

LOST BOY FOUND DEAD IN SWAMP

Children Gathering Rags Discover Body of Kenneth Bowman, Missing 19 Days

MOTHER IS IN HYSTERIC

KENNETH BOWMAN, JR.

The nation-wide search for Kenneth Bowman, Jr., three years old, of 2023 South Colorado street, missing since April 29, is ended.

Boys, hunting for rags, found the child's body in a pool of water in the marshes below Front and Porter streets late yesterday afternoon.

Robert Weber, twelve years old, of 2835 South Second street, and Alexander Adamanis, fourteen years old, of 152 Gladstone street, discovered the body, ending the long hunt, in which mounted police, Boy Scouts, bands of neighbors, navy yard aviators and police dogs had taken part.

There were no marks on the body to indicate the child's death had been due to violence. He was found approximately eleven blocks from the home of John F. Bowers, of 2735 South Ninth street, from whose porch he had wandered away.

Police believe the child tried to follow a playmate who had gone to purchase candy, and, becoming confused, stumbled through the large swamp until he fell exhausted, to die of exposure.

Mrs. Stella Bowman, the boy's mother, was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bowers when news reached her that her boy's body had been found. She became hysterical and was placed under the care of a physician. Until the body was found, Mrs. Bowman had firmly believed her baby was alive and would be returned to her safe and sound.

Kenneth Bowman, Sr., the father, who had led the search for his child, was still hoping he would be found alive when word reached him of the discovery of the body.

It is a terrible blow to Kenneth's mother, he said this morning, and both believed he would come back to us alive.

LONG JOY RIDE HALTED

Negroes En Route to Georgia in Auto Are Arrested

Three negroes, arrested yesterday in Baltimore, were brought back to Philadelphia by Detective Lodge, and held in $1500 bail each by Magistrate McLeary for the theft of an automobile.

The car in which they were driving to Atlanta, Ga., is alleged to have been stolen Sunday night from the garage of Herman H. Paul, at 220 South Sydenham street. It is owned, police say, by Eugene Raymond, of 410 South Penn square.

The three men gave their names and addresses as Davis O'Neal, Forty-second and Market streets; Eugene Kendall, Eighteenth and South streets; and Lewis Chestnut, of Twenty-first and Christian streets.

Kieiss Leads for Congress Williamsport, May 19.—Early returns indicated that Edgar R. Kieiss has won the Republican nomination in the Fifty-first congressional district. He is leading B. C. Keen by several hundred votes in Lycoming district. Walter T. Merrick running third. Merrick will likely carry his own county, but is expected to carry the other two counties of the district. Lester Kade gets the Democratic nomination.

Reading Painter Killed by Fall Reading, May 19.—While painting a steeper forty-five feet over the ground, Charles L. Coberly, aged seventeen, fell to his death at the Carpenter Steel Works last night. His father was working in the same crew.

1921 PENN. LEADERS ARE ANNOUNCED

Class and Society Elections Are Made Known at Hey-Day Exercises

STUDENTS WIN HONORS

The annual Hey-Day exercises were held at the University of Pennsylvania this morning in Weightman Hall. This gathering of the entire student body is an annual tradition at Pennsylvania, held to symbolize the passing up of the classes and to announce the names of those chosen to lead the various student activities for the following year.

The seniors appeared for the first time in their caps and gowns and took seats in a section reserved for them. Proovost Edgar F. Smith presided during the first part of the exercises, opening the ceremonies with a short address. After singing "Star Spangled Banner" and a hymn, the meeting was turned over to John V. Lovitt, president of the senior class, who introduced the new senior president, John C. Teilmasse, of Massachusetts. Teilmasse was freshman president in 1917 and was general chairman of the "campus jubilee."

John Titzell, retiring president of the Sphinx Senior Society, read the names of those elected to that body. The following are the charters members for next year: E. J. Bingham, Samuel Bradley, Norman Chapman, G. P. Darrow, Earl Eby, T. M. Kadding, A. L. Pratt, Frank Schmidt, Halsett Shumway, E. M. Shields, D. McG. Spencer, Gilbert Strickland, W. H. Stoeble, C. I. Thompson, C. C. Trimble.

The elections to the Triars Senior Society was announced by its retiring president, William L. Tandy. The following were included: Russell Tracy, Clarence Darby Rex, Wray, Shirley McCall, Harry Baxer, J. C. Teilmasse, John C. Lewis and Robert Meyer. The Sphinx and Triars Senior Societies are undergraduate organizations composed of the leaders in campus life.

T. M. Kadding, retiring president of the Phi Kappa Beta Junior Society, announced the following elections for charter members of next year's chapter: Marshall S. Ford, William C. Grave, Walter H. Huntington, James L. Lovitt, W. J. MacIntosh, Robert P. Rhoades, John C. Sebright, Rowland H. Zimmerman and Russell B. Zimmmer. The Phi Kappa Beta Society is the honor society for the members of the junior class.

The elections to the Hexagon Senior Society, which is composed of the six senior engineers who have done the most for Pennsylvania during their undergraduate years were announced by retiring president Alan E. Rife. The six chosen are Danie M. Michel, Edwin Vane, Fred Mitchell, Walter Irwin, William Marshall and Samuel Bradley.

The four varsity cheer leaders, who were elected to control publicity at the Pennsylvania-Delaware baseball game were announced by William Yandy, the retiring cheer leader. The four chosen are G. H. "Fritz" head cheer leader; Samuel Bradley, A. K. Henry and Halsett Shumway.

The elections to the Mask and Wig Club are to be announced later by the retiring president, H. N. Retz. The club, H. N. Retz, the retiring president of the Franklin Society, will announce later the names of the three men elected to the board of managers of the society. These men will serve with the editor-in-chief and business managers of the three campus publications, the Pennsylvania-Delaware, the Red and Blue, and the editors of the two alumni publications, the Pennsylvania Gazette and Alumni Register.

The Franklin Society is an organization devoted to publicity at the University and secure prominent speakers from time to time on the campus. Among its other activities it arranges for a series of concerts by the Philadelphia Orchestra on the campus every year.

One workman was killed and eight were hurt when a naphthalene warehouse of the Barrett Manufacturing Co. blew up early today during a five-alarm blaze. The burning chemical spread so rapidly that nearby residents moved out their belongings.

LIMEBURNER TO SUE LATEST ACCUSERS

Attorney for Councilman Says Boxing Promoters Gave $70 to Athletic Club

PORTER MADE DEFENDANT

Councilman Alexis J. Limeburner will start suit today, according to his attorney, against George A. Markland, John Kopper and former Director of Public Safety George D. Porter, for slander.

The case is the second suit brought by Mr. Limeburner as an outcome of the councilman's grift investigation. Mr. Limeburner is planning to sue the three men because of charges made by Markland and Kopper, former fight promoters, and confirmed by Porter, that the councilman had "shaken them down" for $75, but that the director of public safety had forced him to give back the money under threat of exposure.

Limeburner in Denial

Through his attorney, Herman M. Schwartz, he denied the "shakedown" charges. "We have a statement from Edward Brooks, the matchmaker of the club," said Mr. Schwartz, "that Mr. Limeburner never went to him and asked if something could not be done about it."

Is His Second Suit

The first suit started by Mr. Limeburner was against James A. Boyd, of Haverford, formerly senior member of a firm that supplied fire-fighting apparatus to the owners of the club when they advertised in Patriotic Philadelphia. It is expected that a summons will be served today in the Boyd suit.

MYSTERY GIRL MAY BE MISSING BRIDE

Amnesia Victim at Hospital Partially Identified as New York Woman

IS AUSTRIAN AND PRETTY

The Austro-American woman who was admitted last night to the Hahnemann Hospital suffering from amnesia may be the wife of Albert Greenstein, secretary of a marine association in New York.

The man who refused to give his name this morning visited the bedside of the girl, who was found on a Harrisburg express of the P. and R. unable to tell her name, address or the names or addresses of relatives and friends.

The man did not make a positive identification, but he said she bore a striking resemblance to the wife of Greenstein, to whom he was introduced in New York six weeks ago.

According to the man who called at the hospital, Greenstein met his wife, an Austrian, overseas, and brought her to this country a short time ago. Hospital authorities are trying to get in touch with Greenstein.

Had Austrian Drafts

Meantime, the patient's condition became worse, and she was taken to the Tenth and Buttonwood streets station. Later, she was admitted to the Hahnemann Hospital.

Atlantic City Jitney Riding Slumps

Atlantic City, May 19.—Worried over a heavy slump in patronage, due to an advance in rates from five to ten cents, jitney men yesterday through their organization made the announcement that the former rate will be restored for the benefit of home folks after October 1. Many of the strongest friends of the jitneys during their long fight with the trolley interests have gone back to riding in the cars in protest against the ten-cent jitney rate.
