

BRYN MAWR GRADS GATHER ON CAMPUS

Picturesque Procession Formed by Former College Students

Graduates of other years trooped back to the Bryn Mawr College campus today and participated in a picturesque procession and athletic games in the annual alumnae day exercises.

The procession was one of the most picturesque in the history of the college. Members of the class of 1900 marched in white skirts and blue smocks, headed by their president, Mrs. George Gellhorn, of St. Louis.

Miss Helen Sturgis, president of the class of 1905, led her classmates, who wore red and white caps, white skirts and blouses, with red streamers. The class of 1910 marched with "Blue Devils" caps, surrounded by white pom-poms. They wore dark blue smocks, bearing golden dragonflies and the numerals, 1910. Their president, Mrs. Cecil K. Drinker, marched with them, as did Miss Helen Smith.

White skirts and blouses and green sunbonnets and green sashes were worn by members of the class of 1910, of which Miss Mary F. Tyler, of Chestnut Hill, is president.

The 1920 class won the prize for the best costumes in the procession.

After the procession reached the athletic field, they witnessed a basketball game between the alumnae and varsity girls.

The varsity five won by a score of 35 to 4. Miss M. Millicent Cary '20, captained the varsity team, and Mrs. Mildred Peacock Herter, '19, led the alumnae.

There will be a senior bonfire on the campus tonight, and Miss Helen Tatt will give a luncheon tomorrow at Pennegross.

Miss Elizabeth Cope, '21, of Germantown, who is the newly elected president of the athletic association for next year, presented the cups awarded athletic champions.

Prizes were presented as follows:

- Swimming—First cup, class of 1921; second cup, class of 1920; third cup, class of 1921.
- Swimming—First cup, class of 1921; individual cup, Miss Katharine Woodward, of Worcester, Mass., class of 1921.
- Water polo—First cup, second cup and third cup, class of 1921.
- Performance on gymnasium apparatus—First cup, class of 1921; individual cup, Miss Elizabeth Cecil, '21, of Richmond, Va.
- Tennis—First cup, class of 1923; second cup, class of 1921; third cup, class of 1920; individual cup, Miss Helen Rice, 1923, of New York.
- Basketball—First cup, class of 1920; second cup, class of 1923; third cup, class of 1922.

Ribbons for all-around individual athletics were awarded Miss Elizabeth Weaver, Clearfield, Pa.; Miss Millicent Carey, Baltimore; Miss Elizabeth Cope, Germantown; Miss Elizabeth Taylor, Little Rock, Ark.; and Alice Nicole, of New York.

BRYN MAWR ALUMNI DAY DOINGS

'NEW ARMY PLAN' URGES EQUALITY

Engineers Told Change Would Have Officers and Men Dressed the Same

CUT RED TAPE, HE SAYS

"The New Army," what it should be like and how handled, was the subject of an address after luncheon at the Engineers' Club, at 1317 Spruce street, today, by W. D. Lockwood, Philadelphia manager of the Snare & Triest Co., was the speaker.

Among Mr. Lockwood's recommendations were the following: "For this new army let us have a true equality, where discipline will mean order and not punishment, and where discipline will be maintained by brains and the ability to handle men, and not by brute force or the shoulder strap, the holy shoulder strap, abolish the shoulder-strap aristocracy.

"We must train our men to be fighters and not heel-clicking soldiers. Teach them; don't bulldoze them. The old method was stupid and brutal; the method of the Hussars use it.

"Teach your men to be individual fighters, and if you have the time to drill them into a dandy company front for show parades and inspection, do it; but as soon as you have drilled your men so they can be handled as units, then go into the details of fighting, and leave the smart drilling to the girls of the barbershop stage.

"Organize the army on a business basis, and cut out most of the red tape, and the present three grades for an officer. Regulations, Pass the Buck, and Keep in Touch With Pull."

"Do away with high collars, swords and spurs. What do fighting men want with such stuff? Leave it all to the comic opera soldiers.

"Have all equipment furnished to captains and lieutenants as well as the privates, and have the same material used for all.

"A sergeant of ten years' standing and thirty-five years of age should have the same pay as a captain.

"Retire lieutenants at thirty years of age without pay. Retire captains at thirty-five years without pay. Retire majors at forty, with half pay. Lieutenants colonels at forty-five, half pay; colonels at fifty, three-quarters pay, and retire generals at sixty, two-thirds pay."

The army should be apportioned among the States according to Mr. Lockwood, Pennsylvania regiments should contain men from that state and so forth. Abolish West Point, and promote men from the ranks, with two years at West Point later.

Gives Salvation Army $1000

Mrs. E. T. Stotesbury today contributed $1000 to the Salvation Army Home Service Appeal of 1920. There will be a dinner tonight in the Bellevue-Stratford for the executive committee, at which many prominent guests are expected.

SENATOR'S DEATH IS BLOW TO VARES

No Logical Successor for Mr. Martin in Republican City Committee

M'LEAN MAY GET PLACE

Senator Martin's death, in the opinion of politicians, may solve the problem of control of the reorganized Republican city committee. As things stood up to yesterday, the issue was in doubt, Senator Martin was the leader of the Nineteenth ward and had the Moore leaders said, there was no doubt he would have been returned to the city committee. Now, however, it is argued, it is a question whether his lieutenants will stand together and unite with the Vares to succeed the senator. In this situation John R. McLean, Jr., the lawyer who was the Moore administration candidate for state senator against the Martin-Lane ticket, Max Aron, looms up as a possible successor to Senator Martin in the city committee.

Moore Men's Claim

Administration leaders, therefore, are now claiming that the Nineteenth ward will be found in the administration column when the vote is taken for the next chairman of the city committee. They said that only loyalty to the senator kept the latter's followers from flocking to the Moore banner in the recent primary campaign.

The importance of the Nineteenth ward situation is emphasized by the figures given out today by administration leaders. They said that up to yesterday the city's forty-eight wards, in respect to the city committee fight, were divided as follows:

For Moore administration leaders	21
For the Vares	22
Ties	5
In doubt	10
Total	48

If the Nineteenth ward can now be won, it was argued, the Moore total would at once jump to 22 and then it is believed that the wards in doubt and which are now tied, would be resolved in favor of the administration. Twenty-five wards are needed to insure control of the city committee.

Possible Successors

Among the late senator's lieutenants who are mentioned as his successors for the Vares leadership of the ward are William W. Turner, deputy clerk under the late Senator Martin; C. Cunningham, the Moore candidate for chairman of the city committee; Councilman Buchholz, John E. Arthur, former chief of the bureau of city property; State Representative James A. Hebert, and County Commissioner Harry Kuenzel, Kuenzel, with George F. Holmes, gives the Vares at present control of the Board of County Commissioners and the hundred or so "jobs" under the commissioners.

There is talk that Kuenzel may sooner or later be lined up with the administration, thus transferring that important

ARREST 6, GET RUM IN RAID ON GARAGE

Police Hunting Hold-Up Men Take Suspects at Revolver Points

FOUR LIVE IN WASHINGTON

Eleven cases of whiskey valued at $1500 and narcotics valued at $1000 were seized by police early today in a garage on Carlisle street near Columbia avenue, after they had captured six men there at the point of revolvers.

The prisoners said they were Edwin Callahan, twenty-nine years old, Vine street near Fifteenth; John Kenny, twenty-three years old, Dewey street near Oregon avenue; Edward J. Dorsey, twenty-four years old; John W. Young, twenty-five years old; Martin Kane, nineteen years old; and Frank Young, thirty years old, all of Washington, D. C.

A "hitting squad" of motorcycle patrolmen was sent out from the Nineteenth and Oxford streets police station last night after word of a holdup on South College avenue, where a man was shot and seriously wounded.

The four patrolmen, Lacey, Ginty, Hill and Schaffer, rode through the streets of that section searching for the motor bandits responsible for the shooting. At 3 o'clock this morning they saw two motorcars driven into the Carlisle street garage.

The patrolmen entered the place with drawn revolvers and placed the six men under arrest. The police say they found the eleven cases of whiskey hidden in the machines and that two bottles of a narcotic were under the seat of one car.

Dinner for Thomas Littlehales

Friends and former associates of Thomas Littlehales, former chief field deputy of the Department of Internal Revenue, will tender him a testimonial dinner tomorrow evening at the Philadelphia Elks Club, Eighth street and Tabor road.

DR. JUNGMAN AGAIN PRESENT FOR EXAM

Physician Already Heads Civil Service List for Hospital Post

Dr. John D. Jungman, 524 North Fourth street, who passed a civil service examination for the post of superintendent of city hospitals two months ago, was among the applicants who took examination for that position today.

Although he had the highest average of all competitors for the post in the first examination, Doctor Jungman was not appointed. The physician also landed in first place in the examinations for the position of assistant superintendent.

George C. Signor, who passed number two in the first examination, was appointed assistant superintendent of hospitals. No superintendent was named.

When Director Furbush, of the Department of Public Health, failed to appoint Doctor Jungman to the post of superintendent, the latter sent a letter to the Civil Service Commission criticizing the director. This communication aroused the indignation of Director Furbush, who declared at that time that Director Jungman would not be appointed under any consideration.

The fact that the physician is again taking the examination appears to bear out a report that an amicable understanding has been reached by Doctor Jungman and Director Furbush.

Six other men are also taking the examination for the post of superintendent, and three for that of assistant superintendent. Despite the fact that the latter post is already filled by Signor, Charles Neid, secretary of the commission, said the examination for that post was held to prepare against any emergency.

GERMANTOWN HIGH UNVEILS TABLET

Students, Teachers and Alumni Participated in Exercises for War Veterans

In honor of students of the Germantown High School, who fought in France, a tablet was unveiled at the school, Germantown avenue and High street, this morning with impressive ceremonies.

As the draperies which covered the tablet were drawn aside by Miss Annie Speck and James Asher appropriate lines were read by Dr. Oscar Gerson, and the service flag of the school was lowered.

The tablet, designed by J. Otto Schweitzer, the sculptor, was bought with contributions totaling more than a thousand dollars.

On the tablet appears the names of the 228 men of the school who took part in the war. Albert B. Green is chairman of the committee which procured the contributions.

The patriotic exercises opened with "The Stars and Stripes," by the high school orchestra, and the singing of the Doolittle. Greetings were extended by Dr. Harry E. Keller, principal of the school, and the girls' choir sang "The American." A history of the tablet was given by Prof. L. B. Seely, and the "Armistice Hymn," written by F. W. Ohi, was sung.

Following this, there were expressions of appreciation from former service men, including Joseph Cox, formerly of the navy, and president of the Germantown High School Alumni, and Frederick Chick, who served with the American Ambulance, with the French army.

An oration was then given by Frank L. Spencer Edmunds.

Singing of the national anthem by the school, and the playing of "United Liberty," by the orchestra, closed the exercises.

WOMEN THUGS BUSY AGAIN

Chester Man Fourth Victim of Petticoated Robbers

Once again have the highwaywomen, the latest development of the new woman idea, held up a man near Chester. John Hansen, of Chester, reported to the police today that two women held him up at the point of a gun at Eddystone and relieved him of his jewelry and $65 in cash. He is the fourth victim in two weeks.

Hansen hailed a passing trolley car, and the crew helped him hunt for the women, without success. He said their voices betrayed their sex in addition to their dress.

COLGATE TO START DRIVE

Doctor Finegan Will Speak Here at Campaign's Opening

Thomas E. Finegan, superintendent of public instruction in Pennsylvania, will be the principal speaker this evening at a dinner given at the City Club by alumni of Colgate University. It is a "word over the wall" dinner, the first given by an American college.

The dinner will launch the "Three Thirty Three" drive for a million dollars for the university. Each of the 3300 living alumni of "the little college with the big football team" is made responsible for raising at least $333 for his alma mater.

Other speakers in this city will be Charlemagne Tower and Prof. Robert W. Moore, of the college faculty. George W. Douglas, of Philadelphia, is chairman of the Middle Atlantic division of the campaign.

INTRUDER HID IN ASHCAN

Police Search Store for Alleged Thief and Find Youth

The lifting of a lid on an ashcan in the Oestman hardware store, 5423 Germantown avenue, caused the arrest of Samuel Humbert, sixteen years old, 5805 Magnolia street, at 9 o'clock last night.

Word was sent to the Germantown police station that some person was in the store. A search by Street Sergeant Ireland and Patrolman 1046 revealed no one. They went next door to the cemetery of St. Luke's Protestant Episcopal Church, but found no person hiding. They returned and again lifted the lid of an ashcan offered for sale. Humbert was huddled therein. The cellar door of the store had been broken open Saturday night. Humbert is supposed to have done that and returned last night.

BATHING SUITS SHOCKED

Boys Arrested for Wearing "First They Ever Had"

Five Philadelphia boys were arrested at National Park, N. J., yesterday for bathing in the Delaware river without suits. The bathing season opened on Sunday. The youths did not know that George Hughes and William Priceville, deputy sheriffs, were watching.

Frank Young, Joseph Mullis and Russell Spence, each one eighteen years old, plunged in without any clothes. They could not escape because their street clothing was taken by the officers, who called them out of the water, together with George Miller and James Hesson. These men used their B. V. D.s for suits. All were taken before the justice of the peace and reprimanded. There were several hundred bathers in the river yesterday.

$9000 RAG SHOP FIRE

One Man Overcome Fighting West Philadelphia Blaze

A stubborn fire in the West Philadelphia rag shop of James Gray, at 5028 Erieon avenue, early last night, caused a loss estimated at $9000, while the fireman was overcome by smoke during the four-hour fight to put out the smoldering rags.

Charles A. Deaver, 4638 Ogden street, of Truck No. 6, the fireman affected, was revived at the West Philadelphia Homeopathic Hospital, to which he was rushed.

Young Quits Y. M. C. A.

Owen B. Young, manager of athletic activities of the Young Men's Association of East Philadelphia, temporarily resigned from the organization yesterday.

Weather Vane Prices

There is a sense of assurance in purchasing clothing from a house whose prices are constantly and consistently fair.

It must perplex the customers of some houses who one week pay $50 for a suit to read in the newspapers the following week that the same suit can be bought for $40 and find the latter statement accompanied by a threat that the price MAY go back again the NEXT week to $50.

What fixes the price of clothing anyhow—is it regulated by the endor or by its value?
