Nancy Wynne Speaks of the Hamilton-Vauclain Wedding-She Tells of the Fete to be Held Tomorrow at Walmarthon, St. Davids

T SAW in several New York papers yesterday that Constance Vauclain and William Hamilton were being married that afternoon at the Church of the Redeemer, Bryn Mawr. I rushed to my desk to look up my invitation. for I was anything but ready to go to the wedding, having thought that it was Saturday. And it is Saturday. Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock. What do you suppose was the matter with said you suppose was the matter with said papers? I'm afraid they may have started some New Yorkers over for the on suppose was the matter with said apers? I'm afraid they may have larted some New Yorkers over for the ir. However, as most of us keep invitations at least until the date the wedding or party is past, it cobably did not cause much confusion. Constance will make a pretty bride; most fair-haired girls do, and she has such a piquant face. Mrs. Henriques such a piquant face. Ars. Henriques Crawford, who, you remember, was Gretchen Clay, and for whom Con-stance was a bridesmaid, is to be the matron of honor at the wedding, and Patricia Vauclain, Constance's young er sister, will be the other attendant.

WE HAVE two weddings this after-W noon-in Bryn Mawr and Rose-mont. Marys Clark and George Frazier, mont. Marys Clark and George Frazler, Jr., will be married at 4 o'clock in the Church of the Redeemer, and Marjorie Morris and George Brown will be married in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Rosemont, at 5 o'clock. This evening there will be the party which
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bartol Brazier will give for their daughter, Frances, Nan Fielder will have a dinner before the will have a dinner before the Brazier party, and Dorothen Mehl be given a dinner by her parents, too. The school set is having its innings again between the end of school and the going away to camp for the sum-THESE days, while there are weddings and such goings on, and lawn parties and fetes and dances and lunch-eons, still there's nothing new, much, is there? And what to write about!

To be sure I could tell you that I dreamed I went to a formal luncheon the other day and turned handsprings about the table, only to be roused by a call for breakfast; but at that, that's not really entertaining, you see. It's simply brain storm or something of the kind. And, too, there are some who would not be interested in such a narrative at all.
But there is something I will tell you about that is interesting, and I only just heard about it since I wrote that. I would advise you not to miss this. It is the lawn party and Americaniza-tion fete to be held out at the Walton

In the first place, have you ever been out to the Walton's place? If you have not, you ought to go whether you are interested in the project of the party or not, for it's a wonderful spot.

They have a large pool at the back of the house, I should say about a city block away, and there will be swim-ming contests in said pool, and the prize per of that test will receive a silver

The Italian gardens are simply wonderful, and the pergolas and rose garden delight the eye. Then there is a log cabin built in the woods, and there is a log cabin built in the woods and selegate to the Northern Baptist Convention now being held there.

Mr. and Mrs. John A. Hickey will close their house, 251 South Thirty-eighth street, Scout Troop of Wayne.

There will be supper from 5:30 until 7:30, and Mrs. James English will have that in charge, assisted by a number of the younger girls as aides. Dancing will be a feature of both evenings, when an orchestra will play from 7:30 until 11 o'clock, It will play on Saturday afternoon, too, for a couple of hours. And the dancing will take place in the Log Cabin. Tomorrow afternoon there :30. and Mrs. James English will have will be a musicale in the Log Cabin. I do not kno wof a place more wonderfully fitted for an affair of the kind. I think it will be truly elightful.

The Italians who live in Wayne and adjacent places are to have a table of their own, with Italian lace and other heautiful things for sale. Me, I'm going. You'd better come along.

HOPPING AT THE BETTER SHOPS

BY THIS TIME YOU ARE AWARE THAT PAULETTE'S SHOPPING FINDS ARE WELL WORTH INVESTIGATING, THAT THEY ARE INVARIABLY EXAMPLES OF THE BEST TASTE, AND THAT THIS EXPERT SHOPPER EXERCISES A DISCREET ECONOMY CONSISTENT WITH QUALITY THAT IS OF GREAT AID TO HER READERS.

I think I've found the very smartest bathing suits to be had in town at Bonwit Teller's smaller shop at Thirteenth and Sansom streets. When I first glimpsed them I was sure the prices must be prohibitive, but a glance at the price tags convinced me otherwise, for the prices range from $12.75 to $95, and include taffetas. satins, velvets and spun silk. There is a very beautiful model of black velvet, with a few hand-painted motifs upon it, priced at $42.50. Plain velvets are $37.50, while a fascinating yet sufficiently conservative little black taffeta is priced at $16.50. It is ornamented with woolen balls and embroidery in gay colors. This shop of chic also has beach capes in much variety. One, priced so low as $7.95, is of terry cloth and comes in black and white, blue and white, and lavender and white. And there are caps and slippers and everything you need for surf fun.

Good willow furniture is a most practical investment because of its durability, and has as well great artistic possibilities provided it has the right decorative treatment. There are many inferior willows. French willow is the smoothest, sturdiest grown, and because it is the grade that is used exclusively in Kayser & Allman's willow furniture I want to tell you about it. Not only is this furniture constructed for strength and grace, but it is effectively enameled and upholstered-in short, it's the correct kind of willow furniture for the homes of discriminating people. Furthermore, I find that the pieces are just about from 20% to 30% lower than is asked in the average shop for such merchandise, so that you may have quality and practice economy at one and the same time. On display there's a stunning set of willow enameled in jade green with its lines emphasized by touches of Chinese flame. A similar set, however, can be decorated in any colors you prefer. The same the natural and unupholstered good-looking pieces in are priced as follows: Table, $16.00; Stool, $10.00; Armchair, $25.00; Fernery, $27.00; Lamp, $26.00; Chaise, $42.50. This splendid shop is conveniently located at 1522

At present there is an exclusive vogue for rich crepe de chine frocks, especially those with handsome embroidery. J. M. Gidding, whose establishment is in the Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Broad and Walnut streets, has some of the most exquisite examples of this type of dress. One, a heavy cream white, is enriched with Bulgarian silk embroidery of deepest navy. The frock is conservative, but decidedly distinctive, from its rounded peasant, embroidered neck to the embroidered side panels invisibly weighted with cream serge. Another white crepe de chine frock (both are afternoon models) has the entire front embroidered in large white lily leaves, each with a huge oval eyelet worked in it. Crepes de chine are decidedly the newest thing. Besides a display of models in white, Giddings are featuring crepes de chine of tan, gray, henna, navy, etc.—all of a "difference."

Summer frocks at $18.50 are an inducement when they can be had at one of the good shops, in this instance, L. Stone Co.'s, at 1306 Walnut Street. Mr. Stone endeavors to have on hand a variety of the less expensive though smart models as well as those more luxurious. Among the $18.50 models are to be found demure little dotted Swisses, youthful organdies, graceful voiles, smart linens, fetching Scotch ginghams, and many interest novelties. There are frocks for the slim maid and models for the woman more mature, all made in good taste and at that price that enables a woman to invest in two dresses where she would ordinarily have limited herself to one. The frocks are in all the pretty pastel hues and form an inviting little assemble.

Just the other day I wandered into the House of Wenger, at 1229 Walnut Street, to have some furs stored in that wonderful government-approved cold-storage fur vault of theirs, but alas, it was quite, quite full! This excellent Wenger vault has become so we'll known that the wise woman brings her furs for placement early in the season. However, before I left the establishment I wandered about feasting my eyes upon the furs, and gorgeous things of superlative pelts they were. The summer wraps trimmed with furs were exquisite. None the less interesting, however, was the fact that Mr. Wenger is taking orders for next winter's furs at prices materially lower than similar orders could be taken in the fall. Indeed, so inviting are these prices that the workroom of this exclusive house was never busier. Chertak-Wenger, by the way, at the same address, has some particularly fetching hats just now. I am wondering if the month of June inspired some of her flower hats, especially an odd little turban of crushed white roses entirely covered with an embroidered black veil.

Have you ever been in Madame Lisette's exclusive little millinery salon? It is difficult to tell which is the more charming, the salon or Madame's very French little There you will see imported models such as are difficult to find in America, and besides, Madame's own creations, a bit less expensive perhaps, but quite as adorable as those which come from her native land. Just now it would be particularly advantageous for you to visit Madame, and I shall tell you why. As a rule she does not find it necessary to reduce her models to any appreciable extent if at all, so much in demand are they, but possibly because of the campaign for fair prices she is this season offering delightful reductions upon each and every one of her creations—for to the simplest that is exactly what her models are, creations. Just the right lines for grace and becomingness prevail, just the right hues to make complexions appear at their best, just the unusual though correct materials to give you a chapeau of a difference. Oh, you must visit Madame Lisette, you really must! Under her salon is that reliable fur establishment of Seifert's, where just now they are repairing furs at astonishingly low summer prices. Both are located at 1426 Walnut Street.

You will be interested to know that Sterling's, at 1210 Walnut Street, have received the balance of that shipment of exquisite frocks made in the French convents-dainty little things of an exclusive simplicity that is inspiring smart women to buy half a dozen at a time. Every stitch, even to those in the seams, is done by hand. Some of the frocks are embroidered and others are hemstitched or ornamented with drawnwork. All are in either handkerchief linen or fine voile, and in the loveliest pastel tints. The frocks are made in various styles suitable for matron or maid, and come in sizes 18 to 42. The prices range from $45 to $59.50, but from these prices will be taken the 20% discount that now prevails throughout this very satisfactory shop.
