Some of us have been suspecting a onet, held on the school lawn, Miss Agnes McGovern, president of the class, presided. Jo Reeves, and yesterday our curiosity was satisfied by the announcement of per engagement to Henry Walton, Jr., Torresdale. Jo Reeves is a most atactive girl, and I hope she'll be very happy in her engagement and marriage. She left Germantown down to Bowling Green, Ky., where she will attend the wedding of Mary MacKenzie Moss and Eugene Simonin. They are to be married on Saturday, you know, and the members of the wedding party started down yesterday to foin in the parties before the wedding

Jo Reeves is the daughter of Mr. Mrs. Francis B. Reeves, Jr., of Ger-mantown. She and her sister Mary made their debut together two years ago. Her mother was Miss Lillian rimrose, and both Mary and Josephine have Primrose for their second name. Francis B. Reeves, 3d, and Johnson eves are both brothers. The Reeves live on Abbottsford avenue in German-Mr. Francis B. Reeves, the has that beautiful old place at McKean avenue and Clapier

Henry Walton is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Walton, of Torresdale. The late city controller was his uncle. He is a brother of Mrs. James Adams, wife of Senator Adams, of Pittsburgh; of Mrs. Thomas Aller, Mrs. Wilmer Middleton, Jr., of Torresdale, and Mer-cedes Walton and John Walton. He is a graduate of the Episcopal Academy of the University of Pennsylvania. and he served in the First Troop of pasylvania Cavalry during the war. If I mistake not, he was made a member of the military police about the same time as Jack Groome and several who were transferred from the Trench Mortar Battery. This, you remember, was composed entirely mbers of the First City Troop. Jack Walton was in the troop, too, and I may be mixed about the M. P., but I know one was in that service.

MARY GLENDINNING, Hope Cromwell and several others left yesterday for Detroit. Hope and Mary will be members of the bridal party at Cromwell-Dodge wedding, you know. Mary is to be maid of honor and Hope matron of honor. You know Delphine Dodge was at school at Springside in Chestnut Hill for some little time before she came out, and it was there that she and Mary Glendinning became close friends. It seems rather nice that Delphine should know a Philadelphia girl so well that she would want her to be the closest of her would want her to be the closest of her attendants at her wedding to a Phila-delphian. Mary Glendinning is as pretty as can be, and will doubtless make a lovely addition to the wedding party. The wedding takes place Thursday, you know, at the Dodge place at Grosse

Pointe Farms. Have you ever seen Grosse Pointe? It's one of the mest beautiful suburban places in the country. All the places slope down on Lake St. Clair, which is wide you cannot see the opposite hores and when the wind is high the lake is full of white caps like the great lakes or sea. It opens into the great akes, you know. It is one of the show
