You Can See What a Busy Day We Will Have Here Monday

"Manners Makyth the Man"

originated with an English gentleman, Sir William of Wykeham, when his growing honors required him to adopt a coat-of-arms.

With humility and great amiability, he placed his coat-of-arms on a seal, with the celebrated motto:

Manners Makyth the Man

to be affixed to important documents, which his office and business compelled him to sign.

Some people think that money means everything!

Others, who have never done a day's work in their lives, act as if it were disgraceful to have ever been distinguished by anything but a family name.

It still remains, that "Handsome is as Handsome does."

Enchanting New Dress Hats for Madame's Summer Wearing

Not a great quantity-just a distinctive little collection of fine hats from our own workrooms, but each hat charming and lovely. There are large hair hats-one of coral color has a wide, straight brim and many ostrich feathers flat on the brim. A shining twist of black ribbon about the crown makes it perfect. New hats of embroidered silk - these, too, in large sizes and picturesque shapes.

New hats of yedda straw-a beauty is of nasturtium color, flower trimmed and pretty enough for any garden party.

There are dark colors and lighter shades, the hats are sometimes trimmed with that imitation grass which has the feathery effect of aigrettes, sometimes flower trimmed, sometimes ribbon trimmed. And prices start at $25.
