EVENING PUBLIC LEDGER-PHILADELPHIA, THURSDAY, JULY 1, 1920

Nancy Wynne Tells of the Two Coxe Parties, One July 3 and the Other July 5-She Hears of a Plan to Mother the Sick at the Philadelphia Hospital

BECAUSE so many people seem to marties around the Fourth of July, per-haps if 1 straighten you out on it it would not be a bad idea. You see every pear the Henry Brinton Coxes have open house on the evening of the Fourth of July, at their place in Penllyn, and all their friends are expected to attend, but so invitations are issued.

July, at their place in Penllyn, and all their friends are expected to attend, but no invitations are issued. This year the Fourth of July coming of a Sunday, some of said friends be-came puzzled and wondered if they would have it. Then out came the Charles E. Coxes invitations for a dance on Saturday night, July 3, for Jane Oxe, who is to come out next year. And straightaway every one got terrifi-cally mixed. There was really no rea-son why they should be mixed, but they were, and so for those interested let me say that on Saturday. July 3, the say that on Saturday. July 3, the Garles E. Coxes, of Malvern, will give a dance, for which invitations have been lesued in homor of their daughter, Jane Gordon Coxe, who is a debutante of the meason 1920-1921.

Gordon Coze, who is a debutance of the season 1920-1921. On Monday, July 5, the day on which the nation will celebrate the independ-ence of America. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Brinton Coxe and their daughter, Cath-erine Coxe, will be at home informally in the evening after 9 o'clock, at their home, Haffod, in Penllyn, and will be delighted to receive their friends on that operation, as has been their custom for a occasion, as has been their custom for a number of years. So you see there are two Coxe par-ties, and neither one will interfere with the other, and you will have Sunday to rest up between festivities. Mr. Henry Brinton Coxe and Mr. Charles E. Coxe are brothers, you know, and Jane and Catherine are consequely first cousins. Cetherine came out last year, while Catherine came out last year, while Jane has this winter's gayety ahead of er, from the debutante standpoint.

CPEAKING of Independence Day D makes me think of the Independence. D makes me think of the Independence. Square Red Cross which during the war and until last May, when all Red Cross auxiliaries were closed, was at 608 Chestnut street. You know the women in that auxiliary have formed a per-manent committee, which may be called upon at any time if the need arises. I begin the other day that the mem-I heard the other day that the mem bers of the Independence Square auxil-iary have been asked to join a group of "mothers" to take up a bit of home work this summer. It is this: That each individual will undertake to "mother" some one patient in the Philadelphia Hospital, who has no fam-ily or friends. And while away during the summer these "mothers" are to send postcards to said patient, or a little letter, or a souvenir, or book or little gift of some description. I think it's a splendid idea, for it must be so sad and hard to be for months and bers of the Independence Square auxiland hard to be for months and months in a hospital with very little to cheer one up. What an interest it will be for these sick people to have in their lves! It's a fine thing. The women's advisory council of the Department of Public Health has usked a number of associations to take up this work. Quite a number of the troops of the Girl Scouts of this city have adopted a child from the hospital. and are sending him or her little toys. ooks, letters and postcards from tim

As the appeal to the former Red Cross workers say: "It is not at all a question of money that is wanted, but just, a little personal thought and, if on are near, a visit or reading out loud hat will help to brighten the days for some one." A name, of course, is fur-nished to the person who writes and asks to be allowed to mother some poor and person in the hospital. Mrs. George Lorimer, who is chairman of the Inde-Lorimer, who is chairman of the Inde-pendence Square Red Cross, sent out an appeal to the workers this week.
