was the statement made today Bert Crowley, president of the Navy ford Development Association, the emoyes' organization of the Philadelphia Navy Yard. Denials of recent state-ments made by an official of the Atlantic coast Shipbuilding Association that government navy yard employes were better paid than the workmen in private yards were made by Mr. Crowley and John Lynch, chairman of the ex-cutive committee of the workmen's as-ociation.

veral weeks ago the Navy Department appointed a wage equalization soard to consider the insistent demands navy yard employes for higher wages meet the growing cost of necessities. he men declared they were unable to on the present wages and would forced to accept work in private the shipbuilders blindly in sending protests to the secretary of the navy and have done so without a knowledge of the actual facts and figures.

A recent advertisement in a local paper of a Delaware rivet shipyard is quoted by Mr. Crowley as a comparison of the relative wages received by government and private labor. The Macey board, appointed to regulate the hours and wages of shipworkers during the war, placed the carpenters' rate at eighty cents an hour. This, with the government schedule of forty-eight hours a week and including a bonus of seventy-six cents a day, gives the navy yard carpenter $42.96 a week. The shipyard offered carpenters in the advertisement up to $89.43 a week. Other trades are correspondingly high, it is

Schools for the Education of Women For the Nursing Profession

Young Womes and Girls

Young Women and Girls

Believing that many young women would be glad to enter training schools in hospitals throughout the State of Pennsylvania as pupil nurses if they knew of the great opportunity for service and to qualify in one of the greatest professions open to women, a Committee appointed to serve in the interests of the Nurses' Training Schools, whose names appear in these columns, are conducting a campaign for the purpose of securing enrollments in this noble profession.

In the Service of Humanity

Message on the Ethics and Practice of Nursing

"Nursing is an art, and if it is to be made an art it requires as exclusive a devotion, as hard a preparation as any painter's or sculptor's work, for what it having to do with dead canvas or cold marble compared with having to do with the living body—the temple of God's sprit? It is one of the fine arts, I had almost said the finest of the fine arts." (Florence Nightingale)

If this is true, and who will doubt it, what an entirely satisfactory work is nursing, and yet how necessary that we remember we are dealing with something that requires not only our energy, our interest and our skill, but our deep reverence and highest thoughts?

A young poet killed in France, wrote, "Like the statue in Michael Angelo's lump of marble, there is a friend in every passerby, and in one there may be a new Christ," and so there may be in any human being. What Dr. S. Weir Mitchell says of the physician is true also of the nurse: "He sells that which men neither weigh nor measure, and this sets him over all professions save one, and far above all forms of mere business. What such a life makes of a man is largely a question of original character, but in no other form of occupation is there such constant food useful to develop all that is, best and noblest."

The highest type only of healthy young womanhood should take up this work, for it is certainly the highest given to any woman to do. What can be greater than by skill and knowledge to help fan the feeble spark of life to the bright flame of health; to make the stiff arm supple and strong; to tide the Typhold or the Pneumonia patient past the danger post; to give back to the children, the mother who almost crossed the dark river; and to save the baby with all life's road before him.

Nothing can adequately pay for the skill which has brought to the bedside renewed strength, and perhaps even the "sweet boon of life"

If she have given back our sick again.

"If she have fought with death and dulled his sword; If she have given back our sick again. If she have given back our sick again.
Is it a little thing that she has wrought?
Then Life and Death and Motherhood be nought:"

of the Hare's Motors policy the service facilities of this establishment will be extended and improved sufficiently to accommodate Mercer and Simplex owners, as well as Locomobile owners and operators of Riker trucks. The expansion thus made possible assures every owner of a Hare's Motors vehicle within this territory that his interests will in all respects be better served henceforth than ever heretofore, and that a new standard of service -which shall be the same for all-will be maintained here.

The Hare's Motors management is in the hands of men whose long experience as automobile executives has enabled them to chart their company's course by the very soundest principles developed throughout the twentyodd years' growth of this great industry, and given them thorough knowledge of every rock and shoal along the channel. Therefore in their progress there is no backing, filling-lost momentum.

Every move has behind it the purpose of far-seeing pilots who know their objectives and move upon them with complete assurance.

The present announcement deals with but one in a series of measures which will be taken in their proper time and order for the good of Hare's Motors' customers and of the motoring public
