PREDICTS 10-CENT FARE IF TRANSFER CHARGE IS DENIED

P. R. T. Official Tells Public Service Board Costs Are Exceeding Receipts

PUBLIC HEARING BEGUN ON CAR TARIFF BOOST

City to Present Arguments at Probe of Entire Transit Situation Here

A ten-cent trolley fare will be necessary in this city unless quick relief is afforded by the Mitten "no free transfer" plan, the Rapid Transit Co. asserted here today before the Public Service Commission.

This flat statement came on the heels of testimony that expenses have grown in greater ratio than receipts. The forecast of a ten-cent fare was made by Willis C. Dunbar, vice president in charge of finance and accounting of the transit company.

Mr. Dunbar was the first witness at the opening of a series of public hearings on the complaint made by the city against proposed fare increases. The entire membership of the Public Service Commission, except John S. Rilling, was present to hear testimony and arguments.

Today's session ended abruptly at 3:30 o'clock, when, after two of the company's witnesses had testified, counsel for the company announced he had no more witnesses. The chairman then commented briefly on the situation, which, he said, was "not to the liking of the commission," and adjourned the hearing until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The hearing, which began at 10:45 o'clock in the State Supreme Court chamber on the fourth floor of City Hall, started an investigation of the transit situation in this city.

$3,000,000 More Yearly Needed. The city objects to a proposed abolition of all free transfers, the elimination of three-cent exchange tickets from the central delivery district and the elimination of children by height rather than by age rule.

The increased tariff, estimated to total $3,000,000 additional a year, was to become effective July 1. At the suggestion of the Public Service Commission, the company postponed the tariff until the commission rules on the various questions raised.

Chairman Ainey opened the proceedings by summarizing the complaint, aimed at a proposed abolition of all free transfers and the elimination of the three-cent exchange tickets in the central delivery section.

"This case is of unusual importance," commented Mr. Ainey. "The commission, in executive session, expressed a desire that the full commission sit on the case."

"For the purpose of expediting matters, the testimony submitted in the Cleveland Improvement Association and other cases regarding the rate of fare will be made part of the present record."

Questions pertaining to matters of service involved in the former case will not be included in this case. There are just too many other matters to be considered. One is the increase which the company proposes to put into effect. The other is whether the method of putting the increase into effect is just and equitable."

Mr. Ainey was referring to the city's contention, expressed by City Solicitor Smyth, that the consent of the municipality is necessary before a fare increase is legal. The contract of 1907 between the city and the company is the basis of Mr. Smyth's contention.

Burden of Proof on P. R. T. Mr. Ainey concluded his remarks with a statement that the proceedings would be rushed through to a just conclusion.

"The burden of proof rests on the respondent company to justify the necessity for this increase," the chairman asserted.

Mr. Ainey informed Frederic L. Ballard, of counsel for the company, that the commission was ready to proceed. Mr. Ballard called Mr. Dunbar as the first witness.

The company's financial vice president placed in evidence numerous exhibits bearing on rising costs borne by the company. He said that the Mitten-Storesbury management took charge of the company's gross receipts for 1910 were $19,232,622.01, compared with gross receipts for 1919 of $36,639,519.42, or an increase of about 87 per cent.

On the other hand, Mr. Dunbar asserted, the operating expenses have increased 109 per cent in that period. The cost of operating cars a revenue mile, he stated, has jumped from fourteen cents in 1910 to thirty-two cents at the present time.

Since Thomas E. Mitten became president of the Rapid Transit Company, Mr. Dunbar continued, the company has issued $22,000,000 of obligations. The sum of $4,000,000 has been borrowed by the company, he said, from the Emergency Fleet Corporation and the United States Housing Corporation. Mr. Dunbar pointed to various methods employed by Mr. Mitten to add to the company's gross income. He discussed the proposed increase in fare, the proposed abolition of free transfers, and the proposed elimination of children by height rather than by age rule.

P. R. T. May Try to Recoup in Fare Increase Delay

"The Pittsburgh situation will have to be reproduced here, I am afraid, and the fare raised to ten cents," asserted W. C. Dunbar, a vice president of the P. R. T., testifying before the Public Service Commission.

"The fare will, of course, have to be made large enough to take care of the accumulating deficit," he added, after estimating the company had already lost $250,000 through postponement of its "no free transfer" plan.

It was believed by some Mr. Dunbar's statement foreshadowed an attempt by the company to collect, by means of a higher flat fare, all the company would have received had the new tariff become effective July 1. The company refers to the postponed rates as the "legal" rates of fare.

BRYAN'S HEART LIES IN GRAVE WITH CAUSE

Nebraskan Says Convention Made Mistake—Will Consider Third Party Move

San Francisco, July 6.—(By A. P.)—"My heart is in the grave with our cause and I must pause until it comes back to me," said William J. Bryan today, in giving his reason for not making any extended statement on the work of the Democratic National Convention.

"My views on the convention's action in reference to the endorsement of prohibition are known," said Mr. Bryan. "I do not care to discuss any other movement. I shall use a part of the next four months in considering the question."

"I do not care to say anything about congressional plans, but the question suggests the importance of selecting a Senate and House that will refuse to increase the alcoholic content in permitted beverages or any other weakening of the enforcement law."

When asked if he would have anything to do with the third party movement, or would endorse its candidate, Mr. Bryan replied:

"I do not care to discuss any other movement. I shall use a part of the next four months in considering the question."

"I do not care to say anything about congressional plans, but the question suggests the importance of selecting a Senate and House that will refuse to increase the alcoholic content in permitted beverages or any other weakening of the enforcement law."

SAFES ROBBED AT SHORE

Burglars Obtain More Than $5000 While Thousands Parade Boardwalk

Special Dispatch to Evening Public Ledger. Atlantic City, July 6.—With thousands still parading the Boardwalk, and policemen within 200 feet of their scene of operation, burglars used dynamite to shatter two safes in stores on the Boardwalk near the Traymore shortly after midnight.

Between $5000 and $5000, the proceeds of holiday business, was obtained from a safe in the store of the National Drug Co., 1639 Boardwalk, and a large quantity of postal stamps.

The safe, which stood in the front of the shop full in the glare of several electric lights, had been loaded upon a hand truck and wheeled to the rear of the establishment behind a screen. The invaders left a note for the owners of the store extending thanks for the manner in which they had simplified the robbery by placing stamps in another box with the stamps in the safe.

A safe in the store of Hayash & Co., Japanese goods dealers, three doors away, also was blown open, and the thieves are said to have obtained more than $1000.

A new clerk recently employed in the drug shop is being detained by the police.

CALL NEW STRIKE VOTE

Stevadores Will Decide Whether to Return to Work at Old Wages

Stevadores who have been striking for five weeks will take another vote this evening on returning to work. Four thousand voted to resume their jobs at a meeting yesterday, and were to do so reported this morning. Their leaders are said to have appealed to them to vote for another conference between the boss stevedores and the delegates, which was agreed to. The conference was held today, without agreement other than that there should be another vote taken.

The boss stevedores say most of the men are anxious to return, and many wanted to start this morning. Individuals who applied for work were advised to wait until tomorrow. At that time, no matter what the vote at this evening's meeting, the bosses will accept all who apply for work.

The basis of return agreed to yesterday was the old rate of 80 cents an hour with $1.20 for overtime and $1.60 for Sundays and holidays. In the five weeks of strike five persons were killed, 200 injured, the strikers lost $1,000, 000 in wages and the shippers $50,000, 000 in demurrage and other losses.

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL. Those lowly A's of ours finally won another ball game. After losing the first portion of today's double-header to the Red Sox, 11-0, which made nine defeats in a row, the Mackmen came back and socked the Hub aggregation, 5-1, in the night-cap.

Tilly Walker, Jimmy Dykes and Welch were responsible for the A's counters. Walker made his wallop in the first inning. Dykes came in the fourth and Welch knocked out his wallop, with a pal on, in the eighth. The Sox's only tally came in the fifth on Foster's two-bagger and Walters's single.

Hollie Naylor burlled a swell game, keeping the opposition's hits well scattered. A lightning double play saved the A's in the first round. With one out, on bases filled and McInnis at bat, Stuffy rolled an easy one straight at second.

GOV. COX ACCEPTS; THANKS DELEGATES

Will Carry Standard of Democracy to Homes That Have Given Sacrifice

FELICITATED BY HARDING. Sketch of Governor Cox's career will be found on Page 17.

By the Associated Press. Dayton, O., July 6.—Governor James M. Cox today sent a telegram to the Democratic National Convention at San Francisco announcing he would accept the presidential nomination and thanking the delegates for their action.

Following is the text of the telegram: Hon. Joseph T. Robinson, chairman, Democratic Convention, San Francisco, Calif.

Let me thank you for your felicitous message. I shall accept the standard from the democracy of America, conscious not only of the honor but of the great responsibility conferred. As Providence gives me a strength and vision my firm resolve will be to justify the confidence which has been officially expressed. The throne of government is in the communities of the land near to the homes that have given service and sacrifice. To them we will carry our cause with the assurance that the faith shall be kept and that the instincts of a free people are always sufficient to the needs of time, if they are held to the causes which we pledged.

Please convey to the delegates of the convention my grateful acknowledgments. (Signed) JAMES M. COX.

Replies to Harding's Greeting. Governor Cox also sent a reply to the greetings received earlier in the day from Senator Harding, the Republican presidential nominee. His telegram to Senator Harding read:

"I accept your message as an evidence of the fraternal impulse which has always characterized the craft to which you and I belong. I heartily reciprocate the felicitous spirit which you have expressed."

The Democratic nominee sent this message to President Wilson in reply to a message from him. Continued on Page Seventeen, Column Six.

PRESIDENT GIVEN SLAP IN NAMING OF GOVERNOR COX

State Bosses "Come Back" at Convention and Put Their Candidate Across

MURPHY AND TAGGART GET IN SADDLE AGAIN

Palmer's Withdrawal, After Seeing Sure Defeat, Leads to Ohioan's Winning

By CLINTON W. GILBERT (Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger Co.) San Francisco, July 6.—The nomination of Governor Cox by the Democratic National Convention today was a victory for state bosses.

He was their candidate. Murphy, Taggart, Brennan, Lynch, Walsh, of Massachusetts, and the other state bosses furnished him with the nucleus out of which his two-thirds majority was finally cornered. They gave him throughout the votes of the big President-making states. These votes put him into the lead early in the race and he was only headed by McAdoo for a short time yesterday afternoon.

Get Back at President. The state bosses, especially Murphy, of New York, "carried on" to victory. The men who were beaten at Baltimore and ignored by the Wilson administration prevented the nomination of a member of the administration which had ignored them.

They have a candidate of their own choice and to their own liking. They have come back. They do not control the party. They did not control the convention. But they have probably won their way to some of the power they once had. In a way the Cox nomination resembles the Harding nomination. It marks a return to party government. If Cox is elected, the Democratic state machines will be recognized by the White House.

The McAdoo nomination would have meant a continuance of the Wilson policy of ignoring the state machines. It was this and his record of ignoring the state machines which caused McAdoo's "defeat."

In a limited sense, the Cox nomination was an anti-administration victory. This was true, though the White House carefully refrained from influencing the convention.

Wilson's Voice Not Heard. At no time except with regard to platform was there any sign that the President turned over his hand to influence the convention or the selection of a candidate here in San Francisco. Every one listened here for the voice of the White House, but it was not heard.

Nevertheless, all the elements opposed to Wilson control of the party were behind the Cox candidacy. And with one or two exceptions, until the movement developed which led to Cox's nomination, none of the administration forces was supporting Cox. It was an administration-anti-administration lineup, with the White House scrupulously avoiding giving aid to its friends, and in the end the anti-administration forces won.

Winner Showed Wet Strength. Various factors contributed to Cox's success besides the aid of the state bosses. Cox is a wet, and in a great many localities the nomination of a wet was decided as likely to contribute to the election of local tickets. Cox had the wet strength.

Cox, moreover, was personally popular with the delegates, more so than McAdoo. Many delegates were glad to vote for him, preferring him personally to any other candidate and believing him at least as likely to win as any other.

Mr. McAdoo's real strength with the delegates was greatly exaggerated. Outside of a noisy officeholding group the ex-secretary of the treasury made little appeal to the imagination of the convention. He was not regarded as strong. And the "Crown Prince" issue steadily weakened him. Had he not published that statement of withdrawal, he would doubtless have been nominated. HARDING CONGRATULATES COX

Columbus, O., July 6.—(By A. P.)—In a congratulatory telegram to Governor Cox received at the governor's office here today from Senator Harding, the Republican nominee, Senator Harding says: "I recall a much rendered cartoon which portrayed you and me as newsboys contesting for the White House delivery. It seems to have been prophetic. As an Ohioan and a fellow-publisher I congratulate you on your notable victory."

EXTRA

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION ENDS; NOMINEES TO BE NOTIFIED

AUDITORIUM, SAN FRANCISCO, July 6.—At 3:29 o'clock (6:29 Philadelphia time) the Democratic National Convention adjourned. Senator Robinson, permanent chairman, was appointed chairman of the committee to notify Governor Cox of his nomination and National Chairman Cummings was chosen chairman of the committee to notify Mr. Roosevelt.

By the Associated Press. Auditorium, San Francisco, July 6.—Franklin D. Roosevelt, of New York, assistant secretary of the navy and relative of the President who bore that name, was chosen by the Democratic National Convention today as its candidate for Vice President and running mate for Governor Cox.

The handglove movement for Roosevelt got under way very quickly soon after the convention assembled and, although other candidates—among them Governor Stewart, of Montana, and Major General L. D. Tyson, of Tennessee—were presented, there was no doubt of Mr. Roosevelt's selection from the first. His nomination was by acclamation.

By the Associated Press. Auditorium, San Francisco, July 6.—James M. Cox, three times governor of Ohio, was nominated for the presidency early this morning by the Democratic National Convention at the breakup of one of the most prolonged deadlocks in the history of national political parties.

It took forty-four ballots to make a choice, and it was not until the thirty-eighth, when Attorney General Palmer withdrew from the race, that the long succession of roll-calls showed any definite trend. In the turnover of the Palmer delegates, Cox gained the advantage over William G. McAdoo, his rival for first place since early in the balloting, and that advantage never was lost.

F. D. Roosevelt for Vice President. With its choice for first place on the ticket made, the convention recessed. It recessed this afternoon to name a candidate for the vice presidency. The vice-presidential nomination started in the direction of Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, and Mr. Roosevelt's friends considered his nomination as assured. The demand for political troubles with the Tammany organization, it finally developed that his nomination would draw no open opposition from that quarter.

Bainbridge Colby, secretary of state, who first declined to have his name used, finally consented to accept the nomination for Vice President if drafted. Victor Murdock, of Kansas, also was being considered by many of the leaders. Much pressure was brought to bear on Secretary Colby before he agreed to accept. The nomination, many leaders said, seemed to be conceded to New York.

Mr. Roosevelt was placed in nomination by Timothy T. Ansberry, former representative in Congress from Ohio, who sat in the convention as a District of Columbia delegate. Mr. Roosevelt's nomination from the District of Columbia instead of New York state was accounted a bit of political strategy which would meet the demands of the western delegates for a candidate not accounted a member of the Tammany forces of New York. Mr. Roosevelt has had his political difficulties with Tammany for several years.

Cheers for Naval Man. Amid cheers Governor Smith, of New York, seconded the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt. Mrs. Elizabeth D. Christian, of the Washington delegation, seconded Mr. Roosevelt's nomination. Texas seconded the nomination of Mr. Roosevelt, also. Vermont did likewise when the state was called. Joseph E. Davis, of Wisconsin, also seconded Mr. Roosevelt's nomination. Governor Samuel O. Stewart, of Montana, took the platform to withdraw his name and seconded the nomination of Secretary Roosevelt.

Despite Mr. Roosevelt's relations with Tammany, it was reported about the convention hall that the organization was ready to "swallow him," as some of the politicians put it. There were continuous conferences while the nominating speech was being made. Judge J. M. Jackson, of Winfield, Kan., and Walter Meyers, of Indianapolis, also seconded Mr. Roosevelt's nomination. The result of conference on the ticket Continued on Page Seventeen, Column Five.
