

LOVE FOR BOOKS WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Mother Says Daughter Succeeded Through Preferring Good Reading to Fellows

LANGUAGE IN HER EYES

Miss Eva Aptaker, who has been awarded a scholarship at the University of Pennsylvania because of exceptional ability, succeeded because "she always preferred a good book to a fellow," her mother says.

One hundred pupils from the city high schools competed for the twenty scholarships to the University, and Miss Aptaker was the only girl to win.

The Aptakers live at 217 East Philadelphia street, Germantown. They arrived from Russia when Miss Eva was about two years old, and she later got her schooling, first at the Mount Vernon School, Third and Catharine streets, then for a year at the South Philadelphia High School, and for the last three years at the Germantown High School. She was graduated with high honors, was a member of the Physics and Triangle Club and was characterized in her class book as having "language in her eyes, her cheeks and her lips."

Miss Aptaker this summer is clerking in a Market street shop, but next winter she will start her studies at the University, specializing in chemistry.

The scholarships, which are for four years, were awarded by Mayor Moore yesterday. They went to graduates of high schools, private and parochial schools.

Dr. Henry F. Keller, of the Germantown High School, who was chairman of the group of educators who selected the winners, was present.

An agreement between the University of Pennsylvania and the city results in the latter maintaining seventy-five scholarships at the institution every four years.

AUTOIST IS KILLED— BY QUARRY BLAST

Sharon Hill Man Disregards Warning and Is Hit on Head by Stone

NEAR KING OF PRUSSIA

Failing to heed a warning, Frank Laverty, twenty-five years old, 207 Chester pike, Sharon Hill, was killed last night near King of Prussia, when struck by a large stone hurled by a blast from the Millard stone quarry.

Mr. Laverty was riding in an automobile on the Gueph road near the quarry when a man stationed in the center of the road to warn passersby of the impending blast shouted for him to stop and warning him of the danger.

Either misunderstanding the warning or believing that he could pass before the blast, Mr. Laverty proceeded to drive into the danger zone. He had gone but a short distance when the blast went off and one of the huge rocks fell, striking him on the head and killing him instantly.

Doctor Hudley, of Norristown, who witnessed the accident, stonned his car when given the warning. With Doctor Hudley at the time were his mother, sister and two other women whose names could not be learned. They were uninjured, although the automobile was dented.

Coroner William Neville, of Conshohocken, declared the death was accidental.

BAD LIQUOR KILLS SAILORS

Two Die After Drinking "Whisky" Bought From Boys

Two sailors are dead as the result of drinking liquor supposed to be whisky purchased from two boys on the street on Sunday.

The dead men were John McCarthy, of the British ship Worcester, and Theodore Morrissey, 108 De Lancey street. Morrissey was found dead in bed yesterday morning. McCarthy died in the Pennsylvania Hospital later in the day.

According to the police, McCarthy, Morrissey, John Sullivan, Thomas O'Connell and Charles Woods, all from the Seaman's Home, were approached by two boys and asked whether they cared to buy some whisky.

Answering in the affirmative, the sailors handed the boys $2 and in a short time received the liquor.

Sullivan, O'Connell and Woods soon became violently ill and a doctor was called. These men were younger and stronger, the police say, and their constitution was able to fight off the poison. The other two men, however, were up in the sixties.

According to the superintendent of the Seaman's Friends Society, the "bootlegging" in that section of the city is greater than ever before.

CHILDREN GO TO COUNTRY

Brown's Farm Opened by Philadelphia Health Council

Twenty-five children who are below normal in weight and whose energy and vitality have been lessened by malnutrition or some physical defect, were taken to Brown's Farm today.

Philadelphia's first health-building home for children is being opened at Brown's Farm, near Torresdale, by the Philadelphia Health Council and tuberculosis committee. It is a direct result of findings in the Health Council's portable health clinics, started in eleven recreation centers this summer.

Of the 100 boys and girls weighed and measured in the clinics during July only 300 were found normal in weight. Virtually all of the 283 given thorough physical examination were found defective in some way.

Annual Fur Sale

This Specialized Event Presenting Savings of 20 to 45 Per Cent

The Annual Fur Sale, this year, teems with extraordinary features. The most important is the story of the savings—and this is told in the headlines. The accumulation of the superb stocks, how we wisely held off the fanatical buying that characterized the wholesale markets last spring, and how we invested at the time most opportune to our advantageous buying—all this is interesting from the viewpoint of big merchandising and big savings!

The further fact that we manufactured our own furs from these wisely-bought skins adds another economy feature—the elimination of the middleman's profit, and its consequent saving to you. Read the lists below—but remember that these are only partial lists, and barely representative of our magnificent stocks of fine furs.

A Small Deposit Will Reserve Your Purchase in Our Vaults Until Desired

THE owner of an Oakland Sensible Six Sedan or Coupe enjoys all the advantages of overhead-valve six-cylinder power plus scientific light weight construction.

He commands an engine which develops 44 h. p. and yet is unusually compact, enabling utmost body room under and back of the cowl.

He can accelerate from 2 or 3 miles an hour to 55 miles an hour on high gear, obtaining smooth transmission of the energy through double universal joints and tubular drive shaft.

He now rides on a longer chassis balanced by a six and one-half inch frame which curves so that the body rests exactly upon it, instead of overhanging.

He likewise rides on long, rebound-checking semi-elliptic springs and on 32 x 4-inch tires which are extra size for the weight of the car—an economy feature.

You can determine many other reasons why the Oakland Sensible Six Sedan is a good car to run and operate by telephoning us for a demonstration at your home or office.
