Nancy Wynne Hears Various Bits About the Doings in Newport, Southampton and Other Places-She Regrets the Death of Mr. Dale Benson

T DOES seem, even if Southampton is more fashionable this year, that Newport attracts our attention all the time. I heard yesterday that Mr. Clartime. The Rev. W. Heard weeks at Newport, R. I. will return to her home on Old York road. Oak Lane, some time in September. ence Dolan has been elected to the ex-Beach Association up there. Mr. Dolan and his family always spend their nummers in Newport, but they are not joing any entertaining now, owing to the recent death of Mr. Dolan's death Mrs. Thomas Dolan, in Torresdale.

Speaking of Mrs. Dolan's death makes me think of Mrs. Wanamaker, who died a few days later. Did you know that her granddaughter. Marie Louise Munn, has a little daughter, Louise Munn, has a little daughter, and the days of the days o born last Thursday, just a few days after her great-grandmother's death? I have not heard what they will name the baby, but it would not surprise me if she baby, but it would not surprise me it she would be called Mary Brown, after Mrs. Wanamaker. Mrs. Warburton and Brownie Warburton, whose real name is Mary Brown Warburton.

The Munns have a little boy about three years old, so it's fine that this little tot is a girl. I am so glad for CARAH PENROSE has been visiting Dup in Bar Harbor with the Mevarious friends' houses on her way back to Devon. She is now at Southampton having a splendid time. The James Francis Sullivans, who have a villa at Southampton, gave a dinner for her-last night. Sarah is a charming girl, with soft, bright brown hair and eyes which are bright brown, too. She is rather petite and dresses ever so daintily. She is the daughter of Dr. Charles She is the daughter of Dr. Charles Penrose, you know. Her mother, who was Miss Drexel, a sister of Mrs. Drexel Dablgren, Mrs. Harry Lehr and Seton Henry, died about three years ago.

WAS so surprised to see Mrs. Joe I Leidy in town yesterday, as the last I heard of her she was in Newport, but Leidy in town yesterday, as the last I heard of her she was in Newport, but she has been spending the summer in Narragansett and was just down for a Narragansett and was looking very well, short time. She was looking very well, short time. She was looking very well, in a dark plum or black Narragansett and was just down for a I thought, in a dark plum or black fonlard silk. It was so dark I could not swear to the color, but it was foulard and had white flowers on the dark background.
