I have heard of a number of parties which will be given in her honor, among them a dinner dance at the Bellevue-Stratford. Eleanor is very sweet look-fing. She has soft, rather light brown hair and brown eyes, and when I saw her she was wearing a frock of brown taffeta silk made with a draped over-skirt. The sleeves of the bodice were of darker brown georgette and her hat was a brownish henna straw trimmed with small flat flowers. Mrs. Gummey was wearing a very dark suit and a round, straight brim-

Anna Brinton Cote, you remember. It was Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Yar-nall who had the first meeting of the Parents' League at their home last spring, when it was decided to curtail the entertainments for the younger peo-ple; that is, to have earlier hours for the children's parties and not such elaborate entertainments.

I understand, by the way, that plans have been got together to really carry out the sugggestions formulated and ac-cepted at that meeting. And it's a mighty good thing. The children will lose nothing by it, that's sure, and will have everything to gain through the earlier hours and less elaborate dinners. I sometimes wondered how bey stood some of the parties they went t one affett
