

NITTI DENOUNCED BY FIERY DEPUTIES

Test Vote Again Prevented, This Time by Disorder in Chamber

SOCIALIST LEADER BURIED

By the Associated Press Rome, May 8.—Deputies in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday during debate on the government's foreign policy again prevented the taking of a vote of confidence in Premier Nitti's cabinet. Negotiations conducted by the premier at the San Remo conference, especially relative to the Adriatic question, were made the basis for sharp criticism by Deputy Federzoni, Nationalist, and Deputy Di Cesare, a follower of Baron Sonnino, foreign minister in the Orlando cabinet. Other speakers joined in the attack, which gradually changed into criticism of the whole policy of the government. Deputy Bombacci, Socialist, was bitter in his denunciation of the cabinet in employing royal guards to occupy postal and telegraph offices during the present wire strike. The Socialist members nearly came to blows with neighboring groups and the session became so disorderly that it was adjourned by Vittorio Orlando, former premier and president of the chamber. Premier Nitti made a brief address, insisting his course was approved by a majority of the members. Robert Underwood Johnson, American ambassador, was present with his wife, and T. Hart Anderson, Jr., secretary of the embassy. Funeral services yesterday over the body of the late Bisolati-Bergamaschi, prominent Socialist deputy, assumed imposing proportions. The expenses were borne by the state and the coffin was guarded by Alpine troops with which Signor Bisolati fought during the war. Representatives of the King, the members of the cabinet, senators, deputies and a large number of associates of the deceased were present. Meanwhile, opinion in the parliamentary circles is that Premier Nitti is cunnily the risk of being overthrown. This is said to be due to the decision of the Catholic party to vote against the premier, members of the party considering that he showed weakness in his lenient attitude toward the Socialists under the recent disturbances in northern Italy. The leader of the Catholic party said yesterday: "If no agreement is reached before the vote on the budget, the fall of Nitti's fall is certain. In fact, all the Socialist deputies, numbering 150, despite Nitti's favoritism toward them, must vote against him as a matter of principle."

can ambassador, was present with his wife, and T. Hart Anderson, Jr., secretary of the embassy. Funeral services yesterday over the body of the late Bisolati-Bergamaschi, prominent Socialist deputy, assumed imposing proportions. The expenses were borne by the state and the coffin was guarded by Alpine troops with which Signor Bisolati fought during the war. Representatives of the King, the members of the cabinet, senators, deputies and a large number of associates of the deceased were present. Meanwhile, opinion in the parliamentary circles is that Premier Nitti is cunnily the risk of being overthrown. This is said to be due to the decision of the Catholic party to vote against the premier, members of the party considering that he showed weakness in his lenient attitude toward the Socialists under the recent disturbances in northern Italy. The leader of the Catholic party said yesterday: "If no agreement is reached before the vote on the budget, the fall of Nitti's fall is certain. In fact, all the Socialist deputies, numbering 150, despite Nitti's favoritism toward them, must vote against him as a matter of principle."

Secret Diplomacy Helps Bolsheviks

Continued from Page One France's attitude towards Germany and England is both open and shotighted. His policy endangers all Europe. It endangers France. But it endangers England also. For, needless to say, the British secret diplomats, with France, as our impetuous military openly boast today, England's turn will come. The military camarilla in London is measuring every fibre in the structure of the Entente and gloating over the fatal intrigues that are undermining it. This is the view of a German who is personally connected and acquainted with the old and new leaders of Prussian militarism. Finally, there is bolshevism. When the British secret diplomats of the eighteenth century conceived England's subtle continental policy, there was no Lenin in Moscow menacing all Europe, including the British Isles, with Red anarchy. England's refusal to support France has undoubtedly weakened the French Government and lessened its prestige among the French people at home. Every government needs all the strength and prestige it can get to combat the Red menace. French Socialists Gleeful Nowhere is not so gleeful in Germany, as Lloyd George's repudiation of Premier Millerand's policy being hailed with such exuberant joy as in the ranks of the French Socialists and Bolsheviks. Their enthusiasm is nature enough; they know that every rupture in the Entente brings Europe a great stride nearer chaos, and that the French democratic republic is doomed if deserted by its allies. But if France founders in Bolshevism, the Red flood will sweep over the whole continent and it would be miraculous indeed if England, the home of Robert Smillie and George Lansbury, labor leaders, were spared its ravages. Once again, England's fate is indissolubly linked with the welfare of France, with the unity of the victors. British politicians who do not realize that their traditional maxim of secret diplomacy is, however excellent they may have been in their time, cannot be applied to the present unprecedented European situation, are pursuing a suicidal policy and involving the rest of the world in their suicide. It will take a long time to repair the mischief wrought in Europe by the Anglo-Italian intrigue and the Franco-German conference really consolidate Allied diplomatic unity once more. The harm has been done. Liberal Englishmen Alarmed It is all the more deplorable because it is the occult work of politicians, conducted without the knowledge or consent of the peoples, who are incapable of so lightly forgetting their noble conduct in the past. It is all the more deplorable because it is the occult work of politicians, conducted without the knowledge or consent of the peoples, who are incapable of so lightly forgetting their noble conduct in the past. It is all the more deplorable because it is the occult work of politicians, conducted without the knowledge or consent of the peoples, who are incapable of so lightly forgetting their noble conduct in the past.

of systematization. We have men who have been given tasks that would not be set for a beast. You wouldn't expect a race horse to win a race every day. You wouldn't expect an athlete to perform at his best daily. Yet that is what the systematizers do. "The workers want liberty, opportunity. They don't want to be hampered by rules and systems. Without a voice in the management they are made to bear the responsibilities of management. It's the fashion nowadays to blame everything on labor; to call it unproductive. This is not merely a matter of the dollar is not all we want. We don't want the dollar to merely spend it. We want to buy better clothes and better food for our children; we want to house and educate them better."

War and Wages Causes of Unrest The two fundamental causes for industrial unrest, according to Edward A. Filene, one of the speakers at the afternoon session, are the aspiration of labor for self-expression and respect, and the demand for what he called "real and not counterfeit wages."

Wants Real Democracy Royal W. Meeker, statistician for the United States Department of Labor, who presided at the evening session, said that the United States is still taking its first steps in political democracy and has scarcely started at all in industrial democracy. "We cannot see to it that physical progress we have made in both," he said.

Labor Man Seeks Cure for Radicals Continued from Page One Made by Mr. Mitten that the P. R. T. employees are not satisfied; that the men and their officials were working in harmony together under an agreement which had vastly increased wages. Men Not Satisfied "The P. R. T. men are not satisfied," said Mr. Tobin. "I have had occasion to go to a meeting after hours. I have found the men are divided to such an extent that half of them won't work with the other half. If you are a P. R. T. employee you get good runs. If you're not you get good terms with the officials you don't get good runs. It is all right for me to say that a shop organized fifty days, but there must be some organization behind the men if they are to be assured a square deal."

of systematization. We have men who have been given tasks that would not be set for a beast. You wouldn't expect a race horse to win a race every day. You wouldn't expect an athlete to perform at his best daily. Yet that is what the systematizers do. "The workers want liberty, opportunity. They don't want to be hampered by rules and systems. Without a voice in the management they are made to bear the responsibilities of management. It's the fashion nowadays to blame everything on labor; to call it unproductive. This is not merely a matter of the dollar is not all we want. We don't want the dollar to merely spend it. We want to buy better clothes and better food for our children; we want to house and educate them better."

War and Wages Causes of Unrest The two fundamental causes for industrial unrest, according to Edward A. Filene, one of the speakers at the afternoon session, are the aspiration of labor for self-expression and respect, and the demand for what he called "real and not counterfeit wages."

Wants Real Democracy Royal W. Meeker, statistician for the United States Department of Labor, who presided at the evening session, said that the United States is still taking its first steps in political democracy and has scarcely started at all in industrial democracy. "We cannot see to it that physical progress we have made in both," he said.

Labor Man Seeks Cure for Radicals Continued from Page One Made by Mr. Mitten that the P. R. T. employees are not satisfied; that the men and their officials were working in harmony together under an agreement which had vastly increased wages. Men Not Satisfied "The P. R. T. men are not satisfied," said Mr. Tobin. "I have had occasion to go to a meeting after hours. I have found the men are divided to such an extent that half of them won't work with the other half. If you are a P. R. T. employee you get good runs. If you're not you get good terms with the officials you don't get good runs. It is all right for me to say that a shop organized fifty days, but there must be some organization behind the men if they are to be assured a square deal."

of systematization. We have men who have been given tasks that would not be set for a beast. You wouldn't expect a race horse to win a race every day. You wouldn't expect an athlete to perform at his best daily. Yet that is what the systematizers do. "The workers want liberty, opportunity. They don't want to be hampered by rules and systems. Without a voice in the management they are made to bear the responsibilities of management. It's the fashion nowadays to blame everything on labor; to call it unproductive. This is not merely a matter of the dollar is not all we want. We don't want the dollar to merely spend it. We want to buy better clothes and better food for our children; we want to house and educate them better."

War and Wages Causes of Unrest The two fundamental causes for industrial unrest, according to Edward A. Filene, one of the speakers at the afternoon session, are the aspiration of labor for self-expression and respect, and the demand for what he called "real and not counterfeit wages."

Wants Real Democracy Royal W. Meeker, statistician for the United States Department of Labor, who presided at the evening session, said that the United States is still taking its first steps in political democracy and has scarcely started at all in industrial democracy. "We cannot see to it that physical progress we have made in both," he said.

Labor Man Seeks Cure for Radicals Continued from Page One Made by Mr. Mitten that the P. R. T. employees are not satisfied; that the men and their officials were working in harmony together under an agreement which had vastly increased wages. Men Not Satisfied "The P. R. T. men are not satisfied," said Mr. Tobin. "I have had occasion to go to a meeting after hours. I have found the men are divided to such an extent that half of them won't work with the other half. If you are a P. R. T. employee you get good runs. If you're not you get good terms with the officials you don't get good runs. It is all right for me to say that a shop organized fifty days, but there must be some organization behind the men if they are to be assured a square deal."

The Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia Statement at close of business Fifth Month 4th, 1920, on basis of book values, not including accrued interest.

Table with columns for ASSETS and LIABILITIES. Assets include Cash on Hand or in Bank, Collateral Loans, Bonds and Stocks, Mortgages, Real Estate, Miscellaneous Assets, and Ledger Assets of the Insurance Department. Liabilities include Capital Stock, Surplus Fund, Undivided Profits, Deposits, Miscellaneous Liabilities, and Ledger Liabilities.

THE PENNSYLVANIA COMPANY For Insurances on Lives and Granting Annuities TRUST AND SAFE DEPOSIT COMPANY

REPORT OF Philadelphia Trust Company At the Close of Business May 4, 1920. Table with columns for RESOURCES and LIABILITIES. Resources include Cash on Hand and in Banks, Loans Upon Collateral, Commercial Paper Purchased, Investment Securities Owned, Real Estate, and Net Accrued Interest and Other Items Receivable. Liabilities include Capital Stock, Surplus, Undivided Profits, Bills Payable and Rediscounts with Federal Reserve Bank, and Deposits.

SECRET DIPLOMACY HELPS BOLSHEVISTS

SECRET DIPLOMACY HELPS BOLSHEVISTS

SECRET DIPLOMACY HELPS BOLSHEVISTS

SECRET DIPLOMACY HELPS BOLSHEVISTS

SECRET DIPLOMACY HELPS BOLSHEVISTS

SECRET DIPLOMACY HELPS BOLSHEVISTS

SECRET DIPLOMACY HELPS BOLSHEVISTS

SECRET DIPLOMACY HELPS BOLSHEVISTS

Hoover Has Plan to Give U. S. Sugar

Continued from Page One "The profiteering is international. The situation is as much disliked by the vast majority of our manufacturers and distributors as by the public, for they do not like even to be accused of profiteering. This situation cannot be remedied by the attorney general's conception that forces of this character can be handled by putting a few people in jail. Something could be done to remedy matters if our government even now entered into negotiations with the large European governments, to stop bidding against each other and so secure our fair share of the available supplies."

Where to Dine A Director's

HANOVER'S Sunday Platters and Dinners

HOTEL NORMANDIE 36TH AND CHESTNUT

Changed to European Plan In Our Restaurant

PETRONITE Composition Floors

"$2500 A YEAR NECESSARY" Railroad Brotherhood Economist Gives Living-Cost Data

Washington, May 8.—(By A. P.)—A minimum of $2500 a year is necessary for the support of an American family of five, W. Jett Lauck, consulting economist for the railroad brotherhoods, asserted today before the railway labor board. Mr. Lauck, who yesterday charged corporate profiteers with being chiefly responsible for present living costs, presented today a demand on behalf of 2,500,000 railway employees for the establishment of a minimum wage throughout the industry. He presented to the board a compilation of budgets on the cost of living based on studies made under his supervision and by federal and state agencies. "It is impossible," he said, "for a family of five in the United States to maintain itself even in decent poverty under existing conditions, for a penny less than $2500 a year." His estimate, he said, was supported by government agencies and quoted the estimate made by Prof. Royal S. Meeker, commissioner of labor statistics, in August, 1919.

Hotel Lorraine W. B. KUGLER, Manager Broad at Fairmount Ave. Sunday $1.50 Dinner

HOTEL NORMANDIE 36TH AND CHESTNUT

United RESTAURANT COMPANY

KELLY'S OYSTER HOUSE 12 N. Ninth Street

MOELBERTS GOOD EATS SHAD ROE DINNER, 55c

Hello! Mr. Jones. Have you tried Extra Dry GINGER ALE

STATEMENT GERMANTOWN TRUST COMPANY May 4, 1920. Table with columns for ASSETS and LIABILITIES. Assets include Cash and Reserve, Collateral Loans, Investments, and Miscellaneous. Liabilities include Capital Stock, Surplus, Undivided Profits, and Deposits.