THE GAME SERVED UP TO FANS BY PHILLIES AND ATHLETICS THESE DAYS HAS A CELLARY FLAVOR

A'S, WINNING, LOOK LIKE ONE MILLION DOLLARS, BUT LOSING, LOOK JUST A TRIFLE CHEAPER

By ROBERT W. MAXWELL Sports Editor Evening Public Ledger

TT MAKES all the difference in the world when a ball club is winning a ball game. Yesterday when the A's suddenly turned on the Red Sox and won the nightcap of the double-decker the home folks looked like a million dollars. Before that time the Boston team looked like two million dollars. Instead of having every appearance or our Athletics, they looked like Cleveland in the midst of a winning streak. Yes, it makes a lot of difference when a ball club wins.

Smarting under the sting of nine straight wallops on the chin, the much mauled Macks got sore or something like that, and believe us, they had their revenge. Rollie Naylor was pitching. Mrs. Rollie Naylor sat in the upper pavillou with her fingers crossed, and no club in world could go up against a combination like that. The digital jinx and the superb flinging of Rollie were unbentable. For further details, see the box score.

Naylor, by the way, has been pitching good ball, but that was all. Eleven straight times he took the long count and balked at making it an even dozen. That's why he called upon the family for assistance.

Everybody has a system in baseball. Counic Mack has been following one and the results were negative. At the beginning of the second game and the boys had washed the whitewash off their clothes, Connic told them to try something else. Too many men had been left on base, he said, when base hits were needed. Therefore it behowed the boys to discontinue socking stingy singles and instead knock the pellet out of shape.

Tilly Walker was first to follow instructions. In the very first chapter be lost the ball in the left field bleachers, and after that he was solid with the sunfish, Then in the fourth Jimmy Dykes shummed one into the same spot, and Jinsuy's social standing improved. Those two homers gave the home-town fulks a lead of 2 to 1 until the eighth, and more new stuff was pulled. Walker walked, which is both alliterative and true

Dykes popped, but not Frank Welsh. 1 should say not. Frank waited until Harry Harper floated one plateward and, after taking a hop, skip and a jump, landed on the ball and sent it OVER the fence in left field. That is the third time in history that a ball has been clouted over the barrier. Rube Oldring did it once, then George Burns did it two years ago, and the record stood

NOW we know the answer for the consistent losing strenks of our A's. They haven't hit

Rommell Makes a Real Showing

TOHERE was one bright snot to the first game, and that was the work of young Ed Rommell, the pitcher, Young Ed took a Brodie in the seventh frame after Roy Moore and Bryan Harris had been sent to the clubhouse to play pinoch'e. Eleven runs and sixteen hits had been compiled during Ed's absence, but he cared nothing for that. He was in no way responsible,

But when Edward step; ed on the mound it was different. He had the boys swinging like the busted gate on the corner groggery and held them runless the remainder of the game. Perhaps the eleven round trips put them on the blink and had them woozy, but anyway, no further damage was done. In the eighth two singles were made after two were down, but all the runners got was some ere tan from staying out in the sun. Ed retired the pext man and that was all, there wasn't any more,

Dick Burrus played first base yesterday and did not do so badly. He still has a lot to learn, but the only way to do that is to stay in the game. The A's lost a lot of games with Griffin on first, so they can't fear the Burrus experiment. Griffin is weak at the plate, but his fielding is wonderful. Burrus is vice versa. However, a clout in time will save many a game, and it won't hurt to keep him on the sack until he gets some experience.

Burrus made it possible to retire Wally Schaug in the second game after perpetrating what is commonly known as a bone-headed foozle. Wally hit the hall toward right field and Dick stopped it. The rupper was approaching the bag and Burrus had the ball in his band. Somebody should be covering the bag, so he threw it, The fact that no one was there made no difference-tl throw was made, anyway

Wally saw the wild heave and started for second. Ralph Perkins, however, was on the job, fielded the peg and Wally was thrown out.

Yanks Clouting Toward Pennant

THE New York Yankees are hitting their way to a L pennant, and yesterday's performance in Washington proves it. They socked the Senators 17 to 0, all but three of the runs coming in one inning. The fourteen runs scored by the Yanks against Wash ington in a single inning looks like a record, and is one, to a certain extent, for nothing like it has been done in

But back in the hazy past, September 6, 1883, to be exact, the Chiengo National League Club made eighteen runs in the seventh inning of a game against Detroit. Weidman and Burns were the Tiger twirlers,

This winning streak now being put on by Huggins's team looks good. It has all the earmarks of a change in luck, for the games are won with several of the stars on the sidelines. Duffy Lewis has a bad leg. Bob Shawkey pulled a muscle in his side, Mogridge has a sprained ankle and now Peckinpaugh has a strained tendon in his leg. Heretofore the Yanks have flopped when the injuries came in bunches like that, but this year it is different. They seem to play better bull when up against it. V.

SOON as Shawkey and Mogridge get back A into the game the pitching will improve, for the hard-worked regulars will get their usual four days' rest. Then will be the fireworks.

Leonard May Have Battle Getting to Weight TT IS reported that Benny Leonard weighed 1371/2 pounds on the morning of his battle with Charley White, and this means he entered the ring weighing more than 140. Benny is getting bigger every day, and the chances are he will find it difficult to get down to the lightweight limit. This was discussed at length in boxing circles yesterday, and it was the consensus of opinion that Lew Tendler, if he trims Willie Jackson decisively on Monday night, should elaim the title.

However, it would be well to wait a little while, Benny has been in the movies for six months, has done little training and if he can get down as low as 1371/2 on short notice he might be able to do better than that,

Yacht-Race Outcome Matter of Speculation WHICH will win the big yacht race, the Resolute or Shamrock IV? The answer is yes. At present speculation in white sailing circles is not of a definite nature. Sir Thomas's bont has its adherents and there are many barnacles on the side of the American craft. Speed is an asset possessed by both and both work well to windward. Resolute has proved that she can carry her rig in a fair blow and Shamrock has not. Shamrock has proved that she can stand the buffeting of a pretty heavy sea, and Resolute has not shown that she is able to stand much of a sea without sustaining more or less damage to her fragile bull.

The skipper of Resolute has shown himself to be clever as well as quick in determining upon a course of action and as fast in carrying it out. The skipper of Shamrock comes to this country with a great reputation' as the premier Corinthian of Great Britain, but nothing that has been seen of his work in this country so far affords any opportunity to judge whether he is as good as our American Corinthian skipper.

Bont for bont, Vanitie was speedier than Resolute in a majority of the races they sailed together, and Nanitie managed to win at times by a good margin in excess of the allowance she had to give Resolute. The old 23-meter Shanrock is "no slouch"-in fact, she is the speediest yacht of her inches that has sailed in British waters, but still the challenger has beaten the older Shamrock by more than a minute a mile in windward legs of courses they have sailed over recently. And there you are.

It happens to be no new law that distance is gained by momentum plus mass.
