Vachel Lindsay has included in his latest volume of verse the poem which he read before the Phi Beta Kappa Soriety of Philadelphia on December 8.

All Zionists: The Eyes of Queen All Zionists: The Eyes of Queen All Zionists: The Eyes of Queen Alashuerus." The impression produced by it in print is much better than that beduced by the poot's reading. The reduced by the poet's reading. The new volume. "The Golden Whales of ('alifornia." is a medley of serious and flippant verse. There are jazz poems and flippant verse. There are har bond a diatribe against Bryan, some children's verses and some rhymed scenarios. These will please a certain of the serious poems. "Shanraste. Of the serious poems, "Shan-tung" and "The Last Song of Lucifer" are the two that are likely to last the longest. They are bold in conception and original in treatment, and they and original in treatment, and they swing along in a free meter with a surge that captures the imagination.

Mr. Lindsay is a poet for whom a taste must be cultivated, for he does not use the ordinary meters or treat his topone can grow to like pictures on which palette knife, one can cultivate an appreciation of this Illinois rhymer. There n boldness and sometimes a crudity bout aim that is repellant, but be neath it, if one will take the trouble to delve deep enough, there is a fine imagination, a sense for rhythm and a evotion to truth and beauty that are attogether admirable. THE GOLDEN WHALES OF CALIFORNIA.
