A Thousand Silk Shirts at $6.95

Pull On Some Good Luck!

Four months ago some style setter said "silk shirts are dead"—and stores far and near sold off at any price what they had; then four or five big makers quit—and sold out their stocks. And then—the style-setting man found out he was wrong, and one shirt maker alone bought nearly $300,000.00 worth of silks and resumed work. Meantime we had bought this thousand—about half the price the maker expected—and Thursday (tomorrow) we pass the bargain to you. $6.95—the western store that bought some sold them at $8.75—and startled its city. But think of $6.95—though the Westerner gave a great bargain. The silk today would cost you more than we charge for the well-made, liberal-size shirt—crepes, silk broadcloth, jersey, heavy tub silks and satin stripes. Center pleat; five pearl buttons. Thursday! Regular shirt counter and Grand Aisle—your regular salesman to serve you.
