

BE TROTT, MINUS THIRTEEN STRAIGHT, IS THOROUGH BELIEVER IN PEACE WITHOUT VICTORY

BROOKLYN MANAGES TO PLAY LONG GAMES, BUT SELDOM WINS 'EM; WON BUT ONE IN LAST EIGHTEEN YEARS

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL.

EVERY time an endurance record is broken in the National League the Brooklyn club usually is discovered as the party of either the first or second part.

The twenty-six inning 1-to-1 tie staged in Boston Saturday is the longest game, and it might be a long time before it is broken.

The former major league record was established in the American League on September 1, 1906, when the Athletics beat the Red Sox 4 to 1 in twenty-four innings.

It will be remembered that last year after that twenty-inning game at the Phils' park Oeschger hit the down grade and did not recover all season.

After the sixth inning on Saturday no scores were made, which means both Oeschger and Cadore twirled about ball for twenty games.

ONLY a few balls were hit out of the infield off Oeschger, the outfielders getting but eighteen of the seventy-eight pitches.

Here Is the Longest Game in Baseball

IN ORDER to settle all future disputes, allow us to state that Saturday's game was a major league record but NOT the longest contest ever staged.

That's the longest game on the records, but some of the oldtimers claim there was one which it beaten forty years.

Now, on the other hand, while we are delving into the dusty dope, let's take a slant at the shortest games on record.

PHILADELPHIA established a wonderful record on August 21, 1884, in a game with Providence at Providence.

Although he has as yet received no definite notification that his application to row in the Diamond Scull on July 1, has been accepted, Jack Kelly, the Vesper carman and national singles champion, has started making his arrangements for his trip overseas.

Kelly yesterday said that he practically felt certain that his application would be ratified by both the American and English committees.

Should Kelly row in the Diamond Sculls, as now seems altogether likely, it is probable that Paul Cadore, a clubmate of Kelly's, will lead his berth on the Olympic team.

Both Kelly and Cadore raced over the Henley course yesterday, along with a centipede and junior double.

It was the first time that Kelly has raced over the course this year, and he barely tossed out the other crews. He hopes to be in his best condition by June 1.

TENNIS TOMORROW

First-Round Women's Interclub Matches Will Be Staged

The women's interclub tennis season will begin tomorrow with play in the first round.

Tomorrow the Philadelphia Country Club will meet the Philadelphia Cricket Club on the courts at St. Martin's.

Kealoha Is Fast Swimmer

Honolulu, May 3.—Warren Kealoha, of the Hui Makani Club, Honolulu, won a 100-yard backstroke swimming race in 29 3/5 seconds here yesterday.

Joe Letter Released to Kansas City

Chicago, May 3.—Joe Letter, of Philadelphia, outfielder of the Kansas City club of the American Association,

THE DAYS OF REAL SPORT

SCHOOLS PREPARE FOR TRACK MEETS

Athletes in Swarthmore, Cheltenham and Glen Mills Games

With the Penn relays history the schools will now turn their attention to the meets to be held by the colleges and other institutions in this section.

The Cheltenham High School inter-schools, also on the schedule for May 3, will be held at the swimming pool in Montgomery county.

Track athletics will come in for a big share of the week's sports. Following the junior meet between Penn Charter and Germantown Academy today comes the Southern High-Northeast High meet at the Catholic High school.

West Philadelphia is now tied with Bradford High for second place, but the tie is not likely to last long.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

West Philadelphia is now tied with Bradford High for second place, but the tie is not likely to last long.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

SCHOOLS PREPARE FOR TRACK MEETS

Athletes in Swarthmore, Cheltenham and Glen Mills Games

With the Penn relays history the schools will now turn their attention to the meets to be held by the colleges and other institutions in this section.

The Cheltenham High School inter-schools, also on the schedule for May 3, will be held at the swimming pool in Montgomery county.

Track athletics will come in for a big share of the week's sports. Following the junior meet between Penn Charter and Germantown Academy today comes the Southern High-Northeast High meet at the Catholic High school.

West Philadelphia is now tied with Bradford High for second place, but the tie is not likely to last long.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

SCHOOLS PREPARE FOR TRACK MEETS

Athletes in Swarthmore, Cheltenham and Glen Mills Games

With the Penn relays history the schools will now turn their attention to the meets to be held by the colleges and other institutions in this section.

The Cheltenham High School inter-schools, also on the schedule for May 3, will be held at the swimming pool in Montgomery county.

Track athletics will come in for a big share of the week's sports. Following the junior meet between Penn Charter and Germantown Academy today comes the Southern High-Northeast High meet at the Catholic High school.

West Philadelphia is now tied with Bradford High for second place, but the tie is not likely to last long.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

SCHOOLS PREPARE FOR TRACK MEETS

Athletes in Swarthmore, Cheltenham and Glen Mills Games

With the Penn relays history the schools will now turn their attention to the meets to be held by the colleges and other institutions in this section.

The Cheltenham High School inter-schools, also on the schedule for May 3, will be held at the swimming pool in Montgomery county.

Track athletics will come in for a big share of the week's sports. Following the junior meet between Penn Charter and Germantown Academy today comes the Southern High-Northeast High meet at the Catholic High school.

West Philadelphia is now tied with Bradford High for second place, but the tie is not likely to last long.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

With the race for the High School League championship drawing to a close and the teams tightening up in their race, the interest in the fight for the Princeton cup is greater than ever.

FRISCH MAY SURPASS GREAT THIRD SACKERS

Giants Youngster Is One of Most Brilliant of Hot-Corner Athletes, Believes McGraw, and Muggsy Says He Has Ability to Become Peer

By GRANTLAND RICE

"FRANK FRISCH," says John McGraw, "is one of the greatest third basemen that ever lived. He may even become the greatest before he is through."

The Fordham star is a great youngster, one of the best that ever broke into baseball, so far as limited tests may count.

To reach the third basing peak he has more than one star to pass on the way up.

Just now Frisch is nursing a tender spot where his vermiform appendix operation recently for appendicitis and is doing nicely, thank you.

There have been many great third basemen, but three names which survive the test of time are Jimmy Collins, Bill Bradley and Art Devlin.

Collins, of Boston; Bradley, of Cleveland, and Devlin, of New York. To pass this trio will be a feat of immense proportions. And there is McGraw himself, who in the old Oriole days could field like a flash as he turned in a batting average around .340.

Collins Hard to Beat

OF THEM all, Jimmy Collins had no superior. A wonderful fielder, a sure, hard hitter and a ball player with all the ease and grace of a hawk.

Collins was a rare product, and with it all one of the best managers in the game.

Close behind Collins came Bradley and Devlin. Neither could quite hit with Collins, but both in the field were almost as good. They were sound types, capable of coming to the right or left, knocking down a drive or coming in for a bunt.

The Modern Crop

THE four best third basemen of modern years were Frank Baker and Larry Gardner up through 1916, wherein Heinie Groh and Buck Weaver stepped in.

Weaver worked at third last year. He was a fine shortstop, but an equally fine third baseman.

Groh has been a star ever since he became a fixture with the Reds. "The Babe" was little to choose between Weaver and Groh last season, not enough to count.

Clark Griffith goes even further in Baker's case. "Take him for his batting, his fielding and his steadiness, it is long as the bulk of the world as long as upon remaining intolerant, it has no squawk coming over the price it must pay for a deliverer's choice."

And the ball player who goes after an umpire is not aggressive—he is merely trying to alibi himself for some mistake—seeking to leave the impression that it is all the umpire's fault when the strike comes over or his lack of speed doesn't get him safely to a base.

THE lion in the circus is held by bars of steel, whereas the prizefighter in the arena is merely bound by bars of gold.

WHY is it that it is so easy to look at a dandelion or a blade of grass through the entire process of a swing, and so hard to look at a golf ball?

For the first correct answer to this query we will give away one dandelion or two blades of grass.

THE Last Word

For more than all red terror gangs Of evil grim I hate the bally putt that hangs Upon the rim.

Kind to Motors

Atlantic Motor Oils make motors last long, because they keep them divorced from friction. For the quality that keeps the thin protecting film on moving parts, use ATLANTIC MOTOR OILS.

THE ATLANTIC REFINING COMPANY

Factory to You. Stores Coast to Coast.

UNITED HAT STORES INC. 1217 Market Street

Nativity returned to Fort Richmond after a visit to the home of Hilldale in Darby, Pa. The visit was in midwinter form and the reputation of some good club is being offered, playing the colored champions at this time. Fourney was in rare form, going in two hits, while the other four, and played errorless ball, as usual, seven misplays for Nativity.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to 8, and it was a decision by Werner at second, on the last Oriole out in the ninth, that caused all the trouble.

Police came to the rescue and escorted the "ump" to his dressing-room. The players were finally kept busy pulling each other away from the umpire and trying to get out of the way of the mob.

The fans, in their anxiety to get at Werner, leaped from the stands like wildcats and some were so heavy that their weight smashed the roof over the home team's dugout.

The game was finally won by Akron by a score of 1 to