ACK KELLY IS OF THE OPINION THE ENGLISH HENLEY STEWARDS FEAR HIS SHELL GAME

ROBERTSON, TRICKED INTO HANDING STOP-WATCH OVER TO SHRUBB, PUT ONE OVER ON FAMED ENGLISH COACH

THE intercollegiate championships were run over again last week when the athletes of Old Penn and some of he oldtimers started a track powwow. Alibis were precented, passed on and accepted for these who did not show as they were expected to for the Red and Blue, and praise was handed out in large measure for the Quaker youths who carried the twin colors of the University to he title. Earl Eby, Bob Maxam, Sherm Landers, Larry Brown and Warren Hampton were voted the greatest ubletes America ever produced, and then the name of Lawson Robertson was mentioned incidentally.

Let me state right here," said one of those present. that Lawson Robertson won the meet for us. It's all right to give praise to Eby. Maxam and the rest of them. but don't overlook the fact that had it not been for Robertson we wouldn't have won. Who would have thought that Brown could stand the gaff in both the mile and half mile, and who would have believed that Maxam could get second in both the quarter and two-twenty after he fell flat in the Cornell meet?"

to one answered the query, so the orator immediately obliged by answering his own question.

Nobody but Robby. He knew what those fellows could do if they were in shape, and he carried them along that they would be in the pink of condition the day of the races. They talk of Moakley, and Cornell men never will be convinced that any one is better than be, but when it comes to the knowledge of the game and the strategical end of it, no one has it on Robby.

The orator started something, and for half an hour the ecomplishments of Robby as a coach and athlete were reviewed from the time he flashed out as a sprinter on e Irish American team until he came to Penn as as distant to Doctor Orton in 1916.

ROBBY is being recommended highly as the coach for the American Olympic team, and his chances of getting the position are very good. Penn wen believe he is the best in the country for the juh. Other favorites are Jack Moakley and ex-Capinin Harry Maloney, the coach of the Stanford team and the man who tutored the A. E. F. athletes.

Another Version of the Shrubb Yarn

BEFORE the session of present participants and old-timers was adjourned, the orator broke out in another flood of thought.

They talk of Al Shrubb being a wise couch and he is. but I heard of one Robby put over on him when Al was with the English runners who broke the world's record in the two mile race at the relays. The real story never was printed and the one which got into some of the newspapers gave Shrubb all the better of it. Robby never has said a word about it, but I heard about it from another source. Robby is modest and never sa, anything in praise of himself, except when he beats Joe Wright in pecket billiards.

"When the Englishmen practiced on Franklin Field no one thought much of them. They had awkward strides and didn't seem to have much speed. Rudd, the captain. was the only one who made an unpression. Shortly before the relays Shrubb decided to run a trial under his Pop-watch. He lined up his athletes on the mark, and while he had his finger on the trigger he noticed Robb; down the track glancing at something in his hand had an idea that Robby also was holding a watch on the Englishmen. He was right. Then he had another idea, so he called down :

" 'Oh, I say, Robby, would you mind lending me your stop-watch? I left mine out in the country.' There was only one thing for Robby to do. Shrubb was our guest here and we had to treat him right, whether or not he was trying to trick Robby. The watch had to be handed over. This was done and the trial run off. That's all that appeared in the papers. Now, then, comes the Robertson hair-trigger brain into action.

"One of our best sprinters (the name has been cen sored) was standing near Robby when Shrubb called for the watch. He was chased to the dressing room at his fastest speed, with instructions to get another watch which was resting in Robby's locker. In the meantime Robby became anxious about the condition of the starting gun and insisted up a examining it. As he saw his sprinter coming from the gymcasium at a ten-second clip he handed the gun back to Shrub.

'The Englishmen were off before Robby placed his hands on the watch, but the sprinter still had his head on his shoulders. He pushed the stem as soon as he saw

"Robby knew as soon as he looked at his watch at the end of the trial that the Englishmen were going to figure high in the two-mile; higher than any one believed.

66 THAT shows just how fast Robby's brain works I in a pinch. Shrubh is a great trainer and a shread one, but any time he puts one over on Robby he is going some, and that's that."

Jackson Scholz Great Sprinter

ACKSON SCHOLZ, the wonderful sprinter of the University of Michigan, proved on Saturday that he's a good mud runner as well as a sensational dry dash-man. In the Western Conference games at Ann Arbor cain fell heavily all during the afternoon and the track was very slow. Despite this, Scholz won the hundred in 10 seconds flat and took first place in the two-twenty in 21.3.5 seconds, which tied the conference record. These times beat those made in the eastern collegiates. Brown, of Princeton, who won both the sprints, did 101-5 and 21 4 5 seconds. Scholz is a remarkable sprinter and should score points for America in the Olympics.

A flock of records were expected to flop in the Ann Achor games, but weather conditions were against record performances. Despite the heavy rain, however, one mark was beaten and two tied. Hoffman, of Michigan, chucked the javelin 172 feet 10 inches, which is almost twenty feet below the American record, and the Illinois relat team can the mile in 3:214-5, which is 34-5 seconds slower than the world's record, mane by Kauffman, Lockwood, Lippincott and Meredith, of Penn. The other record which was equaled was in the furlong. Illimois won the meet with a total of 40 points. Michigan was second with 30.

CARL JOHNSON, the Michigan star, who pulled a tendon last winter, wan the broad jump with a long of 23 feet 712 inches, half an inch less than the distance made by Sherm Landers in winning the custern title. Not so bad for a cripple,

SCHOOLS ON EDGE FOR TITLE GAMES

Central and Northeast Expect Rival Stars to Cause Upsets

Central High and Northeast will fight it out for the city high school track and field championship tomorrow. but the interest in the final games will not center in the performance of these schools. Germantown High may win a few places which may cost either school the chance to land the title. Upsets are sure to happen, for Frankford. Southern, West Philadelphia and Germantown have stars who are sure to exceed Central's and Northeast's speed limit in many of the events.

Central High has won the title seventeen out of eighteen times. For that reason Northeast will try even harder to wrest the honors away from the Crimson and Gold and with an eighteen point handicap, amounting to an eightpoint lead with the usual scoring conthe Red and Black. It would simply be guesswork to pick the winner as so many things can happen the tide of victory may go either way. It is rea-sonably sure that no other school will win, however.
