

STATE INSPECTOR FINDS PACKED CARS

Service Commission Agent Sees Jammed Trolleys at Twelfth and Walnut Streets
SOME ARE FILLED TO LIMIT

Harvey J. Rose, traffic engineer for the Public Service Commission, inspected transit facilities at Twelfth and Walnut streets late yesterday afternoon. The inspection was made during the rush period between 4:45 and 5:15 o'clock. Cars in various stages of loading passed, including crowded, very crowded and jammed.

Jammed is the superlative of crowded to a traffic engineer. Of the forty-eight cars that went west on Walnut street four had reached that highly desirable state to the P. R. T. The cars going west included seven No. 13 cars going to Mt. Moriah, sixteen No. 42 cars to Sixty-first and Spruce streets, eight No. 18 cars to Twenty-second street and Snyder avenue, and seven No. 36 cars on the Island road route. Two of the No. 36 cars were jammed, one Spruce street car had reached that happy state and one Mt. Moriah car also was paying the big dividends. During the same period seven No. 20 cars running to League Island, with trailers, and eleven No. 53 cars running to Porter street went south on Twelfth street. Some were so jammed that no additional passengers could be taken on. This was the result of the work of the expert "packer" the P. R. T. employs to pack passengers in at Twelfth and Market streets. Mr. Rose inspected the traffic at Thirteenth and Walnut streets also.

She Needs YOU!

Over ten thousand of her were turned away from the Y. W. C. A. last year because there was no possible way of caring for her.

Her needs in this great city have far outgrown the facilities.

Philadelphians, get back of the great constructive program which will "put our house in order" for her.

The needs total a million dollars, and the plan includes a Business Women's Hotel capable of housing 250 women, and will be self-supporting; a Central Branch catering to the 50,000 women employed in the business section; and other developments of the already wonderful work of the Y. W. C. A.

It's for Philadelphia Girls!
