STATE TENNIS MEET IS WELL BALANCED

Californians Hold Up Tournament at Merion C. C. by Not Attending on First Day

By SPICK HALL. When a tennis tournament has a field of players that are all first class and that one is a large and glittering star, the majority take very little interest in it. It is all right, but there is a man that stands out prominently in the sport. This season's tournament for the championship of Pennsylvania has one of the largest entry lists that the event has ever had, and one of the reasons is that every man feels that by some queer spin of the wheel of fortune he might land at least within shouting distance of the top.

Last year Bill Tilden won the Pennsylvania title. Now Bill is in England showing Mr. J. Bull's young men how wickedly the racket is shaken in America. This means that the fight for fame and championship is all the fiercer, but then there is Carl Fischer, the speedy young left-hander and captain of the University of Pennsylvania team.

Beat Native Son. Carl recently defeated the captain of the University of California tennis team without his trying. Carl's game this year is much better than it was last year. It has a much more expert feel to it. A year ago some wonders for Tilden's sake have gone wonders for Tilden's protection, and he resembles to a degree a looking glass, where he would appear to be a southpaw.

Yesterday in his match at the Merion Cricket Club, Fischer waded through his first opponent in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2. His foe was Paul Brinsmade, of the Westside Tennis Club, Forest Hills, L. I. The New Yorker looked to be almost twice as tall as Carl, but he was a much heavier man, and he was a much better player. Carl's delivery was working wonderfully yesterday, and his whole game was the essence of speed and accuracy.

Strong Doubles Team. Wallace Johnson and Carl have decided to pair in the doubles. They have had luck for the teams that they happened to draw. The Edwards brothers and one or two other teams may give Carl and Wallace a battle, but Carl and Wallace are confident they should win the doubles with a good margin to spare.

Yesterday the University of California players were not among those present when O'Brien and Carl and Collins looked the field over to pair off their athletes. Not only that, but he had received no word from them that they were not coming. This showed that he had been here for several days that they would be ready. According to tournament regulations, all of these players should have been here by Friday. Their opponents waited around all afternoon for them and finally had to leave without having played at all. Late in the afternoon Mr. Hoskins, by the mere chance, heard that the Californians would be ready to play at noon today.

Matches Delayed. Mr. Hoskins talked with all the Californians' opponents and they agreed, at the request of the referee, to play their matches tomorrow. This showed more sportsmanship on the part of Mr. Hoskins than the Californians deserved. He stated that in view of the fact that they were the guests not only of the Merion Cricket Club and the tournament officials but of the entire East, they would be granted this special dispensation. The result of their failure to get here today has thrown the whole tournament back, and a number of players will have to play more matches today and tomorrow than they would otherwise.

The action of the Californians in getting to a tennis tournament a day late when there is really no excuse for it shows either a defiance toward or a lack of knowledge of the tennis tournament officials. This attitude is in striking contrast to the fine sportsmen and athletes who came from the Golden State for the Pennsylvania relays some time ago.

Below are yesterday's summaries:

PRELIMINARY ROUND. Phoebe Howell, Philadelphia Country Club, defeated C. S. Mills, Cynwyd, 6-4, 6-4.

PENN CREWS OFF FOR ITHACA TODAY

Coach Wright Has Virtually Decided on Varsity for Big Race

FRESHMEN ARE IN SHAPE

Coach Joe Wright, of the University of Pennsylvania crews and three eights, will leave this city this evening for Ithaca, the scene of the intercollegiate rowing championship races on Saturday afternoon. The Red and Blue crews will arrive in the home ballroom of Cornell tomorrow morning. The eights will rest up in the morning and early afternoon, according to the present schedule, and late in the afternoon will take to the water for their first trial spins over the course. With the arrival of Penn the crews entered in the college rowing classic of the year will be on the scene.

The Penn varsity crew will race as the varsity on Saturday. Wright virtually decided yesterday after summing up the work of the veterans and the 150-pound eight. Not once did Coach Thomas's eight taste defeat on the water. The eight was the series of trial spins held on the Schuylkill last week to decide the supremacy of the two crews. On several occasions, however, the 150 pounders came within several seconds of beating the varsity, but Wright last week will stand for the race, he made it known last night.

Howell will row in number six in place of "Red" Hinkley. This is the second time Howell has been in the varsity boat and, according to Wright, he is in to stay this time. Hinkley will probably be carried along as the varsity substitute. The remainder of the boat will be virtually the same as has been rowing together for the past two weeks, with the exception of Ames who announced some ten days ago that he had withdrawn from the race and would like to be relieved. His place was taken by Deaver at bow. The new combination in a trial spin yesterday showed up exceptionally well, and all the rowers are confident that they are going to do better on Saturday than they have at any time this season.

Professional editors, physicians' orders and lack of enthusiasm on the part of the oarsmen have added gray hairs to the head of the veteran coach, but he takes it all philosophically and hopes for better fortune in the future. The varsity eight will be seated on Saturday afternoon as follows: J. B. Deaver, Jr., bow; H. H. Keller, captain; H. T. Swan, 3; W. H. Copeland, 4; J. V. Ellison, 5; Howell, 6; H. Guenther, 7; and C. H. Thomas, stroke. E. S. Gillette is the coxswain. The freshman eight, stroked by Eva, the former Duluth Club oarsman, is in better all-around shape for Saturday's race than it has been since outdoor practice started. The races with the varsity and 150-pound eights, always hotly contested, have resulted in giving

CARMAN RIDES THURSDAY

World's Champ Ready for 1920 American Bow

Clarence Carman, the world's champion pace fowler, will make his 1920 American bow at the Point Breeze Velodrome Thursday night, when he engages three other speedy pedal pushers in the forty-mile Olympic Derby. Carman arrived in this country from France about a week ago, and has been taking his time in training, so that he will be in the best of shape when he swings over the wheel in his opening race. He is said to be in great shape now. The American speed king has been in France all winter, where he handed defeats to all the European stars, Elmer Collins, of Lynn, Mass., who starred at the 'drome races last season, also will make his 1920 debut here. He will be opposed to Carman, together with George Colombatto, the Italian champion, and George Chapman, the local flier. Collins is the 100-kilometer titleholder.

In the professional sprint match race Orlando Piani, of Italy, will speed against Johnny Staehle, of Newark, in two of three one-mile heats. One novice and two amateur races will complete the card.

The yearlings added confidence, and while they are not looking forward to victory on Saturday, they are confident that the victor will have to contend with them to win the title of freshman champion.

A contingent of Penn alumni will leave this city Friday night in a special car for Ithaca, arriving there Saturday morning. There is more enthusiasm shown over this year's race than for several years by Penn grads and undergrads, and in addition to the local delegation a large one is expected to come on to the races from New York and vicinity. With the stands built to accommodate 25,000 and standing and sitting space along the banks of the lake to accommodate 20,000 more at the finish of the race the spectators will be well taken care of. The inability to secure railroad observation cars has not detracted in the least from the great amount of interest shown by rowing enthusiasts for the race.

MATCH PLAY FOR LYNEWOOD CUP

Many Golfers of National Reputation Tee Off at Huntingdon Valley Classic Today

First-round matches at Huntingdon Valley in the classic Lynewood Hall golf tournament promised few upsets when the various sixteens started this morning. W. H. Gardner, Buffalo, yesterday's medalist, teed off against Hugh Willoughby, Merion, ex-Philadelphia and Florida champion. Gardner was the favorite, but he was qualified with 147, but the local men are playing a star game and a sturdy tussle was expected.

Max Marston, Merion, played C. C. Ingraham, Huntingdon Valley. There was 10 strokes difference in their qualifying scores yesterday in favor of Marston, but Ingraham is a hard player to beat on his own course. Pat Grant (101), Pennsylvania State champion, played Reginald Lewis, the New York expert, and J. Simpson Dean, Princeton's captain (155), tackled H. B. Swops (165), of Merionville. The star match of the lower bracket went away, George V. Rotan (155), ex-Texas champion, playing against J. W. Platt (160), national semifinalist and winner of the North Hills tourney.

S. E. Foster (165), Princeton, was matched against Cecil Calvert (168), North Hills, and Norman Maxwell (160), Whitmarsh, played Henry J. Topping (167), the Greenwich crack. In the final match of the first flight, D. Clarke Corkan (151), was drawn against George Morse (160), of Rutledge (167), the Greenwich crack. The course has seldom been in better shape, and some very keen matches were expected.

SCRAPS ABOUT SCRAPPERS

EDDIE FITZSIMMONS, the New York southpaw, has proved further his ability as a knockerout. The Gotham gloveman sprang into pugilistic prominence when he knocked down Lew Tendler recently about a minute before the finish of their eight-round bout at Shibe Park. There were cries of "knock" from numerous sources following this bout, but Sir Edward accomplished a feat last night that stamped him as a real possessor of the sleep position when he stowed away Ralph Brady in the eleventh round of a scheduled twelve-round at Jersey City. While Brady has never been accused of being a dangerous opponent for top-notch lightweights, he always has given them tough tussles. Willie Jackson, Lew Tendler and Johnny Dundee couldn't as much as knock him down. Brady is one of the clown sort of boxers, bouncer, and a sturdy tussle was expected.

Max Marston, Merion, played C. C. Ingraham, Huntingdon Valley. There was 10 strokes difference in their qualifying scores yesterday in favor of Marston, but Ingraham is a hard player to beat on his own course. SCRAPS ABOUT SCRAPPERS

Callahan was expected in town today in the same party with Champion Johnny Wilson, who meets Assie Ratner in the star scuffle at Shibe Park. George Paulin, French lightweight champion, and his manager, Francesco Descombes, will arrive in Philadelphia tonight. Paulin's chief purpose in visiting the City of Brotherly Love is to see the Liberty Bell and, incidentally, meet Joe Tipton in the opening eight-round number at the Athletics' ball park. This bout will be followed by one between Johnny Murray, of New York, and Harry (Kid) Brown.

Harry (Kid) Brown is matched for a twelve-round, referee-decision, bout with Pepper Martin in Boston the latter part of the month. This will be followed by a four-fight series. Brown's guarantee is said to be in four figures. Frankie Bradley was nicked for a silk shirt when Mack Wheat, nicked a home run at the Phillies' Ball Park on Saturday. Wheat's credit of being the first ball player to finish Jimmie Bradley's big stack of pitknaw. Home-run hitters in the future at the Philadelphia ball park will be presented with a shirt by Bradley.

Dave Astey has been offered a date with Dick Lockman in Pittsburgh, but the former has declined. He has been training for several weeks. House, wants to take a flier at Johnny Krause. K. O.
