THE second debutante affair of the season will be given this afternoon in Media, when Dr. and Mrs. John Gibbon will introduce their daughter, Marjorie, at a tea. Their place, Lynfield Farm, is an ideal back-ground for an afternoon party in June, and some of the season's prettiest buds are to receive with the little debutante. Ruth Packard, Sydney Biddle, Mary Howland, Mary B. Thayer, and Jane Gordon Coxe will be in the receiving Gordon Coxe will be in the receiving party. Anna Newbold was also to have received, but her uncle's sudden death last week has thrown her family into last week has thrown her family into mourning.

Doctor Gibbon, you know, was one of the surgeons with Base Hospital No. of the surgeons with Base Hospital No. 10, and served abroad for two years during the war. Marjorie did a lot of good work during the war, and Mrs. Gibbon also was active. It was such a brave thing the way the families of our men turned in and helped in every way at home to make it possible for our men to go.

I am so glad that things are all normal again for them, after such sad and dangerous separations. Our doctors were in danger of their lives "over there" even if they were not always on the firing line. And it is good to THE Megargee Wrights, I hear, are going back to Bar Harbor this sum-

THE Megargee Wrights, I hear, are going back to Bar Harbor this summer. I heard Mrs. Wright telling some one the other day that she would feel just as if she were greeting long-time friends when she got back to her home up there and saw some of her old frocks which had been packed away during the summers of the war. She and her family stayed at Cape May and nearer home then, you know. Bar Harbor did not seem itself without the Wrights, so there will be general rejoicing on both sides at their return.

The Madison Taylors are going there as usual, and later in 11.2 season the Design of the summer.

The Madison Taylors are going there as usual, and later in it season the De Witt Cuylers. Mrs. Edward Morrell will move up about the middle of July for at least two months. I cannot recall others, at present, but I have heard of a number of old devotees of that resort who will go thither soon.

COURSE, it was too great a change; but, for the matter of that, we ever, any of us, thoroughly satis-with anything? And isn't the mometer even at thirty (should it go down to that) better than the awful humidity and temperature of the first part of this past week? I am certainly grateful for the change.

I hope it will be cool down in Kentucky today for Mary Moss's wedding.

She and Eugene Simonin are to be mar-It must be awfully nice for Willie ried. It must be awittly nice for Willie Moss Howe, don't you think, to have her sister marry a Philadelphian, too? THEN there's the Bohlen-Franklin wedding today at 4 o'clock. That Sidney Franklin will make a pretty bride, I make little doubt. She has pretty sunny hair and is petite and cute. pretty sunny mair and is petite and cute. Sarah, her elder sister, is to be her maid of honor, and Bobbie Brockie. Peggy Thayer, Mary Law, Rebecca Thomson, Mary Tilghman and Mrs. John Gillette, f Boston, will be the bridesmaids. There are to be eight ushers, and, of ourse, the best man. I hear that the ing people intend to make their home n Haverford. Frank Bohlen's mother, Mrs. Woodville Bohlen, was Miss Margaret Woodville. His sisters are Mrs. Bonsal Brooks and Mrs. Dick Tilgh-man. His father is Prof. Frank Bohlen, of the University Law School.

WillLE on the subject of weddings, did you know that Mrs. Frank Thibault was going to be married next week? She and Dr. George T. Tracy will be quietly married Thursday, and after a wedding trip will live in Beverly for the summer.

Mrs. Thibault has been living at 248
South Twenty-second street. She was Miss Helen Green, and was married to Mr. Carrow Thibault some time ago. Several years after his death she was married to his brother. Mr. Frank Thibault. He died some years later. Mrs. Thibault's son, Carrow, lives with her. and her other son, Lewis, who married Adele Codding, lives in St. Davids.

VOU know that awful pour Thursday afternoon, when you just had to get under shelter, and then when it held up a little you made flying leaps under awnings and in and out of door ways, and when you reached your coryou stood there waiting for your Well, how were you to know that the man back of you wanted the car that you allowed to pass? It wasn't your car. How were you to know that he could not open the top of your head and look inside and know that you were saying to yourself. "That's not my car. I'm waiting for No.——?" Of course, not, and yet when you did get into the next yar, and a man hash of you alwest. next car, and a man back of you almost knocked you down getting on, too, did you not have a horrible awakening when to be conductor, "Almost missed this car, loo, because some fool woman stood in front of me in this pouring rain and tried to decide where in the dickens (and a bit stronger than that it was) she was goin'?" NANCY WYNNE.

All over Hotel Pennsylvania (New York) you'll find things mighty well worked out for your comfort.

There are all sorts of "special" attractions about the place—the big, colorful Roof Restaurants, for one thing; and the Turkish Bath establishments and swimming pools for another; and the many servicedevices (the "Servidor" is typical); and so on.

You may not want a fifty-dollar suite-but it's there if you do. You may not want a quick meal in a new kind of fast-service lunch-room, but maybe sometime you will. The Pennsylvania has tried to anticipate all the needs of those people who want the best there is when they're in New York.
