Seven Hundred Exquisite Aeolian Vocalions

The Rich-Toned Phonograph That You Can Play

In a Great Dispersion

No Money Down

It was Prof. Dayton C. Miller of the Case School of Applied Science at Cleveland, who developed the great feature of the Vocalion---the "graduola," by means of which---and you simply move a cord---you modulate the volume of sound.

This gives to the Phonograph a musical perfection long held in exclusion by the player-piano. It is part of all but the simpler models of the Vocalion.

The Vocalions are Exquisitely Cased in Mahogany

They play any disc (flat) record.

To complete the charm of this offer, we will during the next few days, sell albums to hold the records, record-brushes and needles for the Vocalion at half price.

Many people have expressed surprise at the reasonable prices asked for articles of good quality in the Chestnut Street Shops, but the explanation is simple. Chestnut Street merchants have followed the policy of passing on to their customers the benefit of any concession in price which has been made them by the manufacturer, and in this way have been able to offer their merchandise at prices that seem low, compared with prices asked elsewhere for similar articles.

Deborah Squam

SILK half hose are very scarce; at least, I had been laboring under that misapprehension until I saw the well-stocked cases at the store of MacDonald & Campbell, 1334-36 Chestnut Street. This store has some unusually interesting things in men's silk half hose. I liked those in the new heather effects particularly. There are some in two-toned effects that are extremely good-looking. These are ribbed. The heavy silk hose in plain colors with clocks in contrasting colors are very well liked, for their wearing quality is excellent. Among them are browns with green clocks and navy blue with white clocks. Others have clocks in self-color. Those who like the drop-stitch silk hose will find an excellent assortment at MacDonald & Campbell's.

THE possibilities of the porch as an outdoor living room have loomed large in the past few years, and each year new and interesting things in the line of porch furniture. I really did not know before I visited Fritz & La Rue's store, at 1615 Chestnut Street, that it is possible to obtain those good-looking Koba block rugs in any size desired. The oval Belgian rush rugs are practical and very well made. This is the first shipment that has been received for several years. There was an interesting Japanese rush rug in natural color, with an old blue border, that I admired particularly, and there are a great many new things in the grass rugs which are so well liked for the outdoor living room or breakfast porch.

THE business man who finds time for an hour or so on the links before dinner will appreciate the golf suits which I saw this week at the store of Jacob Reed's Sons, 1424-26 Chestnut Street. They are of English tweeds and homespun, and have both knickers and long trousers. They are not only good looking, but comfortable, which means much to the golfer. With the approach of warmer days the white khaki and linen knickers are going to be very much in demand, for they look so well without a coat. You will find some very good-looking golf hose at Reed's. A particularly attractive pair which I saw was of brown wool with a design in green woven at the top. These would look very well with the tweed suits.

THURICE blessed is the fashion designer who put the Eton jacket in the mode, for it affords such a delightful excuse for wearing those exquisite vestees of organic and net, such as those which saw at the store of J. B. Shappard & Sons, 1008 Chestnut Street. Of net, with exquisite insertion of lace, is a particularly lovely vestee, which would "dress up" the plainest of frocks. It has a deep ruffle of pleated net at the bottom. A dainty little affair of dotted voile shows a panther effect at the sides. Tiny pleated ruffles add to its attractiveness. I must put in a word also for the attractive collar and cuff sets, some to be worn with the long-sleeved and some with the new short-sleeved frocks. One that I liked combined old blue ratine with white voile.

EVEN if one intends having only a quiet home wedding, it is quite important that one's wedding announcements should be correct in every particular. They should be engraved on paper of good quality, and one should make certain that the workmanship leaves nothing to be desired. Of course, the best way to do this is to place your order with a reliable house, such as Frank J. Curry's, at 812 Chestnut Street. It is not too soon to be thinking of invitations and announcements for June weddings, and orders should be placed as early as possible. Speaking of weddings, Curry's have some very attractive and appropriate cards for the various wedding anniversaries. Such a card is very much appreciated on the occasion of an anniversary, and these are unusually lovely.
