LOFTIS'S BODY HERE

Chicago Jeweler Whose Death is Mystery to Be Buried Today

The body of Samuel T. A. Loftis, the Chicago jeweler, who died in that city under mysterious circumstances on July 30, arrived at North Philadelphia Station this morning at 7:45, and was immediately removed to a Chestnut street undertaking establishment.

The body was accompanied by Joseph Loftis, brother of the dead man, who lives in Omaha, and is head of the western office of the Loftis jewery firm. Two women, close friends of the family, accompanied the remains East for burial. "The only person who could draw the line hetween accident and intention in my brother's death is my brother him-self. And he is dead." said Joseph Loftis this morning. Asked what his version of his brother's death was, he replied: "I was a hig man in Chicago and had many friends, and perhaps many enemies." SAYS CHARLIE IS AN ARTIST

New York, Aug. 4 .- Mrs. Charles Chaplin, formerly Miss Mildred Harris, arrived in this city yesterday from Los Angeles, bent on making a place for herself on the legitimate stage as well. as in the film drama.

Discussing her matrimonial experiences, Mrs. Chaplin told of the promise the comedian had made to buy her a "gorgeous new limousine" which was to take her home from the hospital where she was recuperating after the birth of her baby. It turned out, she to be the sort of car Charlie runs into slag piles and telephone poles in the movies. And this, according to Mrs. Chaplin, was the crowning bit of
