In the Service of Humanity

Message on the Ethics and Practice of Nursing

"Nursing is an art, and if it is to be made an art it requires as exclusive a devotion, as hard a preparation as any painter's or sculptor's work, for what is having to do with dead canvas or cold marble compared with having to do with the living body—the temple of God's spirit? It is one of the fine arts, I had almost said the finest of the fine arts." (Florence Nishlingale)

If this is true, and who will could it, what an entirely satisfactory work is nursing, and yet how necessary that we remember we are dealing with something that requires not only our energy, our interest, and our skill, but our deep reverence and highest thoughts?

our skill, but our deep reverence and highest thoughts?

A young poet killed in France, wrote, "Like the statue in Michael Angelo's lump of marble, there is a friend in every passerby, and in one there may be a new Christ," and so there may be in any human being.

What Dr. S. Weir Mitchell says of the physician is true also of the nurse: "He sells that which men neither weigh nor measure, and this sets him over all professions save, one, and far above all forms of mere business. What such a life makes of a man is largely a question of original character, but in no other form of occupation is there such constant food useful to develop all that is best and noblest."

The highest type only of healthy young womanhood should take up this work, for it is certainly the highest given to any woman to co. What can be greater than by skill and knowledge to help fan the feeble spark of life to the bright flame of health; to make the stiff arm supple and strong; to tide the Typhole or the Pneumonia patient past the danger post; to give back to the children, the mother who almost crossed the dark river; and to save the baby with all life's read before him

Nothing can adequately pay for the skill which has brought to the bedside renewed.

Nothing can adequately pay for the skill which has brought to the bedside renewed strength, and perhaps he "sweet boon of life?"

"If she have fought with death and dulled his sword;
If she have given back our sick again.
Is it a little thing that she has wrought?
Then Life and Death and Motherhood be nought!"

rollments in this noble profession.

Believing that many young women would be glad to enter training schools in hos-
