Nancy Wynne Talks of the Sturgis Wedding Scheduled for June 12—She Attends the Horse Show.

A Want of Tact

Did you know that Henrietta Sturgis and Edward Cholmley-Jones are going to be married on the 12th of June at St. Paul's Church in Chelton, Pennsylvania? I think it is so nice that she is to be married here instead of in New York, for though she lives half of the time in New York, she has become a part of Philadelphia through spending the winter and summer at Lakeside in the beautiful old Sharpless place in Chelton Hills. When Mrs. Sharpless died, several years ago, she left the place to her daughter, Mrs. Sturgis, after they have made it their permanent summer home since.

Rita came out here and in New York. Her father was the late Robert Sturgis, a brother of Mrs. Charles Edward Ingersoll. Mrs. James Potter, Mrs. Robert L. Conte and Mrs. Edgar Scott. I have never met Mr. Cholmley-Jones, but I hear very nice things about him. Let's see, didn't I suggest something the other day about June 12 and watching for wedding invitations? Well, yes, so I did. And now suppose you watch a little longer. Perhaps we'll hear of another.

A meeting of the committee of the class for the study of musical history of the Philadelphia Music Club will take place at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Eyster, Mrs. Robert A. Irving, Mrs. James R. Anderson, Mrs. Samuel Woodworth, Mrs. Henry B. Dreyfus, Mrs. Glase, Miss Ella Day Blair and Mr. John Kay Klus. The class will have its first meeting on Monday.

Mrs. John M. Kennedy, Jr., entertained at a luncheon followed by a card party at her home, 2018 Spruce street, on Monday afternoon.

The Musical Coterie of Wynne has issued cards for a reception and musical soiree at the home of Mrs. Humbert Powell, 215 Westmoreland street, on Monday afternoon.

The Friends' Historical Society of Philadelphia will hold its summer meeting at the home of Mrs. Joseph P. Haverford, 1818 Locust street, on Monday afternoon.

Then there will be the Circus Rider, who will be the Mayor La, and Kitty Penna Smith will be the Clown in that play. Aleck Yarnall will pose as an Indian and the Hunt will be impersonated by Mr. Lawrie Rodine, Mrs. Billie Kletter and Mrs. E. M. G. Small.

Four young boys and girls will appear in "The Race," the two little Stout girls, Charles Mather, 2d, and young Tom Wanamaker, while Mrs. Billy Reeves will be the Gainsborough Lady.

I understand there is to be a sort of platform erected for the posing and then there will be a great general procession, but all the plans are not divulged as yet.

ON MONDAY we will have another day of Horse Show, and then on Tuesday will come the Abington fete, which instead of coming "Once in a Blue Moon," as it is usually implied, comes every June. It's the one who comes that money is asked for the Abington Hospital, and so it seems to me it ought to be encouraged. And then they do drop thereon on the heads of the guests. I always wanted to see the thing up that had dropped from an airplane and now is my chance.

The Fashion Show in connection with the fete will be under the direction of Mrs. Margaret C. H. Edmunds and Mrs. Norman MacLeod. Mrs. Tony Geyelin will pose as a bride, as she did at the fashion show in connection with the Indoor Horse Show, and Elizabeth Alton will be the flower girl, while Mary and Ellen Glendinning, Mary Norris, Pauline Bell and Elizabeth Brockie will be bridesmaids.

Mrs. Ned Browning has consented to act in her evening costume and six small boys and six girls will wear children's costumes. There will be everything under the sun for sale, even a baby lion, sheep, goats, piggies, and all the novelties and everything in a blue moon. It's going to be simply great.

THEY were dancing together for the first time and she thought he danced well, and in fact sighted with relief, because just as the music started that one she had had a terrible time dancing with a man she'd met in the Paul Jones, who apparently had flat feet, and said feet had got much in her way.

With the thoughtlessness of youth, quoth she, as they sat on the balcony after the dance, "Well, you can dance, foot-night! I met the most awful man in the 'Ho's there," she said, "who's that?" "That's my cousin John," replied the young man. And there was an awful pause.
