IOHNSON'S TEAM UP

Paired in Doubles Together Next Week

By SPICK HALL LAWN tennis team of Johnsons has entered the lists. Wallace F. of Crawyd, and Harry C., of the Longwood Cricket Club, have formed a combination that will be one of the best pairs in the Longwood tournament which begins at Brookline, Mass., next

That meeting is likely to draw the That meeting is likely to draw the largest and most representative entry list that hasselayed together this senson. The fight for the famous Longwood bowl always finds the best players in the country on the score card and so it will be this year. Although four of America's premier players are playing in England in the semifinals for the Davis Cup. the Longwood tournament will be an excellent one.

Wallace Johnson and Dick Harte are looked upon as the two most likely to t in the finals, and judging from wallace's game in the recent tournament in the finals, and judging from Wallace's game in the recent tournaments in this vicinity, it is he who is likely to annex the how!. The last time Wallace met Dick Harte, the latter won in a desperately close match in which the Philadelphian, though beaten, secred the greater number of points,

secred the greater number of points.
They met on the turf courts of the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hill's, L. L. in a Boston-Philadelphia match for the Church Cup.

Harte has not been in good condition since that time, but reports from Boston state that he is well again and in just as good shape to play as ever.

Harry Johnson, Wallace's partner in the doubles, was ranked No.20 last season and harms of the form of the season and harms of the form. son and is one of the forement players of the country. He is a ticularly good in doubles, and if Wallsce finds that they work will consider the be surprising to see them capture the doubles.

Wallace Johnson has been going at a terrific clip recently. Yesterday he played L. H. Richards. Jr.. Germantown, in the middle states tournament at town, in the middle states tournament at Manheim. Richards is a strong player, but Wallace had him completely at his mercy yesterday, winning the first Waston, Eric Wood, Donald Blankarn, Morton Gibbons-Neff, Phil Leuders, Harold Collaboration, at his mercy yesterday, winning the first wast the strange part of the entertainment.

The Mackmen fell on Stanley Coveleskie in the opening round, and before the Pole could get his breath the A's were out in front with a three-run lead. However, that didn't mean anything, link, A. F. Picolet, and many others. Men's singles, doubles, women's singles and once inside his guard there was nothing to it.

The Indians didn't jump suddenly Entries will close on Friday night.

FOR LONGWOOD MEET NEW OUTFIELDER

Frank Walker, of Rocky Mount, Detroit N. C., Is Purchased by Connie for Cash

Another new face will be inserted in the A's line-up tomorrow if St. Swithin Philles lays off the moist stuff. The new face will be attached to a young gentleman named Frank Walker, who, for some time has been toiling in the fried ham belt, which is slang for Rocky Mount,

Walker was purchased outright by Connie Mack, and it is said a big bundle of coin changed hands. The transaction was strictly cash, and Counie was will-ing to pay the price. The new man will pour himself into a local uniform to-morrow morning and in the afternoon will appear against the Cleveland club.

Connie Spills the Dope

"From all reports Walker is ready for the big leagues." Connie said this morning. "Three years ago he was given a tryout by Detroit, but didn't make good. He went back to the minors and I learned he had improved wonderfully. I sent two different men down to Rocky Mount to look him over and their reports were we good that I and their reports were so good that purchased him.

Covle Saves Own Game Coveleskie lost and then won his own game. Three doubles, a single and two sacrifices were charged against him in the first, but he came back with his arm and bat and took the victory. He scored the first Cleveland run in the third after he had doubled, and he drove home the deciding marker in the eighth.

Mack shifted his batting order again, placing Frank Welsh in the clean-up position. This looked like a great combination in the first, but after that not so good. Only four hits were made off so good. Only four hits were made off the Pole after the opening inning.
