

BARKING "PIGS" NEVER BITE—SO JACKSON AND TENDLER REFUSE TO PREDICT A KNOCKOUT

TENDLER AND JACKSON SET FOR MIX TONIGHT

Hundreds of Visitors Here for Eight-Round Lightweight Bout at Phillies' Park

ROCAP WILL REFEREE

Facts About Big Bout On Schedule Tonight

PRINCIPALS—Law Tendler, of Philadelphia, and Willie Jackson, of New York...

By LOUIS H. JAFFE HUNDREDS of fight fans from out of town are here today to be among the 25,000 more or less expected to answer rollcall at the Phillies' ball yard tonight...

Both Tendler and Jackson are resting unweary, as it were. The latter fought his last night, twenty-four hours before bout time...

Tendler remained at his home in Hoga street, 35 pounds, ringer and trichloro for the opening bout. Neither will weigh more than 133 pounds.

Tonight's meeting will mark the fourth experience Jackson and Tendler will have had in the same ring. They have fought each other in Philadelphia this city three years ago in a six-round bout...

It was that Shibe Park affair that really caused fans throughout the country to manifest so much interest in tonight's contest.

It appears to be a matter of opinion as to whether or not Tendler would have regained his unsteady limbs the second time he was felled had it not been for the sprinkle rained on him by his handlers.

On the morning after that dizzy night, it having been more dizzy for Jackson than for Tendler before the fight, he was back in the ring for a return match.

Rains entered the spotlight with a flat guarantee of $10,000 to Jackson and a privilege of 35 per cent and the same percentage to Tendler.

"I'll be riding around in an auto tomorrow morning," said Glassman today, "and you can bet your boots I will do that little thing—knock Jackson kicking as sure as guns along about the eighth or seventh round."

SCRAPS ABOUT SCRAPPERS

ARTIE ROOT, Cleveland featherweight, now is participating in the greatest battle of his career...

Bobby Burman is suffering from a sprained hand suffered in his bout with Young Carter...

Phil Lewis is managing four boxers. They are Marty Collins, bantam; Ralph Brock, lightweight; Tommie Moran, middleweight; and Jimmy (Butch) O'Hagen, middleweight.

Neither Tendler Nor Jackson Predicts K. O.

Willie Jackson—"I am in wonderful shape—the best condition I have ever been in for any ring battle. I am going to try my best. I still believe that I was robbed of a knockout in my bout with Tendler last year. May the best man win tonight."

Law Tendler—"Am ready for the bell, and Jackson may expect an avalanche of punches. I am going to try my hardest for a knockout, and have a brand new auto picked out for my manager, Phil Glassman, if I succeed. This is one bout that I would like to win by a knockout."

Among the hundreds of visiting fans are those from Brooklyn, New York, Jersey City, Newark, Trenton, Baltimore, Chicago, Detroit, Milwaukee and burghs from up state, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland.

One party of fans from Milwaukee, where Tendler and Jackson are favorites, because of their sensational bouts with the Mitchell brothers there, is here with large rolls of the currency that makes the mare go.

Two Milwaukee newspaper men here this morning offered to bet $8000 to $5000 this morning that Tendler would win, and $1000 to $500 that he would lose.

Another star lightweight who will look 'em over at the ringside is Johnny Dundee, who will leave directly after the contest for Boston, where he is to box twelve rounds tomorrow night.

Three preliminary numbers will be put on before the scheduled eight-round match between Tendler and Jackson is started.

For the first time in the history of boxing in this city mounted police—a squad of them—will be on duty on the field at the Phillies' park.

NEW TORRESDALE GOLF LINKS PRAISED BY LOCAL PLAYERS

Less Than Year Old, Course Has Natural Beauty and Championship Promise—Platt-Reynolds Win Match.

Other Links Data

SOMETIMES you read in golf history of a new champion springing up "overnight" and showing the way before the veterans had always gone before.

On Saturday about ten of the best home-bred amateurs of the city played the course. Here is what they had to say:

W. W. Platt, city champion—"I am amazed in a couple years Torresdale will be ripe for a national championship. To my mind it is one of the prettiest pieces of golf architecture in the city."

Patrick Grant, ex-state champion—"Of course there is better turf in the city than on any other holes at Torresdale, but no golf is there and already I think Torresdale ranks as a real top-notch."

George Hoffner, ex-city champion—"Torresdale is a beautiful course, an auspicious start, when the course is finished there won't be a bad hole in the lay-out and I don't think it can be better in the city."

Walter Reynolds, Geist Cup winner—"I have no hesitancy in saying that Torresdale has the best prospects of any course in the city. The natural charm of the layout takes my eye and the golf shots required. The bunk nine particularly are well-nigh perfect."

Edward Styles, marathon champion—"I have no hesitancy in saying that Torresdale has the best prospects of any course in the city. The natural charm of the layout takes my eye and the golf shots required. The bunk nine particularly are well-nigh perfect."

BRITISH TO MEET U. S. IN DAVIS CUP TENNIS

Parke and Kingscote Expected to Star Against Americans This Week

By SPICK HALL THE United States Davis Cup team has still a series of hard matches to get away with before they make their plans to sail for Australia next winter to compete for the famous international lawn tennis trophy.

In spite of the fact that Tilden won the world's championship at Wimbledon from one of the greatest fields that ever competed and that Garland and Heah, two of Australia's leading stars, members of the British Davis Cup team indicates that they are going to give the Americans more trouble this week than they have yet encountered.

Although Gobert and Laurentz, the French players, were put out of the running for the Davis Cup with more or less ease by the Americans, this was not unexpected. But Great Britain's representatives will not be so easy—far from it.

British Veterans All of the British players are international veterans at the game and have had far wider tournament experience as a team than the Americans. Parke is considered the strongest member of the team because of his recent victory over Billy Johnston and his fine showing against Bill Tilden in the Wimbledon tournament.

Many Stars in Lawn Tennis Tournament at Germantown Cricket Club

Although rain threatened every minute, play began this afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Middle States lawn tennis tournament on the turf courts of the Germantown Cricket Club, Manheim.

Parke entered the service as soon as Great Britain became involved in the war. He fought for four years and was discharged with the rank of major.

Defeated French Stars Although as much a veteran as any of the Americans, Kingscote is a far younger man than Parke. He sprang into lawn tennis prominence some years ago in the British colonies, but only last year did he spring into the real international limelight.

In the challenge round in Australia, Kingscote took his opening match from J. O. Anderson, but lost to Gerald Patterson, ex-world's champion, Kingscote and A. E. Bevanish played in the doubles against Patterson and Brooks, but were beat.

Twelve years ago, that is in 1908, Ritchie, paired with Anthony F. Wilding, won the British doubles championship, and the Roper Barry defeated Dodd and Aiken in the doubles, but was beat in the challenge round by A. W. Gore. Ritchie and

J. C. PARKE Veteran British lawn tennis player, who meets Americans in semifinal matches for Davis cup in Great Britain this week.

Wilding again teamed up in 1910, and won the British doubles. Mavrogordato was a ninth-hour choice for this year's British team.

He was a member of the British Davis Cup team in 1914. He defeated his two Belgian opponents, P. B. Hornman and A. G. Watson in the preliminaries and also M. Germot and M. Decugis of France, but he did not take part in the singles finals.
