

JUST GOSSIP ABOUT PEOPLE

Nancy Wynne Talks of the Wells-Dolan Engagement. She Hears Many Things of Tomorrow's "Once In a Blue Moon" Fete

NOW, then, what did I tell you? To open your ears and eyes and you would soon hear of another engagement. Well, it's out sooner than I had expected, but I was told by the well-known, who said it would not be announced for some little time I questioned said bird for the first time, for said I: "Why should it not be announced? There is no mourning in the families, nor is there want of this world's goods, which sometimes causes young people to have to wait before announcing their engagements."

There's everything in that. Often a girl may have wonderfully good-looking eyes and a nose like the roses. She carries herself like a little queen, has a very pretty figure and exquisite taste, so what more could you ask? Besides she's extremely good looking, too. It is the fact that she is the daughter of the late Mr. Thomas Dolan, who has the former Howard Clark place at Devon, Mr. Dolan is a son of the late Mr. Thomas Dolan, of Torresdale, and brother of Clarence Dolan, who married Miss Rosalie Brown, and of Yale Dolan. Mrs. Dolan was Miss Isabel Hoffman.

Bulkeley Wells is the son of Mrs. Waverly Wells, of Boston. He has been over here on his visit. He was a student at St. Mark's about the time of Arrell Widener and the Shobers, and has a number of friends among the Philadelphia set. He is well known, he always heard him spoken of in the highest terms.

The wedding date has not been set, but in these days of short engagements it is doubtful if it will be long before we receive the invitations.

A GOOD many hearts are pretty full today, especially those whose dear ones gave their lives so recently in France, and today the fifth of those older ones whose dear ones fell in the Civil War more than sixty years ago. For though yesterday was Memorial Day by date, today is Memorial Day by celebration, and it is well for us to pause and think of our brave men who died for our loved country.

MANY persons will spend the holiday day out in the country, down at the beach, or to the horse show at Devon. Horse Show is on its last day, and I feel from observation that the horse show committee and the women who worked for the Country Fair must be exhausted, but it is well for us to pause and think of our brave men who died for our loved country.

BUT we have other things to think of this week. Besides the Horse Show there are not less than three fetes on the carpet. Tomorrow there will be the Abington fete, and on the 31st of the next day the fete for the Broomfield country house of John W. Geary's in Chestnut Hill (this one is called "A Day in June" and on Saturday there will be the Devonshire fete at the Alva Johnson's place in Rosemont.

TOMORROW at Abington they are actually going to have a busy-turdy and an honest-to-goodness holiday. I suppose that Abington fete, it starts at 2 and ends at 10, and they make just as much if not more than others of the kind, and every one is not dead tired for the rest of the month, going from 10 a. m. to 12 p. m.

Imagine it! Sixty babies have already entered in the baby show. Can you think of it, without smiling yourself all up into pieces? All dimpled and fat necks and little creased wrists and little soft warm curls, and you just want to squeeze them. Even if they get frightened and cry their little faces all out of shape, aren't they the dearest things?

BRYN MAWR ASKED TO AID CIVILIZATION
Graduating Class Told of Need of Practical Idealism by Dr. W. P. Merrill

Practical idealism was the underlying theme of the baccalaureate sermon preached last night to the graduating class of Bryn Mawr College by Dr. William Pierson Merrill, pastor of the Brick Presbyterian Church, New York. "One of the most noticeable characteristics of the age," said Doctor Merrill, "is the acute realization of the wrongs that exist in society. On all sides the critic is at work. The whole structure of civilization has been broken in the shock of war. I have never known a time when so many good people were so discouraged. It is our business as Christians to change all this."

Seated on the rostrum with Doctor Merrill were Miss Helen Taft, acting president; Dr. George Barton, of Bryn Mawr College, and Rufus Jones, of Haverford.

Word was received last night from Mrs. F. Louis Slade, of New York city, national chairman of the Bryn Mawr endowment fund, that the total subscriptions received for the day were $33,000. That brings the amount subscribed to $1,535,000, including the $500,000 given by the Rockefeller of the executive committee collecting $1,500,000. The drive comes to a close on Saturday night and a whirlwind campaign is planned to insure its success.

DREAMLAND ADVENTURES
THE MAGIC RUG
By DADDY

(In this story Peggy and Billy are carried away to Persia, land of mystery, where they have an adventure with robbers.)
CHAPTER I
The Guardian of the Rug
PEGGY's mother had a lovely rug, of which she was very proud. It was rich and rare and so was kept well guarded from thieves.

One day in house-cleaning time the rug was placed in the back yard, there to await the cleaning man who was to carry it away to the rug-cleaning place. For fear something might happen to it Peggy was sent to watch it.

As Peggy read her restless feet kicked the rug, raised it a little, and then she saw a shadow. She looked up and saw a man. He was a stranger, but she knew he was a thief. She screamed and ran to her mother's room. Her mother came running and saw the man. She screamed and ran to the door. The man saw her and ran away.

"Help! Help!" again screamed Peggy. Again came an answer, a clatter of hoofs, and the hedge and right upon the rug bounded Bally Sam, with Billy on his back.

"Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried.

"Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried.

"Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried.

"Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried.

"Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried.

"Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried.

"Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried.

"Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried.

"Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried.

"Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried. "Hoof! Hoof!" will save the rug," he cried.

Trembling and shaking the rug floated out from beneath the branches of the tree and sailed up into the clear air, carrying Peggy, Billy, Bally Sam, Lonesome Bear and Johnny Bull with it. (Tomorrow will be told how they arrive in Persia at an exciting moment.)
