

CHARTERS ASKED FOR LEGION POSTS

Applications Being Considered by Executive Committee Includes One From Negroes

URGE ONE OVERBROOK BODY

MISS RAE C. RAVINSKY, Chairman of committee in charge of dance to be given by Post No. 50, American Legion.

Three applications for charters for posts of the American Legion were considered by the executive committee of the Philadelphia county committee at a meeting last night in the office of the chairman, George Wentworth Carr, 603 Bailey Building.

One of these applications, which was for a post of negro veterans in the Sixth Legion district, received favorable consideration, provided that the applicants can demonstrate sufficient strength to warrant the granting of a charter.

George A. Scott, of Manayunk, made application for a charter for the negro veterans of the Twenty-first ward. It was the consensus of opinion that the veterans in the Twenty-first, Twenty-second and Forty-second wards should combine in a single post, to be located at the most convenient and accessible point.

Another application was received from veterans of the Overbrook section of the Thirty-fourth ward. This application was presented by John V. Horn and his associates in this part of the city, who declared that there should be a post distinctively known as the Overbrook post. There is now one post in the Thirty-fourth ward, Philadelphia

South Van Pelt street. It will be purely a post affair in which ex-service men generally are invited. The post is one of the most active in Philadelphia, and is one of the few which have gone on record against the bonus.

"We strongly condemned the bonus system by resolution at the April meeting," said Louis H. Potadamer, commander, "and suggested that any further money to be expended on those who had been in service be used in the aid of war cripples and the families of those who made the supreme sacrifice. This action was virtually unanimous on April 6, 1920."

PHYSICIANS IN CONFERENCE

English, French and Americans discuss international licensing

International licensing of physicians was the chief topic of discussion last night when three noted English physicians and two French ones met with eleven American physicians at the Bellevue-Stratford. The foreigners are touring the country, inspecting the workings of our leading medical schools.

The commissioners from Great Britain are Sir Humphrey Rolleston, of the Royal College of Physicians; Colonel H. J. Waring, of the Royal College of Surgeons, and Dr. Norman Walker, of the University of Edinburgh. Those from France are Professors Gregoire Rouss and E. E. Desmaret, of the University of Paris.

The French and English physicians will submit their report to the American national board of medical examiners within the next six months.

British Officer to Speak Here

Air Commodore L. E. O. Charlton, C. B., C. M. G., D. S. C., air attaché of the British embassy at Washington, will be the principal speaker at the second annual Empire Day celebration on the evening of May 25 at the Metropolitan Opera House. Empire Day with the British is a national holiday, being the anniversary of Queen Victor's birthday, and the celebration of their friendship between this country and England.

From Death Valley

Most men overestimate the lasting effect of the dramatic news story.

They are sure that you are impressed more permanently by the front page big-type news story than you could possibly be by the "eventually, why not now," advertisements.

You may recall a few years ago "Scotty From Death Valley," with spectacular first-page stories in all newspapers—special trains with oceans of champagne and tons of Greek fire.

A red meteor of news for a week and then oblivion. But you do not remember what "Scotty" was advertising.

In the meantime, regular advertising plods steadily along saying, "There's a Reason," "His Master's Voice," "It Floats" and you smile in knowing friendship.

Reiteration is irresistible, and advertising ripens with age like wine.

The New Gingham Frocks for Women Are So Smart

And the finer ones have a wonderfully soft, silky shimmer. There are so many models from $8.75 to $32.50, it will be one of the treats of the season to select a Gingham Frock, for veranda wear, for mornings in the mountains or at the shore; and for all kinds of daily summer wear for women who like the clean, fresh, cool look of these easily laundered ginghams, many of them imported.

All patterns from clear hair-line checks to stunning block and colorful plaid effects, made in straight-line, peplum and tunic styles, many with crisp, white vestees and collars and narrow leather belts. The model sketched ($30.00), in a lovely lavender and white checked pattern, shows novel ideas in the buttoned pockets, the wide girdle tied at the side back, and the organdie collar buttoned to the girdle with pearl buttons. And women will appreciate the very deep hems, which are one indication of the high quality of these Frocks.

Printed Voiles at 35c A Saving of 25 per Cent.

FIVE THOUSAND YARDS of Printed Voiles, fine weave, soft finish, and in the fashionable neat printings in blue, pink, lavender or black on a white ground—all new patterns and most effective for summer frocks. Better get here early, for although the lot is large, 35c is a remarkably low price for Voiles like these.

Fine Voile Waists Savings One-Fourth to One-Third

Sheer white voiles, some French voiles, beautifully trimmed with fine laces and sheer embroideries, some hand-embroidered. All with long sleeves and lovely collars in various shapes. Many of these are samples, others are manufacturers' surplus lots bought at great price concessions. In fact, the savings in many instances are more than one-third—now $3.75 and $4.50.

Fine French Voile Waists Greatly Reduced
Trimmed in the very newest effects with laces of the finer kinds and with dainty, sheer embroideries—now $6.75.

In the French Salon Exquisite Lingerie at 25 per Cent. Less Than Regular Prices

MARKET STREET EIGHTH STREET FILBERT STREET

The newest style

HERE it is, the coat is longer and cut away in front; it isn't quite so body-tracing. The shoulders are higher and squared; the lapels are longer; the trousers are not quite so snug with a little suggestion of "bell" at the bottoms.

Our clothes have the style and quality of the finest custom tailor's product—at a very much lower price. Satisfaction—or money back.
