

COURT HALTS WHEN PONY STARTS FUSS

New Cop Nabs "Mamie" for Blocking Traffic, but Finds Cell Can't Hold Her

"There will be no court today," said Mayor Anderson, of Gloucester, N. J., this morning, when he looked over the police docket and noted that the sole disturber of law and order appearing thereon was a pony named "Mamie."

"Mamie" was "arrested" at King street by Policeman Eichenhoffer. It was Eichenhoffer's first arrest, as he has been a member of the force but a short time.

A telephone message to Sergeant Van Meter that "a police officer was needed right away at King street" led to the apprehension of "Mamie."

Policeman Eichenhoffer was detailed to the scene and ordered to move quickly. At King street he found the pony severely but obediently holding forth in the middle of the thoroughfare, blocking traffic and everything else.

Not being accustomed to handling ponies the policeman made little headway in inducing the animal to "move on" until some one whispered in his ear that he knew the pony, that its name was "Mamie" and that, perchance, it might listen to reason if called by its proper name.

Policeman Eichenhoffer took the advice and the pony thereafter was obedient and consented peaceably to accompany the guardian of the law to the Gloucester police station.

There "Mamie," being a little thing, was placed in a cell temporarily, but she did not take kindly to this form of duration and kicked up such a rumpus she had to be led out to a side-yard. And there she remains until the police can find her owner, who is said to be William Marsden.

BALDWIN'S FUTURE BRIGHT

$50,000,000 in Foreign Orders Alone, Says Samuel H. Vauclain

The Baldwin Locomotive Works has foreign orders amounting to $50,000,000 and could easily double that amount, according to Samuel H. Vauclain, president of the company.

"One cannot now measure the demand from our regular customers," he said, "and I do not purpose to cut off the supply for the United States."

The company's contracts, Mr. Vauclain said, will assure steady work in the immense plant and will make certain regular dividends on the stock with some millions of dollars as surplus funds.

What It Costs To Make The Best Quality Ice-Cream

You And The Thousands Who Insist On Getting COLONIAL ICE-CREAM Should Know These Facts

THE high-grade cream used in COLONIAL ICE-CREAM costs 25% more today than it did eight months ago. Sugar, formerly priced at 10 and 11 cents a pound, costs today 20 to 24 cents a pound. Fruits, Nuts, Ice and Salt and Skilled Labor have gone up in price.

Conditions beyond our control have forced us to choose between lowering the COLONIAL standard or raising the price.

We Chose to Maintain Superior Quality.

The slight advance partly meets the increased cost of manufacture. Your confectioner or druggist now pays a little more for COLONIAL ICE-CREAM than for any other ice-cream on the market.

He does this because he knows that COLONIAL ICE-CREAM is the BEST—"that better ice-cream can't be made"—and that you appreciate its superior quality and deliciousness.

In a recent advertisement we pledged that: "So long as the Colonial Belle is our symbol, will COLONIAL ICE-CREAM harmonize with the ideal represented by it." And that ideal is Ice-Cream of Purity, Goodness, Happiness!

WE PLEDGE again our best efforts and all our resources to always maintain the quality which has caused the ice-cream-eating public of Philadelphia to agree that:—

To the 1,500 Dealers Who Sell COLONIAL ICE-CREAM

We are grateful to you for the splendid co-operation you have given us in helping introduce Colonial Ice-Cream to the people of Philadelphia.

You know how we have faithfully kept our promise to serve you with the finest quality ice-cream that can be produced. But to continue this excellent quality we are compelled by reason of the increased cost of every ingredient to make a slight advance in our wholesale prices.

As men of good business judgment, you will agree that QUALITY is more important than the additional few cents. We are confident that your customers who know and appreciate the goodness of Colonial Ice-Cream will willingly share with you and with us this trifling increase. For THEY WANT and we MUST GIVE THEM the finest quality ice-cream that can be made.

We appeal to you to continue to co-operate with us so that you and your customers will never have reason to say that Colonial Ice-Cream is skimping on its quality to meet the increased cost of production.

One word more—if there are any dealers in Philadelphia not serving Colonial Ice-Cream, but who desire to serve their trade with ice-cream of superior quality, let them get in touch with us by mail or by phone.
