Announces Vigorous Campaign and Criticizes 'Formidable' Republican Fund

URGES 'PITILESS PUBLICITY'

By the Associated Press
New York, July 29.—William G. McAdoo, former secretary of the treasury, announced today that he had consented to deliver some addresses in behalf of Governor Cox. Mr. McAdoo's statement in part follows:

"A vigorous and aggressive campaign will be undertaken, and no effort will be spared to make the people of the country acquainted not only with Governor Cox's progressive ideas and purposes, but to inform them of the exceptional record made by the Democratic administration under President Wilson during the last seven years."

"The formidable campaign fund under control of the Republican National Committee and its serious menace in the forthcoming campaign were discussed in the conference with George White, Democratic national chairman, at Mr. McAdoo's home. If the Senate investigating committee, of which Senator Kenyon, of Iowa, is chairman, does its full duty it will hold frequent sessions throughout the campaign and investigate fearlessly the sources from which it draws the money to finance both the Republican and Democratic parties in the manner in which the money is expended."

"It is easy for contributors and political committees to evade the federal corrupt practices law. Every subscription, such as subscriptions in the names of dummies and to state committees instead of to national committees, advertising by private individuals or syndicates, so as to avoid accounting to the federal authorities, must be brought into the spotlight of pitiless publicity. The people will not stand for a purchased presidency."

"The problems before the country and the world are so grave that an election untainted by the corrupt use of money and determined by plain discussion and consideration of the issues themselves was never more necessary to the safety and security of American institutions."

"Governor Cox stands for the highest election, for full and pitiless publicity of campaign contributions and their uses, for progressive policies and the League of Nations. The Democratic platform and party offer the only refuge for the liberal and progressive elements of the country and for those who believe in universal disarmament and the prevention of war through an honorable and disinterested arbitration which will substitute arbitration for military force in the settlement of international disputes."

DEMOCRATS SOLICIT UNLIMITED GIFTS

Washington, July 29.—(By A. P.)—The Democratic party's campaign war chest is open to contributions of any amount. George White, chairman of the national committee, announced here today. Party leaders, Mr. White said, will examine the source rather than the amount of all contributions.

"Peace, progress, prosperity, will be the three-word slogan of the Democratic campaign," Mr. White added, declaring that with this slogan the party should be "Coxsure" of victory.

The new national chairman referred to Illinois, Indiana and Ohio as "the battleground" of the campaign, but he indicated that as the campaign plans developed Governor Cox would carry the fight direct to the people and would visit a majority of the states.

Mr. White said the restrictions which had been proposed as to the size of the campaign contributions were so easily circumvented as to make them useless, and that the national committee therefore would content itself with a scrutiny of all contributions in order that no obligations on the candidate would be entailed by the acceptance of campaign funds.

Democratic leaders, Mr. White said, are seeking to have the Senate committee investigating campaign expenses continue its operations. He added that it was particularly desirable to bring to light the contributions to Republican state committees, but that this far a way to accomplish this had not been found.

Before leaving Washington the national chairman expected to confer with Attorney General Palmer, and probably will seek his aid in the speaking campaign. He also will confer with Senator Harrison, of Mississippi, and Representative Flood, of Virginia, chairman of the senatorial and congressional campaign committees. The scope of the campaign probably will be determined at these meetings.

Direction of the national campaign will center in New York, Mr. White will go to the headquarters there at the end of this week and will arrange immediately to put the campaign machinery into operation. A western manager is to be named soon, so that the

ROOSEVELT IN FIST FIGHT

Young Colonel Whips Two Delegates to N. Y. Republican Convention
Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 29.—Theodore Roosevelt demonstrated his ability as a fighter yesterday by whipping two delegates to the unofficial Republican state convention during a demonstration in behalf of Secretary of State Hughes. A Brooklyn delegate tried to wrest the Kings county standard from his bearer. They struggled and almost fell on a woman delegate from Nassau county.

Colonel Roosevelt jumped to his feet. He swung his right fist and it landed on the jaw of one of the combatants. The recipient of the blow fell in a limp mass. Turning to the other combatant he gave him a shove that sent him on the press table. The delegates who had started the row got to their feet and made their escape. They refused to give their names.

"I merely stopped them from falling on a lady delegate," explained Colonel Roosevelt.

PLAN CONGRESS CAMPAIGN

Republicans Hope to Retain Present Majority and Gain New Seats
Chicago, July 29.—(By A. P.)—J. R. McCarl, executive secretary of the national Republican congressional committee, arrived here today and conferred with Senator New regarding assignment of speakers for meetings in the congressional campaign.

"We feel certain we will retain our present majority," he said. "We also expect to pick up a few seats in the West and Middle West."

Miss Ada Bush, of Kentland, Ind., has been made executive secretary of the women, it was announced today.

ITINERARY MAPPED OUT

Dayton, O., July 29.—(By A. P.)—Dayton burst forth into full dress today for the first of two important events here in which Governor Cox, the Democratic presidential standard-bearer, will be the central figure.

The first comes tomorrow, the non-partisan "home coming" celebration by Dayton home folks in honor of their foremost citizen. Plans also took shape for the formal notification ceremonies August 7.

City streets have bloomed forth in flags and bunting for tomorrow's celebration. Lithographs of Governor Cox also abounded. "Polities," it appeared, was to be laid aside completely for the testimonial of pride in a distinguished Daytonian. A parade is to precede speeches by Governor Cox and Mayor Switzer in a "court of honor" flanked by white pillars erected in the city center. Flights of airplanes, fireworks and music were other features planned.

Governor Cox again today set aside all other affairs for composition of his acceptance address, which he hopes to complete tomorrow.

Word that many delegations were coming to the notification ceremonies was received by the local arrangement committee. From the agricultural sections of Ohio particularly, it was said, marching clubs of farmers were planning to attend. The First Cox Club, Batavia, O., said to have been the first organized after the governor's nomination of Ohio particularly, it was said, had notified the local committee that it will be here.

A new feature arranged for the notification ceremonies is the marching of fifty or more brass bands, headed by the Rainbow Division band and the Meador Band, of Piqua, O., for the playing in masses of "Ohio" and other songs which were used in the Cox campaign at San Francisco. The Piqua band was the red-coated organization which won national prominence at the convention.

What has been started at the Mount-governor county fair grounds, where the notification ceremonies will be held, on a temporary amphitheatre and other structures. A sound amplifier like that used at San Francisco will be placed in the judge's stand on the race track, from which Governor Cox will speak.

The prohibition sentiment prevailing through the country will sweep Senator Harding, Republican party presidential nominee, into the White House.

That is the thought of Bishop Berry, senior bishop of American Methodism, after a two weeks' tour of Ohio, where he studied the attitude of both major parties toward Senator Harding and Governor Cox, the Democratic nominee.

Interest in the League of Nations platform in the party planks will be subordinate, he said, and have no real effect on the outcome of the election.

Senator Penrose Urges the Necessity of Senator Harding Getting away from the Front Porch

KILL THEM ALL WITH 'HITS-IT'

Senator Penrose has urged the necessity of Senator Harding getting away from the "front porch" at Marion in two recent interviews. On both occasions, Senator Penrose said that the candidates would be obliged to travel through the country, presenting their views, and appealing to the intelligence of the people. "This is the only way," he explained, because of the prospect for a hard campaign.

His contention was that the "front porch" idea was out of date and did not fit in with modern methods of campaigning. Modern transportation, he said, has brought the "front porch" to all sections of the country.

When William McKimley conducted a successful campaign for the presidency on his front porch in Canton excursion in mass of "Ohio" and other songs, no matter how far distant from Ohio, this is no longer possible. The railroad fare of delegations from points outside of Ohio to Marion is going to cost thousands of dollars. And the matter of expense will prevent anything like the number of pilgrimages to the Harding front porch that might have been anticipated under the old conditions of travel.

A group of Chicago business men interested in the national committee's ways and means division were brought to Marion today by Fred W. Upham, national committee treasurer. They arrived early in the day, were entertained by Senator Harding at breakfast and later held a short conference on financial questions of the campaign. Those in the delegation included James A. Patten, Ivan O. Ackley, Charles Hagle, Harry H. Merriell and John M. Glenn.

Another caller on the nominee's appointment list today was Leslie M. Shaw, of Iowa, a former secretary of the treasury.

Wilson Elector Pleads Aid
Harding headquarters made public last night a letter from Louis G. Gohmrich, a former Democratic nominee for governor of Wisconsin and a Wilson elector in 1912, pleading support to Senator Harding and denouncing the Wilson administration had "seriously injured and brutally ignored fundamental democracy."

"I am still in duty to myself and to my country to be pleased to vote for you and support you," the letter continued, "and there are millions throughout the states, and especially in whom the word 'democracy' is no idle lip service, who feel like I do."

"Let it be known that a vote for the FALL modes are here, and there are some mighty interesting things included in the display of fall fashions at The Blum Store, 1310 Chestnut Street. The soft Moon-Glo and crepe-back satins have a charm all their own and lend themselves well to graceful folds and drapings. Kitty Ear Crepe is destined to be very popular during the coming season and Charmeuse, too, will be most fashionable. Having discovered such a practical and good-looking material as tricotine, we are loath to part with it and many of these dresses are of tricotine. Navy blue is the favored color. Some are smartly tailored. Others show trimming—mostly beads, iridescent and in polychrome effect. Girdles are wider and sleeves are three-quarter and full length.

I discovered something this week that every one who is contemplating the purchase of a davenport should be told about. It is the Kier Downy Sofa, made by Kier & Company, 1611 Chestnut Street. It is sold at a special price—a much more reasonable price than one would suppose possible, considering the excellence of the workmanship that has gone into its making. Its down cushions are luxuriously restful—just the kind of cushions that one dreams of sinking into after a strenuous afternoon on the links or a busy day of shopping. When one is planning a living room a comfortable sofa is the first piece of furniture that comes to mind, and the Kier Downy Sofa is the kind that will give to your living room the charm of gracious hospitality.

WHILE we cannot be too certain that clothes always make the man, it is an undisputed fact that good clothes go a long way toward establishing a favorable first impression. Accessories play a most important part. Take traveling bags, for instance. The day is past when a shabby traveling bag got by without comment. The well-dressed man or woman cannot afford to fare forth on a summer vacation with a battered traveling bag. A really good bag, such as those sold by Bailey, Banks & Biddle Company, is a worth-while investment, for it will last for years. You may purchase the bag with or without fittings, but the latter are really most convenient. A man would like the lizard-skin bag with silver fittings which I saw at Bailey's.

AT NO season of the year does the Ideal Fireless Cookstove seem more desirable as a labor-saver than in summer, for cooking, an irksome task at best, is particularly tiresome then. Most of us rather enjoy concocting new dishes and preparing them. It is the tedious task of standing beside the stove while they boil or bake or roast to which we object. And this is just where the Ideal Fireless Cookstove comes in. There is no need for worrying as to whether the food will burn or over-cook. The cooking process is automatic, and once the food is placed in the Ideal no further attention is required. And besides its convenience, it is economical of food and fuel. The Ideal Fireless Cookstove is sold by Franklin Miller, 1612 Chestnut Street.

THE luscious, red-cheeked Elberta Peach has arrived, and is being accorded an enthusiastic reception, for it seems to be everybody's favorite. It is a free-stone peach, you know, and its yellow meat fairly drips with juice. The most perfect of the Georgia Elbertas are to be found at the store of Henry R. Hallowell & Son, Broad Street below Chestnut. These delicious Honey Dew Melons and California Cantaloupes, carefully selected for their flavor; juicy Bartlett Pears, the finest of the season; sweet Red Wickson Plums and large California Cherries are among the fruits which make Hallowell's Gift Basket so attractive. Any of these fruits, as well as the Gift Baskets of Fruit, will be shipped to any point within 1000 miles of Philadelphia by parcel post, special delivery.

WHEREAS, in years gone by, we considered a summer afternoon well spent if we did no more than indulge in a bit of hotel-club golf, we are now all too glad to enjoy the enjoyment to be derived from sports. If we would enjoy our tennis or golf to the fullest extent it is essential that we have the right kind of equipment. One can always be certain of finding the very best of athletic goods at the store of A. G. Spaulding & Bros., 1210 Chestnut Street. The golf clubs that they handle are the very best that are made, and a recent inspection of their tennis supplies has convinced me that they have just about everything in that line that one could desire. And, of course, as regards baseball outfits, their superiority is too well known to excite comment.

How ordinary porous rubber wastes your money
Premature trouble now eliminated in new non-porous tire
RUINED! That's what a blow-out means to your tire. Yet blow-outs may occur at the end of only two or three thousand miles—even before the tread is well worn. This is the curse of motoring. It does more than try your patience: it wastes your money.
Premature tire troubles—weakened tread surface, blow-outs, sand blisters, tread separation—all are due largely to porous rubber. An ordinary tire weakens they absorb moisture. Dirt, grit, oil and other harmful substances enter the millions of pores. After this, slow unseen disintegration—finally a nasty blow-out!
To produce a rubber that has not these weaknesses, two practical tire builders and two research chemists spent months in laboratory research and road tests. They at last discovered Croide—a non-porous rubber compound which eliminates premature tire troubles.
Croide seals up the millions of small pores. Made with Croide Compound, Thermoid tires are from 50% to 100% tougher than ordinary tires, yet they gain in resiliency. A one-inch strip stretches to 7 1/2 inches.
It was after comparing their value, point by point, with 9 other makes that we became distributors for Thermoid Croide Compound tires for this territory.
You are invited to call and see these new tires, also the famous Croide Compound tubes. Let us tell you interesting detailed facts, experiences and tests that show why either Thermoid Croide or Fabric tires end premature trouble and give better mileage.
