The Beginning of Rivalry

Anne Carter had never had enuthing mill Geraldine Carpenter found her, At first Geraldine caked Anne to do secretarial work for her, because Anne was a new type, but it wasn't long hefore Mrs. Carpenter was fond of the girl and indignant because of the way her father treated her. Jim Car-ter, who had never been able to under-and his wife, was taking it out on Anne and making her suffer because ke knew that she was like her mother. He had selected a young farmer who husband, and was trying to force her bas Grey, the writer, at the Carpen-ters, and he was everything a girl

Dear Cynthia—Why do people always draw the line at marriage between an Italian and an American when an Amer-ican may marry, let's say, even a Hun? Why lay the blame on the Italian branch of the family if the marriage is an unfortunate one? Have the Amer-icans no faulte? Are all American mar-riages hanpy? We are stanch Yan-kees, but there always is a spark of love for our parents country.

gave a thought to another woman until one night at dinner, when they were discussing a werk-end with the Car-penters. Dane made some trivial remark about Geraidine's protege. Anne Car-ter. It wasn't what he said, it was the way he said it. Quite suddenly Mabel realized what Dane Grey had no idea of himself as yet, that this girl, this no-body that Geraidine had picked up, had made some kind of an impression on Dane. The more she thought of it, the more certain she was that she was right.

"Er-ow! Fs-st-st-st!" snarled and spat the astonished cats as the sharp prickers of the bures atoms blouse trimmed with drawn work and hemstitching, with smart high collar. And the prices? Surprisingly reason-able, beginning as low as $5.50. A convenient powder puff is one that has a slit at the top. Into this one shakes one's favorite powder, and then pulls the opening together by means of a ribbon. The powder stars in the puff until shaken out, and the puff holds enough powder to last for many days.

W dear knows how many other kinds of fruit, many and appetizing are the soft drinks that are concocted in one's home-and bottled for the evenings in depending largely. of course, on how much powder one uses. Just think, no carrying around of an unwieldy pow-der box! This puff resembles the reg-ular lamb's wool puff, and can easily be slipped into the purse, or the front of one's blouse.
