Open Warfare Is Changed to Sniping-Banks and Many Shops Reopen

FOOD SUPPLY IS SCANTY

By the Associated Press Londonderry, June 25,-Londonferry, since Friday last the scene of violent street warfare between Unionist, Nationalist and Sinn Fein factions, today was approaching a normal condition. The banks and many shops were open and people ventured into the streets. The food supply was short, however, and the town still without gas, Fighting between the warring factions since midnight was confined to sniping, the rival elements evidently fearing to attempt massed activities in view of the increased military forces.

The body of Patrick Plunkett, a commercial traveler and well known in Belfast as a cricket player, was found in Bishop street and removed to a fire station. He was killed immediately after he had sent a telegram to his wife informing her of his safety. A barber named McLaughlin, who was killed by a sniper, was wounded two months ago. A woman named Moore was shot while looking from a window. The looting last night was more ex-tensive than ever. Numerous cases were reported of armed and masked men calling at the homes of Unionists and Nationalists and giving them a few hours in which to clear out.

An English soldier, who went through the war, describing his experience in Londonderry, declared he had seen nothing in France to compare with the situation in Londonderry. Bullets, he said, were flying from all sides wherever he went, and it was marvelous that Bantry, County Cork, Ireland, June 25.—(By A. P.)—What was apparently a concerted series of outrages against Sinn Feiners occurred here last night, one death and the burning of several bomes and shops resulting.

Cornelius Crowley, twenty years old, was shot dead in bed by a group of masked men who later set fire to the shop and dwelling of a local merchant. Both Crowley and the merchant were reputed to be prominent in Sinn Fein
