The now, and have been for some time, but far be it from Charles to miss anything in the shape of a tennis tournament ust for the sake of a little seashore

ND while we're on the subject of A athletics, I suppose you know that J. Brooks B. Parker, of Strafford, and C. Bradford Fraley, of Whitemarsh, sailed on the Princess Natolka to take part in the Olympic games at Antwerp next month. Brad Fraley married Effic Disston, you know, and they live at Willow Dam, in Whitemarsh. He was a captain during the war.

OF COURSE, just before you are Heights, N. J., when the month of August. engaged it's very nice to make all foursomes, with your best your parties friend, so that there won't be any sus-picion at all. "Oh, they're not en-gaged." you want people to say: "why picion at all. they play around with enother girl and man all the time." It's a very good tain attractive young person whom you know and I know, whose engagement is going to be announced soon. She arranged one of these funny little foursomes, and said. "I'll call you up about it." Well, the other girl waited and waited for that telephone call, and tried to make one herself, but the "enand waited for that telephone call, and tried to make one herself, but the "en-ragee" was gone, utterly disappeared. she had forgotten all about that little half arrangement. And then she expected Triend to be surprised when she made the big announcement. Don't do it-you can't get away with NANCY WYNNE.

I SAW Mrs. George Saportas the other day in the best-looking little dark brown car. It was one of those cool days-notice the "those," not "these"-and she wore an awfully at-tractive blue serge dress, very simply made, and with white collar and cuffs. Her hat was a sort of poke shape of dark blue straw, quite small, with blue conflowers around it. She looked ex-conflowers aroun equadron. Mrs. Caroline B. Photoplays

STANLEY—"The Turning Point," based on Robert Chambers's novel, with Katherine MacDonald in the role of a. girl who by sheer grit and spirit retrieves the fortunes of a fallen family. She has many big emotional moments. Nigel Barrie plays oppo-site the star. A special feature has been made of the opportunity for society settings.

PALACE — "Homer Comes Home," a comedy featuring Charles Ray in one of his characteristic roles of a coun-try boy. This time he is a small town lad with city experience, who comes home and dazzles the com-munity with a big financial scheme. Added, first showing of "The Stage Hand," Larry Semon comedy.

ARCADIA-"The World and His Wife," made from Echegaray's drama in which Faversham starred. It has all which faversham starred. It has all the dash and color of Spain, where the scenes are laid. Alma Rubens, the featured player, has opportunity to show both charm and emotional ability. Montagu Love and Pedro Cordoba, himself a Spaniard, are in support.

dramatic play of the sea, with Ho-bart Bosworth as a deep sea diver, in a virile part of the type, in which he excels. New England village life and submarine scenes have been produced realistically by Thomas Ince.

REGENT-"Sinners," with Alice Brady as star, is a screen version of a play in which she met stage success. She plays the role of a country girl who goes to the city, but is able to keep clear of the deep waters of sophisti-cation.

COLONIAL — "The Fighting Shepherd-ess." an exciting western story by Caroline Lockhardt, formerly a Phil-adelphia newspaper woman, first half of week. "A Fool and His Money," with Eugene O'Brien, the popular young leading man, last half. Eva Cherry, soprano, will sing at every performance all week.
