More Work and Less Talk Is Baldwin Head's Cure for High Cost of Living

DR. TAYLOR ALSO HOME

"Let everybody go to work." This is the remedy suggested today by Samuel M. Vauclain, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, to reduce the high cost of living.

Believing in practicing just what he Philadelphia from Europe last night, was at his desk in the office of the locomotive works shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. Dr. Alonzo F. Taylor, of the University of Pennsylvania, was a fellow assenger with Mr. Vauclain on the

"What is needed to cut down the high cost of everything," said Mr. Vau-elain, "are less words and more work." Follows Own Advice

Asked if he intended to participate in a definite movement toward reducing living costs. Mr. Vauclain replied: "Why. I'm doing that now. I'm working every day and endeavoring to give every opportunity to those who want to real work.

After being reminded that his name ad been mentioned frequently during his absence in connection with the Re-publican nomination for the presidency, Mr. Vauclain was asked if he would accept such an honor if it were tendered.
"I do not think any American citizen should refuse an opportunity to become President of the United States," he re-

"Does that mean that you would ac cept the nomination if it were offered? "I do not want to talk about that, he answered. During a brief discussion of the presidential situation it was pointed out to him that men of national influence had agreed that he did more toward winning the war than any individual in the United States. As a reward for this Mr. Vauclain was the honored guest at a dinner in this city last year.

But even this did not move Mr.

Vauclain. He smiled on being reminded of this occasion, but added quickly, "You will have to excuse me from discussing myself in that connection." He also declined to comment on the action of Delaware county politicians who in-

"Crop conditions are wonderful all over Europe. In Serbia I saw some of the most beautiful fields of grain and herds of cattle that I have ever seen in my life. The outlook for good crops is excellent in every country in Europe."

The political aspect in Poland, according to Mr. Vauclain, is excellent. In his opinion, it will be only a matter The political aspect in Poland, according to Mr. Vauclain, is excellent. Sold Locomotives in Rumania Rumania is the only country in which Mr. Vauclain sold locomotives on his last tour. In that country he was entertained by the king and queen. The Baldwin Locomotive Works is now filling orders for locomotives for several European countries.

The sugar shortage, judging from Mr. Vauclain's remarks, is confined almost solely to the United States. In every European country, except England, he said, sugar is plentiful.

NAVY WOULD SELL PLANES

$8,000,000 in Flying Ships and Suppiles Will Be Offered

A large F-5-L type flying boat, with wing spread of 104 feet, will be shipped by motortruck from Philadelphia to Atlantic City today, where its assembly by navy workmen will be a feature of preaches, Mr. Vauelain, who returned to the navy's air exhibit at the Pan-American Aeronautic Congress, which opens Thursday.

Later in the week a similar type of flying boat will fly from the Philadelphia Navy Yard to Atlantic City, with crew and passengers, and will make regular flights along the coast during the convention, carrying delegates as passengers.
