

A. B. MATHEWS & CO.
MERCHANT TAILORS
Are Continuing to Sell
Their Fine Custom-Made Clothing
(Fall and Winter goods included) at 15 per cent below prices plainly marked on tickets January 1st, 1920.
This concession brings their prices down to a level of one year ago and represents a sincere effort on their part to reduce to their customers and the public at large the ever-increasing high prices of fine clothes.
For example, our $95.00 Suits are now $75, and so on.
In this offer you have at your disposal the largest stock of British woolsens shown in Philadelphia.
We wish to inform the public that our entire force of workmen has agreed to accept a decrease in wages until August 1st to aid us in making such a sale as this possible.
Unquestionable information from abroad assures us that prices of fine clothes will be much higher next Fall. We therefore advise the purchase of Fall and Winter clothing at once.

WOMAN'S MURDER
REMAINS MYSTERY
 Search House Where Aged Mrs. Rose Asherman Was Killed, but No Clue Is Found

GIRL'S STORIES CONFLICT
 In the hope of finding a clue which may lead to the murderer of Mrs. Rose Asherman, seventy-five years old, who was found dead with a fractured skull at her home, 608 North Eighth street, yesterday morning, Detective Belshaw made a thorough search of the house this morning.

He questioned all occupants of the dwelling, which was conducted as a routine house by Mrs. Asherman, and is convinced that they had no connection with the crime.

A piece of marble with which Mrs. Asherman was killed is believed to have been torn from the mantel in the room by Charles and Harry Berger. The Berger brothers are epileptics. They said the marble had been broken off the mantel when they engaged the room several days ago.

Conflicting stories concerning the crime have been told by twelve-year-old Bessie Friedman, granddaughter of Mrs. Asherman. She stated that the woman on the night that she met her death.

STUART HEADS ELIGIBLES-
 Is at Top of List for Registrar in Water Bureau

Cheston M. Stuart, 7817 Walker street, headed the list of five eligibles made public by the civil service examining board today for the position of registrar, bureau of water. The job pays $2500 a year.

The post was formerly held by Frank J. Gorman, one-time county commissioner, who resigned last fall to manage the Charter party. Following the collapse of that organization he became manager for Charles Delany, the Mayor's candidate for Republican congressional nomination from the Third district.

Harold T. Antrim, 1927 North Thirtieth street, was the only person certified for assistant resident physician, bureau of hospitals, a place which pays $8000 a year. Following him were J. Gorman, one-time county commissioner, who resigned last fall to manage the Charter party. Following the collapse of that organization he became manager for Charles Delany, the Mayor's candidate for Republican congressional nomination from the Third district.

CITY JOBHOLDERS LATE, MAYOR ANGRY
 Irritated When He Finds Officials Absent From Desks at 9 A. M.

TARDINESS MUST CEASE
 All city officials must report for work on time just the same as employees of business establishments.

Mayor Moore made this declaration today when he discovered at 9 o'clock this morning that most of his high-salaried officials were not at their desks. An unusual occurrence led to the discovery of the officials' tardiness. A dead horse which had been left on the north plaza of City Hall yesterday afternoon was still there when the Mayor arrived this morning.

To hasten the removal of the animal the Mayor telephoned to officers of the director of public safety, superintendent of police and those of various other officials, but failed to get a reply from any. Assistant Superintendent of Police Tompsett appeared to be the only official on the job promptly, and he made arrangements for removal of the horse.

Examination of several ordinances relating to the removal of dead animals brought out the fact that two anti-cruelty organizations of the city each received appropriation of $5000 a year from the city for humane work, while a third organization got $5000.

GERMANTOWN POST DROPPED BY COUNTY
 Committee Ousts Henry H. Houston Post 3 for Non-payment of Dues

UP TO STATE CANTONMENT
 Automatic suspension of the Lieutenant Henry H. Houston Post, No. 3, of Germantown, from the Philadelphia county committee, American Legion, became effective today, due to the refusal on the part of the post to comply with the bylaws of the county organization, which provide for the payment of twenty-five cents per capita per member by each post for maintenance of county headquarters.

The Germantown post will consequently be without representation in the county committee at the meeting tonight at the City Club, 313 South Broad street. The county committee passed the resolution to the effect that the county dues must be paid by June 1 or that posts failing to make payment in accordance with the bylaws will lose their representation.

The Lieutenant Henry H. Houston Post No. 3 was the first to have been organized in Philadelphia, and consequently has had the advantage of opportunities to enlarge its membership. Its refusal to support the county organization is based on the statements by post officials that it is not interested in assisting struggling posts throughout the city and will not contribute a two-cent postage stamp per month per member for the purpose of backing up the county organization and thus lend a measure of assistance to weaker organizations of the county.

The David W. Jameson Post No. 183 held a smoker last night at headquarters, 25 South Van Pelt street. The program was culled by the American Legion Jazz Band of Post No. 277, with Comrade Masses as leader. Other legionnaires who participated in the program were Comrade Vetter, who entertained with violin solos, and Comrade Prendergast in a comedy monologue. The smoker was in charge of a committee consisting of H. Eugene Heine, chairman; David Wise and Alan Bucks.

The Boleslaw Grobowski Post No. 300, accompanied by a band of thirty-two pieces, visited on Memorial Day five cemeteries in the northeast section of the city, decorated twenty-eight graves, gave out to relatives of deceased comrades thirty gold stars. This announcement was made today by Matthew F. Sombrowski, adjutant.

 A man has got to keep his head these days. He needs judgment to discriminate against high prices. He also needs judgment to discriminate between the low ones. It is just as necessary to pick the right store for a sale, as it is to pick the right store for clothes at regular prices. Quality is just as important when the prices are reduced as it is when they're not. That's about all we'll say this time, except one thing—these suits, at the uniform price of $40 are, without question, the greatest gilt-edged clothing investment now before the Philadelphia public.
