MINIMUM PAY PLAN FOR CLERGY PASSED BY P. E. CONVENTION

Recommendation Would Have Sliding Plan to Go Into Effect January, 1, 1922

MANY IN DIOCESE FALL BELOW PROPOSED SCALE

Women Ask Voice in Future Meetings—Not Likely to Be Granted

Salary Scale Stipulated in Convention Resolution

For clergymen in priest's orders less than three years—$1200. Three and not more than five years—$1500, plus rectory. Five and not more than eight years—$1800 plus rectory. Eight years or more—$2000 plus rectory.

Program of Minimum Salaries for Clergy Was Adopted Without Dissent

A program of minimum salaries for clergymen was adopted without dissent today at the 130th annual convention of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Pennsylvania.

Resolution Adopted Without Dissent

The resolution, which provided for a sliding scale of salaries, was adopted by a vote of 130 to 0. The convention, which opened yesterday, is meeting at the Church of St. Luke and the Epiphany, Thirteenth street below Spruce.

Plan Is to Have the Salary Program Go Into Effect January 1, 1922

The plan is to have the salary program go into effect January 1, 1922. A sliding scale, according to the individual's length of service, was proposed by the Rev. Dr. Robert Johnston, rector of the Church of the Savior, West Philadelphia. Doctor Johnston is chairman of the committee on clerical salaries.

Additional Recommendation, Part of a Resolution Embodying the Committee's Report, Was That One-Half of the Increase Go Into Effect in 1921, the Remaining Half in 1922

This was not halted on for want of time. The sliding scale of minimum salaries provided for in the resolution is as follows: For ministers in priest's orders for less than three years, $1200 a year; for those in orders for three but less than five years, $1500 plus rectory; for service of five years and up to eight years, $1800 plus rectory; for eight years or more, $2000 plus rectory.

Doctors Johnson Stated That Out of 31 Ministers in the Diocese There Were 20 Who Were Below the Proposed Minimum

Doctors Johnson stated that out of 31 ministers in the diocese there were 20 who were below the proposed minimum. He estimated that it would be necessary to raise $37,000 a year to bring the salaries of the rectors up to the normal minimum, and $10,000 extra to properly increase the missionaries' salaries. The resolution was passed unanimously and with enthusiasm. One speaker ventured a suggestion before the vote was taken that Doctor Johnston's committee perhaps looked at the question from a wrong point of view, but his opinion was not taken into consideration. Doctor Johnston characterized present salaries in the diocese as a "gross and shameful condition."

$2000 as Smallest Amount

In presenting the committee report, Doctor Johnston asserted that the normal salary should be $2000, plus rectory, as a minimum.

"We Believe That This Is the Smallest Amount, Even with Favorable Surroundings"

"We believe that this is the smallest amount, even with favorable surroundings," he said. "It is to be able to do hopefully and with some measure of effectiveness the highly specialized work which belongs to him." Less than this amount, the speaker said, not only placed a grave handicap on individuals but tended "to cripple and even ultimately to destroy the church's power."

The Committee Made It Plain That It Did Not Pretend the Present Proposal Was Enough, but That It Introduced a Correct Principal "Deserving of Still Wider Application in the Future"

The committee made it plain that it did not pretend the present proposal was enough, but that it introduced a correct principal "deserving of still wider application in the future."

Doctor Johnston Asked the Lay and Ministerial Delegates Whether the Qualification for the Ministry Was to Be Limited to a Man Harassed by Debt, Unable to Pay His Way as Other Men Do, or to a Man Who Has No Real Home Life After Marriage, and Who Is a Slave to His Family?

Doctor Johnston asked the lay and ministerial delegates whether the qualification for the ministry was to be limited to a man harassed by debt, unable to pay his way as other men do, or to a man who has no real home life after marriage, and who is a slave to his family?

HOOPER SURPRISED BY LARGE VOTE AGAINST JOHNSON

New York, May 5.—(By A. P.)—Herbert Hoover issued a statement here today in which he expressed surprise that "under the circumstances so large a vote should have been cast in California for the delegates favoring my nomination."

HOOPER SURPRISED BY LARGE VOTE AGAINST JOHNSON

"For my friends, in entering my name, introduced no personal issue, but asked an opportunity to register a protest at Senator Johnson's extreme opposition to any league to prevent war and reduce armaments," said the statement. "With a group of amateur clubs only a month old, they were, of course, handicapped in opposing the regular party organization, but the real question is that the people of California have been much torn between their loyalty and friendship to the senator for his able rescue of the state during his governorship from vicious corporation control and his too narrow vision on our international necessities. The fact that in these circumstances more than a third of the party protested against this latter view should strengthen the support of the Republican majority in the Senate."
