VISION 'LOVE FEAST'

Convention Plans 'Approval' of
Smith—Mayor Lunn
Objects to 'Slate'

CHAIRMAN INDORSES LEAGUE

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 3.—Delegates to the Democratic national convention met at Saratoga Springs today, effected temporary organization, listened to the keynote speech of the temporary chairman, Frank H. Mott, of Chautauque, and adjourned until 8 p. m. It was on the program that the evening session was turned into an old-time love feast with all factions uniting in an endorsement of Governor Alfred E. Smith's administration of state affairs, and a suggestion that he be re-nominated.

Renomination of the governor was the only proposal upon which all the delegates were united. Mayor George B. Lunn, of Schenectady, candidate for nomination for United States senator, but whose aspirations do not receive encouragement from the Tammany Hall and up-state organization leaders, has declared his intention of vigorously objecting on the floor of the convention to any attempt to "suggest" a ticket. He holds that "recommendation," "designation" or "suggestion" of candidates would violate the spirit of the direct primary law.

Party leaders have stated that the convention would not designate any ticket, but they plan to have the convention give some expression of opinion regarding the personnel of the slate.

Lieutenant Governor Harry C. Walker, of Binghamton, was reported today to be the choice of the organization leaders for the senatorial nomination.

Before adjourning the convention adopted a resolution tendering Governor Smith's thanks to Mayor James Hoop, Jr., of San Francisco; Senator Phelan, of California, and others for their hospitality to delegates at the Democratic National Convention.

Women Want Place on Ticket

A movement to put a woman on the state ticket has gained impetus. A meeting of the women delegates was held prior to the convention opening, and Mrs. John Sherwin Crosby, of New York, who presided, named five members to confer with the male leaders. The committee reported back to the women delegates that Miss Harriet May Mills, of Syracuse, had been determined upon. No special post was mentioned, but it was stated that she will be "suggested" for the nomination for secretary of state.

Declaring that no apologies are necessary for the records of Governor Smith and Lieutenant Governor Harry C. Walker, Chairman Mott's "keynote" speech, besides praising those officials in unstinted terms, gave a sweeping indictment to the Wilson administration. "Governor Smith, although trained in the practical school of politics, has not been a partisan governor," he said. "He has been the governor for all the people."

The purpose of the convention, Mr. Mott said, was to "ratify the platform declarations and endorse the candidates" of the Democratic national convention. Prolonged applause followed his mention of the names of Governor Cox and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

to discussing the proposed League of Nations. "To appreciate," he said, "that when the liberties of one people are attacked and destroyed, the liberties of all peoples are, to a large extent, attacked and undermined, is at once the truest Americanism and the soundest internationalism."

Wilson and League Indorsed

Mr. Mott said he did not believe party lines were as strong as formerly, but declared it could not be otherwise than that the voters should feel a pride in a national administration which had "taken the tariff out of politics; taken the word 'panic' out of the language of business; had, through the Federal Land Bank, stimulated the agricultural interests of the country; been true to the needs of labor, and guided the nation through the greatest of wars and is now leading woman world to the attainment of permanent peace."

In concluding he referred to "the astonishing assurance of the Republican candidate for President that he will give the duties and obligations of his office with the Senate and other leaders of his party, who will be under no presidential oath to support and defend the constitution."

"Such a startling proposal," he said, "would seem almost unthinkable if party politics and self-interest had not completely demoralized the thinking of many well-meaning American citizens."

"So we do not know who is to be President if Harding succeeds, but we do know that in the event of the election of the Democratic ticket, the President in medals and obligations of his office will be under no presidential oath to support and defend the constitution."

Major George B. Lunn, of Schenectady, a candidate for the nomination for United States senator, has declared that he will not accept a designation and will carry his campaign into the primaries September 14. The leaders are expected to unite on Lieutenant Governor Walker, of Binghamton, or Dock Commissioner Hulbert, of New York, to oppose Mayor Lunn. Robert Lansing, former secretary of state, and James W. O'Connell, ambassador to Germany, are considered out of the running.

It is understood that the leaders have decided that there shall be at least one woman on the state ticket. In the event that Lieutenant Governor Walker is the preference for the senatorial nomination, Mrs. James D. Smith, of Buffalo, may be suggested as candidate for lieutenant governor. Should Lieutenant Governor Walker be a candidate for renomination, either Mrs. Smith or Miss Harriet May Mills, of Syracuse, may be suggested for the post of secretary of state.

Marion, O., Aug. 3.—(By A. P.)—Senator Harding, the Republican presidential nominee, is going to prove to the public that he is a real printer. Today he threw his coat, rolled up his sleeves and "made up" the first page of his paper while motion picture machines recorded his actions.
All work at the newspaper plant suspended while the pictures were being made and employees gathered about to see their boss working while they loafed.

Candidate, Not Chairman
White, to Define What Shall Be Issues

New York, Aug. 3.—The New York World, Democratic newspaper, says in a special dispatch from Dayton: The statements attributed to Democratic Chairman George White in Washington to the effect that the League of Nations would not be the chief issue in the campaign and that the understanding reached between Governor Cox and the President was elastic, were not authorized by the Democratic nominee for the presidency.
They were made by Mr. White without having had any communication with his chief on the subject and without Mr. Cox's knowledge, and there are the best grounds for saying that any satisfaction the Republicans have derived from their own interpretation of what Mr. White said is going to be very short lived.
Mr. Cox has not heard from Mr. White since the statements were published. While it is certain that the incident is not going to lead to any friction which might be detrimental to the Democratic campaign at the outset, persons who have a pretty good knowledge of what Governor Cox is thinking about say it will lead, as soon as White returns, to a thorough understanding of the positions which the nominee and his campaign manager are going to occupy.

So far as Cox is concerned, there are just two things that are going to determine the chief issues in the coming campaign. The primary factor is going to be the Democratic platform which was adopted at San Francisco. Second is going to be the statements of the candidate himself, who can be looked on not only to define the issues which he regards as most important, but to make whatever interpretation of those issues he regards as necessary.

He will insist, so persons who are in a position to know say, that Mr. White's position shall be that of a general in the field, whose work it is to map out
