HARTE STILL UNRIPE AS CUP TEAM PLAYER

His Defeat, With Norris Williams as Partner, Disappoints Latter in Hopeful Trip to Australia

ROBERTS-DAVIS WIN

By SPICK HALL. Longwood Cricket Club, Chestnut Hill, Boston, Aug. 20.

LAST winter R. N. Williams decided that he would begin to groom Richard Harte, a Longwood clubman, for the Davis Cup team.

Williams and Harte used to be intercollegiate doubles champions and after watching Harte beat Tilden on the covered courts here in a pair of wintry matches, Williams thought that his old teammate of Harvard was ready to take an interest in tennis.

The results of yesterday's matches were: Johnson and Pearson defeated W. T. Hayes and R. H. Burdick, Chicago, 3-6, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4, 8-6.

Johnson and Griffin defeated A. Yackon and L. J. Mahan, New York, 6-4, 6-2, 2-6, 6-2.

W. E. Davis and R. Roberts, California, defeated R. W. Williams, 2d, and Richard Harte, Boston, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

C. Wright and W. J. Clothier, which they did after four grueling sets. Then Wednesday they met Dean Mathey and Watson M. Washburn, the West Side pair, and were again five sets before they won.

But the real trouble was that Williams and Harte yesterday did not play tennis. A grueling match in the many rallies was enough to tell the tennis student that the Boston pair had no chance.

The score—6-2, 6-2, 6-2—doesn't adequately speak the superiority of the east players. Not once from the time Williams and Harte were set until the final point was made did the Boston team have a look-in.

Pitches No-Hit Game

"CHIEF" BENDER Former star hurler of the Athletics who yesterday twirled the second no-hit game of his career when, pitching for New Haven, he shut out Bretgorp Bender, manager of the New Haven team

NO HITS OFF BENDER

Former Mackman Twirls Fine Game Against Bridgeport. New Haven, Conn., Aug. 20.—Chief Bender yesterday pitched a no-hit game for the New Haven Eastern League club, whitewashing Bretgorp Bender, manager of the Bridgeport team, 3 to 0.

Bender has pitched New Haven into the lead, occupying the box several times on successive days.

Yesterday's feat was the second of the kind performed by Bender. He pitched a no-hit game against Cleveland, May 12, 1920, when he was a member of Connie Mack's hurling staff.

Chief Bender has had three major league offers for return to the big league, but he will not allow himself to do so until New Haven is sure of the pennant.

Yackon and Mahan, New York, 6-4, 6-2, 2-6, 6-2. W. E. Davis and R. Roberts, California, defeated R. W. Williams, 2d, and Richard Harte, Boston, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

MEADOWS SHOWS RETURN TO FORM

Cravath, Paulette and Williams Are Heroes in Victory Over Pirates

Pittsburgh, Aug. 20.—The Phillies pitchers were encouraged yesterday by the way Lee Meadows seemed to recover his old-time form, and also at the performance of Johnny Enzmann, former American League, who held the Pirates back after they had tied the score because of an opening given them on an error.

Meadows had his curves bending nicely, and in the main was in control of the situation. While the Pirates threatened several times, when they got the breaks, up to the time of the necessity of a hit to produce a run, Lee kept bearing down and pulled himself through the worst bad places in which he found himself.

Three men figured very prominently in the victory yesterday. First and foremost was Manager Cravath himself, ably assisted by Gene Paulette and Cy Williams. When the teams had battled for seven innings, Meadows suddenly found himself in touch with the plate, as the cushions were crowded in the eighth with two men gone.

Cutshaw had opened the stanza with a double, but when Cravath came up. When Paulette saw the batsman choke his bat at the handle he rushed forward with the beginning of the pitch. Getting out in front of the batter's head, when Cravath bunted. The ball curved slightly toward the third-base line and Paulette kept right on after it, grasping the pith half a foot from the ground.

But "Gavvy" never let the Pirate twirler get set, for he slammed the old apple on the nose on the first offering that undoubtably kept the Pirates away from the plate and finishing the game right there.

"DON'T NEED ME"—BAKER "Home Run King" Sees Yankees and Colonel Huston

New York, Aug. 20.—J. Franklin Baker came up from his farm at Trappe, Md., yesterday and saw the Yankees play the Indians, fulfilling a promise he made to Colonel T. L. Huston some weeks ago.

As soon as Baker's presence was whispered about the stands the fans became excited, and when the game was over thousands followed Baker and Colonel Huston to the Yankees' clubhouse, where he went to shake hands with his former teammates and to have a talk with Miller Huggins.

"Why don't you come back and help the Yankees?" Baker was asked. "They don't need me," said Baker. "Besides my children have kept me close at home all year. One is ten, and I might leave her, but the baby is too young."

Wild-Pitch Run This no-set Hamilton that he wild-pitched the Philly center-fielder home on the run that proved enough to win. However, the Pirate batter was on the ragged edge by this time, and when Mousley was passed he proceeded the ground out on the first pitch to the next batsman.

GREAT THROG AT CHAPMAN FUNERAL

20,623 Admirers of Dead Ball Player Contribute to Fund for Floral Tribute

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 20.—Cleveland paid its final tribute to Ray Chapman this morning.

Long before 10 o'clock, the hour of the funeral services in St. John's Cathedral, thousands of men, women and children had gathered to attend the services for the star shortstop of the Cleveland American League team, who died in New York Tuesday morning from a fractured skull sustained when he was hit by a pitched ball.

Baseball fans began to gather at the church as early as 8 o'clock waiting for the doors to open and when the services began several thousand persons were unable to obtain admission.

As soon as Baker's presence was whispered about the stands the fans became excited, and when the game was over thousands followed Baker and Colonel Huston to the Yankees' clubhouse, where he went to shake hands with his former teammates and to have a talk with Miller Huggins.

MARTIN JUDGE UPHOLDING PETE HERMAN'S PREDICTION

Manayunk Bantam, Who Looked Like "Comer" to Champion Last Fall, Looms Up Like Top-Notch Bantam This Season

By LOUIS H. JAFFE. THAT kid looks like the best bantam product in Philadelphia—he punches nicely and shows the speed, cleverness and aggressiveness to make him a successful boxer.

George Everhart is handling the aspirations of two local boys. They are Harry Kline, a welterweight, and Harry Hayes, a 135-pounder, formerly of New York.

George Mack is confident he has the best featherweight in the United States. Bobby Michaels, of New York, is being represented in Philadelphia by Harry Hayes.

Ed Kenney, a cousin of Wild Bob Kenney, is to box here this fall. Ed is a middleweight and will fight in the U. S. S. North Dakota while in the service. He is 165 pounds, 185 inches tall and possesses a terrific wallop in either mitt, according to his manager, Dave Carberry.

The Huckleys have a chicken waffle spread to a Philadelphia picnic last night. The Huckleys are a family of five, and are always in seen at the roadside of big bouts in this city, together with his sidekick, Danny Black.

Official announcement of the George Carberry vs. Harry Hayes fight, under the auspices of the International Sporting Club in New York, October 12, verifies the Philadelphia prediction that Carberry will win. This is to be the first bout under the New York State law and it will be put on at Ebbets Field in Brooklyn.

PETER MANNING TO TRY COMEBACK

Defeated Star in 2:18 Trot at Belmont Track Today—Rifle Grenade to Start

Circuit drives are popular at the Belmont track. Twice out of four scheduled efforts the drives have been stopped through rain, wet grounds and general unfavorable conditions.

The third day of the Grand Circuit meeting is booked for completion at the Northcroft course this afternoon. Five races, with at least fifty starters, make up the program. According to the revised schedule submitted by Secretary Saunders, the harness classic will wind up with five races tomorrow afternoon.

Early yesterday it was stated that eight races would be held today, ending the season in the afternoon. However, the rain has caused postponements this week and the program has been finished. Two races will be run off today and tomorrow.

Today's card has a rich field of starters. Rifle Grenade, one of the entries in the Holmes Stake, is the champion three-year-old of the year. Peter Manning, star of the Murphy stable that failed on Wednesday, will make another effort in the Bull's Head Bazaar $2000 purse event. Charlotte Dillon, A. B. Cox's winner of Tuesday, also will be a starter.

The 2:08 trot will present another of the $30,000 beauties, when Brusioff, by Peter the Great, a member of the Murphy stable, displays his speed for the only time during the meeting.

For tomorrow Ante Gay, another turf headliner, will appear in one of the features against such racers as Peter June, Joseph Guy and Charley Rex.

GRISCOM LOSES IN NEW LONDON GOLF

Philadelphian is Eliminated by Armour, Who Plays Dempsy in Final

New London, Conn., Aug. 20.—Tommy Armour, the Scotch amateur, will meet N. A. Dempsy, of Macon, Ga., in the final for the Shennecossett Country Club championship.

Armour settled down yesterday to the best game he has played since he has been in this country and the result was a 7 and 7 victory over C. A. Griscom, Philadelphia.

The Scot was driving a long ball and his short game was little short of perfect. Getting out in thirty-five, he stood six up and he won the tenth and eleventh ending the contest.

Harold Lake, of Hartford, the Harvard captain, fought a losing battle against Dempsy, but one time he was one to the good. The Georgia golfer played out of a trap at the last hole, laying the ball dead for a four and getting a half credit for the hole.

Lake is playing in another tournament at Watch Hill and is still in the bracket.

Quick action was had in all the bouts held in the amateur tournament at the Belmont track. Whitey Lawrence stopped Ray Whitey Jackson in the first round of the 165-pound class; Whitey Kilburn made Bobby Erbe quit in the first round in the 120-pound class; Patsey Lancy defeated Jack London in the third round in the 125-pound class while the referee stopped the bout to save London from undue punishment; Al Brown acknowledged that Young Mickey was the better man in the opening round of the 135-pound class, and Val Hunt had enough of Young Johnny Grimm's punches in the first round of his bout in the same class.
