Car Shortage:

There's a great shortage of houses, and lumber must be brought from the mills to build them. But there's a still greater shortage of freight cars; and before lumber can be brought to build more houses, somebody must get cars to carry more lumber to the shops to build more cars to carry the lumber to build

If your building can't wait for all this, you will have to get lumber from some concern that already has large stocks on hand and knows how to get more-that is, some concern that has learned how to get freight cars when they are scarce, and then make them work over-

We have long made a study of this problem and are learning fast. That's one reason why builders can often get lumber here when it is very hard to get anywhere.

If you expect to finish your building this year, don't wait many minutes. Reach for your telephone and ask some well-informed friend about this matter of freight car short-

Some day you'll build. If you want the work fin-ished on time, see that the lumber comes from LLOYD.

George H. Coughlin, father of the baby, de-lined to say whether he would go to City Hall to see "The Crank."

When asked at his home whether he had learned "The Crank" was in Philadelphia, Mr. Coughlin said, "I have nothing at all to say on that subject."

Chief Eiler, of the Norristown po-the Rogues' Gallery and is an expect on finegerprints, went too, sitting beside the chauffeur.

The car went to the Holmesburg prison and Pasquale was hustled inside. The presence of Bodkin offered a possibility that the party might go farther later on. It was considered likely that the prisoner might be taken later to Norristown, for the purpose of examining him at the scene of the kidnappinf.

Cantain Sonder would say nothing about the cross-examination of Pasquale at City Hall. He did, however, make it known that the fingerprint clews had proved unsatisfactory.

"The fingerprints in the rooms and on the windowsill at Narristown, said Captain Sonder. "turned out to he worthless. Instead of tingerprints they were merely smears. We could not even determine the sex of the person who had made them."
