Nancy Wynne Talks of Miss Norris's Engagement-Miss Butler's Engagement Is to George Lee Febiger. Miss Frazier to be Introduced

OF course very few of us were in the least surprised to hear that Dorothy Norris would marry a foreigner. because somehow no one ever thought of cause somehow no one ever thought of the lived in Paris so many years and the lived in Paris so many years and was so used to the foreign way of the living that she would naturally be more congouisl with one from the other side. Her flance is a Rumanian and is at the flance is a Rumanian an

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred E. Norris and a niece of Mr. Pinckney Norris of this city. Mrs. Norris and Dorothy have been living in New York for the last three years. Dorothy is artistic and has become solts famous as an amateur actress and Dorothy is artistic and has become quite famous as an amateur actress and danseuse. Her costumes hale been the wonder and admiration of all beholders in the various affairs in which she has appeared. I shall never forget her in this week from a ten days' cruise on their houseboat to their apartments at Seventeenth and Walnut streets.

T SAW Mrs. Andrew Wright Crawford satin back and front, laced across the hips with blue silk fancy braid. The shoulders and sleeves of the bodice were of georgette and the side draperies of the skirt were of the same material. Around her neck she wore a chain of dark blue links finished with a large bead pendant. Her hat was a small toque of henna straw faced with small dark blue pointed breasts. She wore brown pumps and dark blue stockings.

FOR the newest in sports togs," said a Philadelphia woman, "I always come to Spalding's." They were looking at a bathing cape, an awning-striped affair of blue and white, bound with bright orange-colored tape. It was really a most practical cape for wear on the beach. No wonder, I thought, that she decided she must own it before another day passed. The next thing that pleased their fancy was an attractive little sports hat of quilted taffeta.
