Women's New Autumn Frocks Are Wonderfully Pretty and Not a Bit Expensive

At $25 and less there is a wide field for choosing among smart new dresses of satin, serge, wool jersey or tricotine. They are fresh and new, expressing the latest fashion ideas for Fall.
 Three of these new arrivals are sketched.
 The one at the left is of wool jersey, in brown, taupe and blue, embroidered about the bodice with self-tone silk. $22.50.
 In the center is one of the new dresses of satin. It is in navy and black and is embroidered in orange and blue with a glint of metallic thread. $25.
 At the right is a dress of navy blue Georgette crepe prettily beaded. It is in sizes 16 and 18 only. $19.50.

Summer Dresses Are Taking Wing
 Their prices are so low that women are buying two or three at a time and planning to save them for next year. There are figured voiles and plain or figured organdies in a great variety. Now
$2 $3 $3.75 $5
 (Market)

Scores of Other Pretty Satin Dresses are all ready for the new season. They are quite elaborately beaded or embroidered and are in navy blue, black and brown. $20 to $55.
Tricotine Dresses
 are more fashionable than ever. They are generally in navy blue and are trimmed with colored silk embroidery or with bright red leather applique. Many have soft, loose belts of suede. $20 to $55.

Every Young Woman Seems to Want a Jersey Suit
 —and little wonder when you see how pretty the suits are and how practical. They are in a half dozen different models in becoming heather mixtures, with tan, brown, blue or green predominating. For girls going away to school or college there is nothing better. A jersey suit holds its shape under hard wear and needs very little pressing.
 $17.25, $25, $27 and $29.

Luncheon Sets That You Can Sponge Off
 are made of a material much like oil cloth. They are stenciled in charming patterns—bluebirds, cheery nosegays and so on. A damp cloth will freshen them.
 Sets composed of a square center and four oblong place cloths are $1.75.
 A round centerpiece, six plate doilies and six tumbler doilies are $2.
 (Art Needlework Store, Central)

Other Autumn Suits
 of silvertone, goldtone, wool velour, soft llama cloth and duvet de laine are sometimes trimmed with fur. More tailored of line are the navy blue tricotines and serges. Among these suits are a few samples—just one of a kind—and their prices are special, in consequence.
 $29, $35, $37.50 to $75.
 (Market)

Bandeaux, Special at 40c
 There are half a dozen different kinds of pink materials used in these bandeaux. Several are in the cool, airy mesh that women like in Summer. They have tape shoulder straps and insets of elastic in the back.
Corsets, $2 and $2.75
 For slight to average figures, these corsets are of pink coutil in topless models.
 (Central)

New Skirts Are Flaunting Gayer Plaids Than Ever
 All the browns and russet reds of Autumn woods are mingled in some of them. Others run to the dark, rich green and blue combinations that make one think of Scotch kilts and the Highlands. Black-and-white effects, always smart, are among them, too, and there are grays with a misty charm.
 Most of the skirts are pleated—knife pleats, side pleats or box pleats—though some are gathered under belts. $16.50 to $35.
 Of more sedate mien are the tailored skirts of navy blue or black serge, poplin and tricotine. Their prices range from $5.75 to $10.75.
 (Market)

A Bungalow Apron of Checked Gingham, $2.50
 It is in clean blue-and-white or pink-and-white checks, generously cut, and is trimmed about the collar and sleeves with white ricrac braid.

Lovely of Color and Usually Small—Women's Autumn Hats

And they are more interesting than those of many years. Materials are exceptional in quality and color tones are unusually appealing and becoming. There are the warm golden browns, the rich red browns, dark greens with vivid touches and the darker colors in silk velvets, soft handsome duvetynes and so on.
 A fascinating little toque is altogether of feathers, another hat shows loosely falling ostrich and a dark velvet tam is chain-stitched all over in old gold.
 Of course, there are many lovely large hats, too, graceful of line and most becoming.
 $9.50, $12.50 and upward.
 (Market)

Beautiful Black Silks

What Delightful Coats Autumn Is Bringing Us!

The materials are so soft and pleasant to the touch, the lines are smart and the colorings bring forth some new shades that are very lovely. Pine needle and chow are pretty browns; a becoming shade of gray is called squirrel and there are many blues that you will like.
 Bolivia, chameleon cord and tinsel-tone make the softer, more luxurious wraps, while chevot, velour and silvertone are used for everyday service.
 A good chevot coat, that will stand a great deal of wear, is in navy blue or brown at $25.
 A silvertip Bolivia coat, lined throughout with silk, has a sealene collar and is marked $50.
 Another Bolivia coat, without fur, is $52.50. It is sketched.
 Other new coats for the Autumn and Winter range in price from $25 to $69.
 (Market)

These New Tweed Hats, Sir, Are Mighty Good for $3.50

Young men like them for between seasons, and they're good for golf or motoring. The hat that is sketched comes in three mixtures and has a stitched crown and bfim; it is lined with sateen and has an inner band of leather across the forehead. We don't know of a better hat anywhere for the price.
