ELECTION EXPENSE PLACED ON COUNTY !

Cities Liable Only When Special Ballot Is Taken, Says Attorney General

FILING IS NOT NECESSARY

Trenton, July 30 .- In an opinion of espread importance to the voters of the state, as well as the authorities charged with the enforcement of the act. Thomas F. McCran, attorney general, replying to several questions propounded by Bertram E. Mott, county clerk of Morris, gave the first official construction on the revision of the election law passed at the present session.

Mr. McCran decides that the county is chargeable for all the expense of conduction a general election.

ducting a general election, whether the same is conducted by the county clerk, the county Board of Election or the municipal clerk in behalf of the county clerk. The only expense to be borne by the municipality under the revision that of printing the ballots for the pr mary election and for conducting local municipal elections in those municipali-ties where the election is conducted separate and apart from the general elec-tion.

For the new or additional duties imposed upon county or municipal clerks they are not entitled to any additional compensation, the attorney general also rules. As to the duty of providing and maintaining polling places, the opinion ways that while it is the duty of the municipal clerk to look after the erreon of polling booths, the cost of the cotting from Page One soth and its erection is a proper charge ward, active in Vare ranks, one ap-

Answering a further inquiry as to whether it is proper and lawful for the county clerk to pay for the use of schoolhouses or municipal buildings when used for polling places, the opinion directs that where the property belongs to the public, whether municipal, county or state, when it is designated as a or state, when it is designated as "In the woolen and worsted goods industry yarn spinners are having but few inquiries for their product, while for finished textiles conditions are equally discouraging," the report says. In the Thihrd district (Philadelphia) there is no demand for the product and the closing of plants is general. While some manufacturers feel that activity will be resumed in the early fall others have no hope for a decided improvement in conditions until after the presidential election.

Hegarding the "serious condition in which the iron and steel industry is now placed as the result of railroad congestion and shortage of raw material and fuel," the report states that in Philadelphia the transportation situation has so thoroughly tied up the in dustry, that the problem now hinger in tirely upon the movement of products. "The coal outlook is closely connects with the entire manufacturing situation but particularly with the iros an steel prospects," the report states.
