

The Marriage Trifler

By HAZEL DEYO BACHELOR
Copyright, 1919, by Public Ledger Co.

A Morning Visit

When a woman does not take into consideration her husband's interests, and thinks only of her own, she is a marriage trifier. Barbara Knight was one. She had always been spoiled. In her father's house she had done as she pleased, and she expected to do the same of her husband's. But she did not care for the shallowness of society; she wanted friends, real friends, and Katherine, her present secretary, an unusual girl and a college woman, unconsciously offered her the friendship she wanted. Of her, Barbara Knight had heard when she was with Katherine, for she allowed him to be himself.

old and hard as a woman of the world. Where on earth did she get these ideas? Mrs. Knight smiled indulgently. "What Barbara has done is to tell me that she is not a trifier, but a trifier. I don't like to tell champagne whenever she's out, and—Mrs. Knight's tone was shocked. "Keith and I have seen her, and then she fits dreadfully, and not with boys her own age, but with men like that, unspeakable Mr. Randall!"

(Tomorrow—Eleanor flings the gauntlet)

Please Tell Me What to Do

By CYNTHIA

What Attracts Boys First?
Dear Cynthia—Just a certain question that I would like to ask you. May be you or some of the readers can tell me.

What is it that attracts a boy's attention first when he meets a girl?
KITTY.
A general answer to your question can be given. For it depends on the boy and what qualities in a girl attract him. One characteristic might attract one and another another.

She Can't Drop Him
Dear Cynthia—You seem to have given good advice to many people who write to your column, so I am going to ask for some of it now.
I have a good many boy friends, but there is one I especially like. About four years ago he ceased to speak to me. I do not know why. What could I do? I am afraid to go to him and ask the reason, for he may turn me down in front of my friends. He even shuns me when I am in the same crowd with him. I cannot drop him, Cynthia, dear, no matter how I try.

Why?
If this boy is so rude to you, you are very foolish to bother with him. You can occupy yourself with other friends if you so desire. If you are a man who for a whim stops speaking to a girl and humiliates her before others it is not worth fretting over.

She Asks Questions
Dear Cynthia—When out with a young man whom you do not know very well, what is the proper food to order, after a show or dance? Is it all right to ask him to order for you?
2. Is it perfectly proper to have a young man take your arm if the streets are not slippery?
3. Is it considered good form to call a young man on the phone? I don't mean to make a practice of it, but just once in a while, when you're lonesome?
4. Would it be considered "Etiquette" to be too greatly shocked if on Sunday morning one would call up a friend and invite him to spend the afternoon, take supper with you, and then escort you to church? I ask this because often on a Sunday or holiday, I would like to have company, but I have never gotten up enough nerve to invite him, and he, I know, is very bashful.
5. So many of the young men that ask me out grow sentimental and become greatly vexed because I refuse to kiss them or hold hands with them when they are so inclined. Why?

6. There is one young man I know who is bashful and backward. I do think that I am the cause? When dancing with a young man I talk very little. I believe in letting them talk. Is that proper?
"PUZZLED."

1. Let him do the ordering. A salad and ice are nice.
2. It is not good form for a young man to take a girl's arm in any case. If she is lame, or needs support, she may take his arm. But it should not be done unless necessary.
3. It depends on how well you know the young man. It's usually better to let the call come from him, however.
4. There's no reason why you should not ask a young man to dinner and to go to church with you, if you want to.
5. Let them be vexed. Don't kiss them.

6. Bashful people are apt to be shy in any case. It is probably not your fault.
7. Talking when dancing is a matter to decide for one's self. It's usually more pleasant to dance without conversation, as the steps can be better followed in that way.

'2 Respectable New Yorkers' Answer
Dear Cynthia—Just a few lines in answer to E. O., whose lines appeared in last Saturday's paper.
It's plain to be seen she has still one foot in the cradle by her excited line, and why, little one, get that way over such a small matter?
And as for "where" do we get the license to sign respectable, why we "always" had that, and we didn't have to go to the City Hall to get it, either; and by the looks of some of the Philadelphia or Market street, why, they should be labeled.
Also our friends have "more" respect for us than for some of these girls who, by the way, wouldn't do such things, but all we say is "just give them a chance."
A word to Cynthia. We didn't state that we kissed boys good-night as a reward for talking us out, besides, we keep company with "only" one.
Hoping E. O. has come to after her excitement, we still remain, and "are,"
"TWO RESPECTABLE NEW YORKERS."

Sorry, girls, but your letter gave the impression that you kissed any of the boys who asked you. Why should any one object to your kissing the "only" one, if you are engaged to him? Are you both kissing the same one? It seems a strange statement. "We keep company with 'only' one." Cynthia hopes you are not "keeping company" but are engaged to be married. Keeping company is very dom if over a good plan.

Dear Cynthia—You seem to have given good advice to many people who write to your column, so I am going to ask for some of it now.
I have a good many boy friends, but there is one I especially like. About four years ago he ceased to speak to me. I do not know why. What could I do? I am afraid to go to him and ask the reason, for he may turn me down in front of my friends. He even shuns me when I am in the same crowd with him. I cannot drop him, Cynthia, dear, no matter how I try.

Why?
If this boy is so rude to you, you are very foolish to bother with him. You can occupy yourself with other friends if you so desire. If you are a man who for a whim stops speaking to a girl and humiliates her before others it is not worth fretting over.

She Asks Questions
Dear Cynthia—When out with a young man whom you do not know very well, what is the proper food to order, after a show or dance? Is it all right to ask him to order for you?
2. Is it perfectly proper to have a young man take your arm if the streets are not slippery?
3. Is it considered good form to call a young man on the phone? I don't mean to make a practice of it, but just once in a while, when you're lonesome?
4. Would it be considered "Etiquette" to be too greatly shocked if on Sunday morning one would call up a friend and invite him to spend the afternoon, take supper with you, and then escort you to church? I ask this because often on a Sunday or holiday, I would like to have company, but I have never gotten up enough nerve to invite him, and he, I know, is very bashful.
5. So many of the young men that ask me out grow sentimental and become greatly vexed because I refuse to kiss them or hold hands with them when they are so inclined. Why?

6. There is one young man I know who is bashful and backward. I do think that I am the cause? When dancing with a young man I talk very little. I believe in letting them talk. Is that proper?
"PUZZLED."

1. Let him do the ordering. A salad and ice are nice.
2. It is not good form for a young man to take a girl's arm in any case. If she is lame, or needs support, she may take his arm. But it should not be done unless necessary.
3. It depends on how well you know the young man. It's usually better to let the call come from him, however.
4. There's no reason why you should not ask a young man to dinner and to go to church with you, if you want to.
5. Let them be vexed. Don't kiss them.

6. Bashful people are apt to be shy in any case. It is probably not your fault.
7. Talking when dancing is a matter to decide for one's self. It's usually more pleasant to dance without conversation, as the steps can be better followed in that way.

'2 Respectable New Yorkers' Answer
Dear Cynthia—Just a few lines in answer to E. O., whose lines appeared in last Saturday's paper.
It's plain to be seen she has still one foot in the cradle by her excited line, and why, little one, get that way over such a small matter?
And as for "where" do we get the license to sign respectable, why we "always" had that, and we didn't have to go to the City Hall to get it, either; and by the looks of some of the Philadelphia or Market street, why, they should be labeled.
Also our friends have "more" respect for us than for some of these girls who, by the way, wouldn't do such things, but all we say is "just give them a chance."
A word to Cynthia. We didn't state that we kissed boys good-night as a reward for talking us out, besides, we keep company with "only" one.
Hoping E. O. has come to after her excitement, we still remain, and "are,"
"TWO RESPECTABLE NEW YORKERS."

Sorry, girls, but your letter gave the impression that you kissed any of the boys who asked you. Why should any one object to your kissing the "only" one, if you are engaged to him? Are you both kissing the same one? It seems a strange statement. "We keep company with 'only' one." Cynthia hopes you are not "keeping company" but are engaged to be married. Keeping company is very dom if over a good plan.

When a woman does not take into consideration her husband's interests, and thinks only of her own, she is a marriage trifier. Barbara Knight was one. She had always been spoiled. In her father's house she had done as she pleased, and she expected to do the same of her husband's. But she did not care for the shallowness of society; she wanted friends, real friends, and Katherine, her present secretary, an unusual girl and a college woman, unconsciously offered her the friendship she wanted. Of her, Barbara Knight had heard when she was with Katherine, for she allowed him to be himself.

old and hard as a woman of the world. Where on earth did she get these ideas? Mrs. Knight smiled indulgently. "What Barbara has done is to tell me that she is not a trifier, but a trifier. I don't like to tell champagne whenever she's out, and—Mrs. Knight's tone was shocked. "Keith and I have seen her, and then she fits dreadfully, and not with boys her own age, but with men like that, unspeakable Mr. Randall!"

(Tomorrow—Eleanor flings the gauntlet)

Please Tell Me What to Do
By CYNTHIA

What Attracts Boys First?
Dear Cynthia—Just a certain question that I would like to ask you. May be you or some of the readers can tell me.

What is it that attracts a boy's attention first when he meets a girl?
KITTY.
A general answer to your question can be given. For it depends on the boy and what qualities in a girl attract him. One characteristic might attract one and another another.

She Can't Drop Him
Dear Cynthia—You seem to have given good advice to many people who write to your column, so I am going to ask for some of it now.
I have a good many boy friends, but there is one I especially like. About four years ago he ceased to speak to me. I do not know why. What could I do? I am afraid to go to him and ask the reason, for he may turn me down in front of my friends. He even shuns me when I am in the same crowd with him. I cannot drop him, Cynthia, dear, no matter how I try.

Why?
If this boy is so rude to you, you are very foolish to bother with him. You can occupy yourself with other friends if you so desire. If you are a man who for a whim stops speaking to a girl and humiliates her before others it is not worth fretting over.

She Asks Questions
Dear Cynthia—When out with a young man whom you do not know very well, what is the proper food to order, after a show or dance? Is it all right to ask him to order for you?
2. Is it perfectly proper to have a young man take your arm if the streets are not slippery?
3. Is it considered good form to call a young man on the phone? I don't mean to make a practice of it, but just once in a while, when you're lonesome?
4. Would it be considered "Etiquette" to be too greatly shocked if on Sunday morning one would call up a friend and invite him to spend the afternoon, take supper with you, and then escort you to church? I ask this because often on a Sunday or holiday, I would like to have company, but I have never gotten up enough nerve to invite him, and he, I know, is very bashful.
5. So many of the young men that ask me out grow sentimental and become greatly vexed because I refuse to kiss them or hold hands with them when they are so inclined. Why?

6. There is one young man I know who is bashful and backward. I do think that I am the cause? When dancing with a young man I talk very little. I believe in letting them talk. Is that proper?
"PUZZLED."

1. Let him do the ordering. A salad and ice are nice.
2. It is not good form for a young man to take a girl's arm in any case. If she is lame, or needs support, she may take his arm. But it should not be done unless necessary.
3. It depends on how well you know the young man. It's usually better to let the call come from him, however.
4. There's no reason why you should not ask a young man to dinner and to go to church with you, if you want to.
5. Let them be vexed. Don't kiss them.

6. Bashful people are apt to be shy in any case. It is probably not your fault.
7. Talking when dancing is a matter to decide for one's self. It's usually more pleasant to dance without conversation, as the steps can be better followed in that way.

'2 Respectable New Yorkers' Answer
Dear Cynthia—Just a few lines in answer to E. O., whose lines appeared in last Saturday's paper.
It's plain to be seen she has still one foot in the cradle by her excited line, and why, little one, get that way over such a small matter?
And as for "where" do we get the license to sign respectable, why we "always" had that, and we didn't have to go to the City Hall to get it, either; and by the looks of some of the Philadelphia or Market street, why, they should be labeled.
Also our friends have "more" respect for us than for some of these girls who, by the way, wouldn't do such things, but all we say is "just give them a chance."
A word to Cynthia. We didn't state that we kissed boys good-night as a reward for talking us out, besides, we keep company with "only" one.
Hoping E. O. has come to after her excitement, we still remain, and "are,"
"TWO RESPECTABLE NEW YORKERS."

Sorry, girls, but your letter gave the impression that you kissed any of the boys who asked you. Why should any one object to your kissing the "only" one, if you are engaged to him? Are you both kissing the same one? It seems a strange statement. "We keep company with 'only' one." Cynthia hopes you are not "keeping company" but are engaged to be married. Keeping company is very dom if over a good plan.

Dear Cynthia—You seem to have given good advice to many people who write to your column, so I am going to ask for some of it now.
I have a good many boy friends, but there is one I especially like. About four years ago he ceased to speak to me. I do not know why. What could I do? I am afraid to go to him and ask the reason, for he may turn me down in front of my friends. He even shuns me when I am in the same crowd with him. I cannot drop him, Cynthia, dear, no matter how I try.

Why?
If this boy is so rude to you, you are very foolish to bother with him. You can occupy yourself with other friends if you so desire. If you are a man who for a whim stops speaking to a girl and humiliates her before others it is not worth fretting over.

She Asks Questions
Dear Cynthia—When out with a young man whom you do not know very well, what is the proper food to order, after a show or dance? Is it all right to ask him to order for you?
2. Is it perfectly proper to have a young man take your arm if the streets are not slippery?
3. Is it considered good form to call a young man on the phone? I don't mean to make a practice of it, but just once in a while, when you're lonesome?
4. Would it be considered "Etiquette" to be too greatly shocked if on Sunday morning one would call up a friend and invite him to spend the afternoon, take supper with you, and then escort you to church? I ask this because often on a Sunday or holiday, I would like to have company, but I have never gotten up enough nerve to invite him, and he, I know, is very bashful.
5. So many of the young men that ask me out grow sentimental and become greatly vexed because I refuse to kiss them or hold hands with them when they are so inclined. Why?

6. There is one young man I know who is bashful and backward. I do think that I am the cause? When dancing with a young man I talk very little. I believe in letting them talk. Is that proper?
"PUZZLED."

1. Let him do the ordering. A salad and ice are nice.
2. It is not good form for a young man to take a girl's arm in any case. If she is lame, or needs support, she may take his arm. But it should not be done unless necessary.
3. It depends on how well you know the young man. It's usually better to let the call come from him, however.
4. There's no reason why you should not ask a young man to dinner and to go to church with you, if you want to.
5. Let them be vexed. Don't kiss them.

6. Bashful people are apt to be shy in any case. It is probably not your fault.
7. Talking when dancing is a matter to decide for one's self. It's usually more pleasant to dance without conversation, as the steps can be better followed in that way.

WANAMAKER'S DOWN STAIRS STORE WANAMAKER'S

Wanamaker's Down Stairs Store

Just 3 more days of the 20 per cent deduction privilege

1000 Fresh, New Blouses Special at $1.85

(With 20 per cent to be deducted)
There are any number of styles, for these are samples. Of soft white novelty voiles, plain voile or white batiste, some are trimmed with color. There are short sleeves and long sleeves, round necks, square necks, flat collars and roll collars and many of the popular kimono style. Some are quite lacy and frilly, others rather simply trimmed.

New Voiles, 38c a Yard

(Less the 20 per cent deduction)
Summery, cool-looking voiles are these in the small gingham checks (pink, blue or lavender), in large foulard designs and in small challis or flower patterns. The voile itself is fine and the colors and designs are pretty and varied enough to suit almost every fancy. 36 and 38 inches wide.

New Surf Satin Skirts, $5

(Less 20 per cent)
Half a dozen pretty models are made of this gleaming white material. They have a variety of pockets and belts and nearly all are trimmed with big pearl buttons. The 20 per cent deduction takes a dollar from the price.

One Style at $3.50
It is of white surf satin, too, and has slanting pockets with button-trimmed tabs.

Silk-and-Cotton Poplin Skirts, $8.50
In white, light blue or rambler pink, these skirts are gathered and bordered above the hem with satin stripes of varying sizes.

Pleated Galatea Skirts, $3.50
Another shipment of this most successful model. It is knife pleated and has a tab belt, trimmed with buttons. In sizes for women and young women.

Extra-Size Gabardine Skirts, $3
A plain white skirt, with button-trimmed pockets, is in 32 to 38 inch waistbands.

Silk Undergarments at Unusually Low Prices

Envelope Chemises, $3.50
Nightgowns, $5.50 and $7.50
Bloomers, $2.65 and $3.85
Camisoles, $1.25
from which 20 per cent will be deducted at the time of purchase.

They are all made of soft pink silks (crepe de chine and satin) trimmed with fine Valenciennes laces, pretty ribbons, Georgette crepe, etc.

There are five styles of pink chemises; two styles of satin bloomers and two of crepe de chine; two dainty styles of nightgowns and half a dozen or more of camisoles. Most of the camisoles and chemises have ribbon shoulder straps, and some are finished with wee rosebuds.

Cool, Summer Corsets of Nets, Batistes, Coutils and Broches

$2, $2.50, $3, $3.50 and $4.50
(Less the 20 per cent deduction)
Just about every sort of corset is included—from the light topless model for slight figures to the heavily boned corset for the stout figure—and the 20 per cent deduction means quite a saving.

Bandeaux at 50c, 75c and 85c
Light-weight pink bandeaux with tape shoulder straps fasten in back with elastic. There are various models.
Brassieres of firm white batiste or lincene are $1.

Girls' Lacy White Frocks Are Special at $4.60, $5.40 and $7.80

Airy, fairy frocks of white voile and white lawn frilly with lace and gay with pink, blue or white ribbon sashes. Some are made with lacy little bolero fronts, many of the skirts are tucked and edged with lace. And all are as fresh and white as you please. There must be a dozen different styles, and they will fit little girls of six to sixteen years.

The 20 per cent deduction brings each price even lower.

Hundreds of Fresh Summer Dresses to Start July

Scores and scores of pretty styles developed in the cool and airy materials of Summer-time—what a wealth of choice there is! Gingham for morning, voiles for all day long and organdies for Summer evenings. Many of the dresses are marked at special prices, and 20 per cent will be taken from their prices at the time of purchase.

Gingham Frocks, $5.50, $6 and $6.50
(Less 20 per cent)
Here are club checks and multicolor plaids in pinks and blue, green, tans and black-and-white combinations. The gingham dress at $5.50, which is sketched, has a Peter Pan collar and a black silk tie; it can be had in pink or blue checks.

Voile Dresses, $5 to $13.50
(Less 20 per cent)
The $5 dresses are in printed patterns in Copenhagen, navy, tan and green with plain white collars.

Polka-dotted voiles in navy-and-white, black-and-white and Copenhagen-and-white are $7.50 and $10.75.
Plain navy blue voiles with white net collars and vestees and satin sashes are $11.25.
Figured voile dresses in dark Georgette patterns are in soft shades of rose, purple and blue and are trimmed about the overskirt and bodice with upturned box-pleated frills of organdie. $12.75.

A lovely voile frock with a pleated skirt and a bodice which turns into a sash in the back has criss-cross squares of rose or sky blue scattered over it. $13.50. (Sketched.)
Dotted Voile Dresses, $10
(Less 20 per cent.)
Cool dresses of a soft, dull blue or lavender with woven dots of white are made with white organdie collars, cuffs and sashes, edged with ricrac braid. Quite unusual frocks, one of which is sketched.

Printed Georgette Dresses, $15
(Less 20 per cent.)
A great variety of colorings and patterns for your choosing among these frocks. The skirts are carried in at the feet and the dresses are made over silk foundations.

Embroidered Organdie Frocks, $25
(Less 20 per cent.)
These are all in light blue with elaborate patterns in eyelet embroidery worked in the overskirt and bodice. Around the waist is a narrow sash of two-tone satin ribbon, blue on one side and pink on the other.

Navy Blue Taffeta Frocks, $25
(Less 20 per cent.)
Though made in two ways, these frocks are equally charming. One has a frilled apron skirt; the other, which is sketched, has cream-color organdie edging the cuffs, collar, sash and each of the five ruffles down the sides of the skirt.

Ruffled Voile Flouncing $1.75 a Yard
(Less 20 per cent.)
It is a good quality, 40 inches wide, in light or Copenhagen blue, tan, rose, flesh-pink, white and orchid.

Tiny Girls' Vacation Frocks $2.25 to $4
(Less the 20 per cent deduction)
Easily laundered dresses of gingham or chambray are in blue, tan, pink or green. Some of them are trimmed with white collars and cuffs or piping, others with plaid gingham and still others with hand-embroidery. Sizes 2 to 6 years.

That July May Borrow Coolness From White Footwear
(All prices are subject to the 20 per cent deduction)
Special at $5.90
Women's white canvas slippers are in plain pump style or are imitation ties. The soles are turned and the heels are high or baby French.

White Canvas Oxfords and Pumps
The pumps, with turned soles and Cuban heels, are $5.25 a pair.
The Oxfords, also with turned soles and Cuban heels, are $6 a pair.

White Leather Low Shoes
Oxfords and pumps of white leather that greatly resembles buckskin have imitation wing or straight tips and attractive perforations. The soles are welted and the heels are medium. $8 to $9.90 a pair.

Children's Cool White Footwear
Sizes $1/2 to 2
At $2.50 and $3 a pair—according to size—there are white canvas ankle-strap pumps.
At $4 and $4.50 a pair—white leather Oxford ties are on comfortable toe shapes.
Special at $2.45—two-strap slippers are of white leather like buckskin.

A Fine Lot of Wash Suits for 600 Little Boys $3.75
(Less 20 per cent.)
Button-on Suits Junior Norfolk Dombey Suits Middy Suits
Sizes 2 1/2 to 10 Years
Wonderfully good little suits, every one. They are of sturdy, long-wearing materials, carefully tailored and strongly stitched. Of chambray, galatea, cotton poplin and a great variety of cotton suitings in pink, green, tan, brown, all-white and many shades of blue, from sky to deep navy. Many are in combination style with colored trousers and tan waists. Quite a few are in regulation style, adorned with braid and emblems. Among the smaller sizes are short sleeves, too.
Every suit is fresh and new and is marked much less than its regular price—and there is the further deduction of 20 per cent at the time of purchase.

Kayser & Allman
1522 CHESTNUT ST.

ANNOUNCE
A REMARKABLE SALE OF Genuine French Willow Furniture
at 25% Off
The Tag Price

This is the best willow furniture made, designed for discriminating people who appreciate the artistic and the durable. It is equally appropriate for summer or winter, exterior or interior. Beautifully enameled and upholstered to order, to accord with your particular decorating scheme.

FURNITURE ILLUSTRATED
In the Natural and Unupholstered

Armchairs	$25.00 less 25%	Settee—74" long	$75.00 less 25%
Hour-Glass Tiffin Stand	12.00 less 25%	Table, 27x21"	16.50 less 25%
Serving Tray	13.50 less 25%	Fernery	23.00 less 25%

ORIGINAL PRICES 20 TO 30% BELOW AVERAGE

Paperhanging, Painting, Furniture, Draperies, Lamps and Shades, Art Objects. Complete Interior Furnishings.

WE KNOW HOW SINCE 1871

'SALADA' Orange Pekoe
is served when the debutante makes her bow to society. It's the tea men like. It's the tea served in homes where the afternoon tea-hour is the pleasantest of the day. It's the tea that once tried is always used. The song of the teakettle is fast becoming a National air-fittingly accompanied by—

'SALADA' TEA

White Canvas Oxfords and Pumps
The pumps, with turned soles and Cuban heels, are $5.25 a pair.
The Oxfords, also with turned soles and Cuban heels, are $6 a pair.

White Leather Low Shoes
Oxfords and pumps of white leather that greatly resembles buckskin have imitation wing or straight tips and attractive perforations. The soles are welted and the heels are medium. $8 to $9.90 a pair.

Children's Cool White Footwear
Sizes $1/2 to 2
At $2.50 and $3 a pair—according to size—there are white canvas ankle-strap pumps.
At $4 and $4.50 a pair—white leather Oxford ties are on comfortable toe shapes.
Special at $2.45—two-strap slippers are of white leather like buckskin.