THE Herbert Lincoln Clarks and their two daughters. Convay and Fleator, came back last week from a three weeks camping trip in Canada. They had a most wondeviul time, far away from city life, a real rest, and t should think Mrs. Clark would have needed it, at any rate. Tork know, she worked like a beaver for Bryn Mawr during that college's drive for $2,000, 600. Conn., where they will be the guesth of Mr. and Mrs. Clarko result of the warm weather, until about September 15. I think. I do think Mrs. Clark is a very good-looking woman. I remember seeing her one day in the spring weating a dark georgette frock, which was heavily em-broidered in silk floss. Her hat was a mapolitan straw model, made with a wide brim and trimmed with a feather fancy. She has the most beautiful iron-gray hair, which, with her young face, is a decidedly great addition to her good books. T HAVE scented another romance and

I have scented another romance and I can't tell it yet because I do not know it myself, but this I do know, it's certainly in the way of being one. The girl came out this last winter and went around with a clique of awfully pice girls, girls who would not wear bodice-less frocks and dance extraordinary dances, girls I consider about as charming and lovely as any I have ever met. Well, this girl is one of them.

I saw them to-gether the other day and my phophetic soul said to me; "There, Nancy, there's something for you to tell some Nathan Wallace, Miss Martha Wallace, one in the near future, unless I am Nathan Wallace, Miss Martha Wallace, Ales Rahn, of much mistaken." CATHARINE LEA has been up in the Canadian woods for several weeks with her sister. Mrs. Percy Hud-son, and her children. She has been i having a wonderful time I hear. Though the Leas' place at Devon is so lovely I would almost hate to go away from there if it were mine. You know they built the house at Westhorpe Farm several years ago. The first time I saw it was when Catharine made her debut. They gave her tea there, you remember, and the house certainly did look won-derful. The place itself is very hand-some. Beautiful woods and a sweepsome. Beautiful woods and a sweep-ing lawn and the loveliest flowers !

There's splendid fishing and gunning there and a lot of the men go up there with their wives over week-ends for the sport. The women go in for the sport, too. It's such fun to fish, don't you think?
