lehigh men will be athwart the
