drew Wright Crawford, Mrs. Howard Pancoast and Mrs. Tom Elwyn were here, there and everywhere, being consulted by every one and helping everybody.

There were any number of the debutantes of the past season and of the geason to come among the aides. I noticed the Glendinning girls, who, as usual, were dressed alike and looked perfectly sweet. Virginia Roberts, who is to marry their cousin Percy, was with them part of the time. By the way, Mr. and Mrs. Glendinning will give a large theatre party, including several boxes, on Saturday night for Virginia and Percy, and there will be supper and dancing afterward at the Ritz-Carlton.

The Supper Club, of Wayne, will be entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Horaco, this evening, at the home of Mrs. Cleaver's mother, Mrs. William H. Bradbury, of 5339 Greene street. Germantown. Among the guests will be: Mr. and Mrs. Pavid Wilbur Horn, Mr. and Mrs. David Bell, Mr. and Mrs. David Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Javid Bell, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stone and Miss Mabel Whitlock.

The Walla Walla Club will give its spring dance and frolic at the Germantown Auto Club tomorrow evening.

Catherine Coxe was an aide at her mother's booth and Gainor and Marion Baird were there, too. The Harrison girls, Sarah and Margaretta, and Anne Ashton and Mildred Carpenter were with Mrs. Billie Grange and Mrs. Bille Freeman at the randy table, and Peggy and Pauline Thayer and Mary Law were aides at Mrs. Charles Platt's table.

ONE hears all kinds of bits of gossip around these days and I did hear a bit yesterday at the market. Who do you think is engaged, and not only engaged but going to be married soon? She won't acknowledge it yet, only a very few of her friends know it, but The wedding is even going to be next month, and the girl, who is very popu-lar and has been a bridesmaid several times of late, lives on the Main Line and has fair hair, and is a peach gen-

And the man is not a Philadelphian.

Now that is positively all I will tell you, but you will be interested when it all comes out, as it will in a very short time. For the wedding, if the wee bird tells me the truth, and I have no reason to doubt said bird it's namelle right. doubt said bird, it's usually right, will be within a month's time from

Mrs. Davis, who sprained her bree. Mrs. Davis, at the Shubert Theatre? Mrs. Davis, who sprained her knee a week ago, has been laid up for a while in her apartments at the Walton, but she was able to leave yesterday for Atlantic City where she joined little Hope who had gone there ahead with her nurse. Mrs. Davis whose dancing always attracts us, will stay with Hope for about tendays.

T'S wonderful these days to see the kiddies at the Thurston perform-Thurston came to his usual question, "What do you want most in the world?" One small child spoke up and denanded "a horse and cart with a white tail," but one voice which could be heard all over the theatre demanded a "baby sister." And Mr. Thurston was stumped. Tomorrow she will go to Cambridge, Mass. where the Princeton-Harrard baseball game will take place on the university stadium.

ONE did worry in the early a. m. yesterday for fear that there would be rain before the day was over, but wasn't it just lovely up at that square? I think the piak aprons and the flowered cretonne ones were too pretty, and those lovely floppy hats that most of the aides wore were so becoming and so smart!
