MISS ZINDERSTEIN IN FINAL ROUND

Clay Court Champion to Meet Miss Tennant, Coast Star, for Seabright Title

Seabright, N. J., Aug. 5 .- Whipping the ball across the net in truly Western style, Miss Eleanor Tennant, of climinated Miss Edith Sigourney, of the Longwood Cricket Club, today in the women's singles by the score of 6-0, 6-2. This victory of the West over the East was not a surprise, because Miss Tennant came across the continent with a real tennis reputation. While this match was in progress Miss Marion Zinderstein, also of Longwood, administered a stinging defeat to Miss Margaret Grove, of New York, in straight sets, 6-1, 6-1.

These matches were the semifinals in the annual invitation tournament.

Tomorrow Miss Zinderstein and Miss Tomorrow Miss Tennant will fight for the title, another Tennant will fight for the title, another Tennant West tilt. Miss Zinderstein, East-West tilt. mong other titles, holds the Metropolitan, national clay court and Delaware rowns.

Miss Sigourney lost ten straight Miss Sigourney lost ten first, the fifth games before she got her first, the fifth game of the second set. She had two seemingly easy opportunities previously to get games, leading both times by 40-0 on her service, but the Californian. with a display of brilliant tennis, pulled out and took the games.

Miss Tennant has lost but seven games in four rounds so far in the tourney. Her game has been getting better and better as the rounds advance and the Scabright turf seems exactly to her liking.

Miss Sigourney got Miss Tennant out of position at times, but the latter made some marvelous gets and lobbed herself back into position. The coast girl grasped every available opportunity rush the net, and the general result was a point in her favor. difficulty in handling Miss Sigourney's deep court drives, chopping them back with telling effect, and her side placement drives were within a few inches inside the mark. Miss Sigourney tould not touch her overhead strokes.

WOMEN'S SINGLES Semifinal round Miss Eleanor Tennant defeated Miss Edith Sigourney, 6-0, 6-2, Miss Marion Zinderstein defeated Miss Margaret Grove, 6-1, 6-1,

WOMEN'S DOUBLES Semifinal round
